

J. S. Thompson returned home Wednesday morning from a four weeks trip thru the east, where he had been looking after the business interests of the Badger Box and Lumber Co.

For Sale, Rent or Exchange, a good 140 acre farm close to school, church and market. Good set of buildings. See Edward Pomahville, the Real Estate Man over Otto's Drug store.

Good Templars to Entertain.

The Marshfield Good Templars will be invited to this city by the local lodge of Good Templars on Monday evening next. It is expected that there will be a good response, as the local lodge is fixing up a musical program and a banquet for them. The local lodge has considerable talent connected with it and are always able to get up a very creditable entertainment.

M. O. POTTER FARM AT RUDOLPH SOLD LAST WEEK.

The M. O. Potter farm at Rudolph was sold last week to Frank Miller of Randolph, Wis. The farm consists of 160 acres and went for $10,000. Oliver Akey, the Rudolph real estate man made the deal.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office.

BULLETIN ON RURAL SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT.

Every farmer and rural resident who is interested in improving the condition of his home and his community should secure a copy of a bulletin recently published by the University of Wisconsin on the subject of "Rural Social Development." It is the third annual report of the Wisconsin Country Life Conference, and contains many things of interest both to the dweller in the city and the country.

There is a tendency on the part of the older residents in the country to look at efforts to improve rural conditions, but nevertheless it is being done, and there are now many places in the country where things are as modern and up to date as they are in the city. Some people in the country imagine that these efforts to improve country life originate in the cities, and are consequently not of much value, but such is not the case. It is the country people themselves who are taking the matter up, and they are the ones who are making a success of it.

It is not expected that a farmer will take one of these bulletins and after reading it thru, start out and make all the changes suggested or shown in its pages. Few farmers have the money or inclination to jump from one extreme to the other. It may be, however, that one suggestion will be found that will be helpful toward solving a disagreeable problem, which is enough to pay for the trouble in looking over the book. Many a man has the means right at hand for an improvement which he can make at very little cost, but it may be that the simple way of making it has never been suggested to his mind.

There is hardly an improvement that a farmer wishes to make on the farm nowadays for which he cannot get specific directions right from the University of Wisconsin. Many a farmer could have hot and cold water always on tap in his kitchen and bathroom at the expenditure of very little cost and no great amount of labor if he took the trouble to look the matter up, while as conditions now are, he has been fussing around the cook stove for years past and never knew whether he was going to get what he wanted or not.

FLORIDA, THE GULF COAST AND CUBA, SOUTHLAND INVITES YOU THIS WINTER.

You can escape the inclemencies of the Northern Winters in a mild climate amid waving palms, blue skies, and fairy breezes from the Gulf. We will be pleased to help you plan your trip, quote you attractive round-trip fares in effect daily until April 30th. Return limit June 1st, 1914. Splendid train service to Chicago, connecting with fast trains of all lines South. Apply to any ticket agent, Chicago and North Western City, or address C. A. Cairns, G. P. & T. A. Chicago.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office.

ORSON P. COCHRAN

PIANO TUNER

Best of work guaranteed. Call telephone 233 or at the house 447 Third avenue north.

MISSIONARY MEET TO BE HELD HERE

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church for the Appleton district will be held at the Methodist church in this city on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Nov. 19 and 20. The following program has been prepared for the two days:

VICTOR HILD BARKSH
Who will speak at the Missionary Meeting.

Wednesday, 2 p. m., November 19th
2:00—Preparatory Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell, Evangelists.
Address of Welcome... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Response... Mrs. Calhoun, New London, Duett... Mrs. J. Linderman and Miss Steen, Grand Rapids.
Greetings from Conference Secretary Miss A. R. Stearns, Waupun.
The Women Behind the Work... Miss D. W. Caffray, Chicago.
Exercise Kings Herald, Grand Rapids.
Announcements.
5:30—Banquet.
Toast Mistress... Miss Hart, Appleton, Music.
"The Heather We Eat For"... Mrs. L. E. Can, Grand Rapids.
"Missions and Millinery"... Mrs. Hughes, Waupun.
Ladies' Quartette.
"Wishbone or Backbone"... Miss Grant.
"One Master, One Mission" (Prater-mal)... Mrs. E. L. Hayward.
Response... Mrs. A. E. Stearns.
Music.

Thursday, 8 p. m.

8:00—Voluntary Hymn.
Chorus... Young People, Grand Rapids.
Duett... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Address... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Report of District Officers.
Corresponding Secretary... Mrs. H. S. Cooke, Kaukauna.
Treasurer... Mrs. Ploek, Waupun.
Young People's Work... Miss Hart, Appleton.
Children's Work... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Annual Financial Statement... Mrs. R. L. Wheeler, Milwaukee.
Music.
Roll Call and Report of Auxiliaries.
Memorial Service... Mrs. J. H. Tippet, Appleton.
Noontide prayer.
Benediction.

Thursday, 9 a. m., November 20th.

9:00—Devotional Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Report of District Officers.
Corresponding Secretary... Mrs. H. S. Cooke, Kaukauna.
Treasurer... Mrs. Ploek, Waupun.
Young People's Work... Miss Hart, Appleton.
Children's Work... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Annual Financial Statement... Mrs. R. L. Wheeler, Milwaukee.
Music.
Roll Call and Report of Auxiliaries.
Memorial Service... Mrs. J. H. Tippet, Appleton.
Noontide prayer.
Benediction.

Thursday, 1:30 p. m.

1:30—Devotional Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
A Word of Cheer from District Superintendent... J. H. Tippet.
Branch Report... Mrs. A. Martin, Green Bay.
"Miss Letty's Views"... Four Young Ladies, Grand Rapids.
Review of Study Books... Mrs. Evans, Waupun.
Recitation... Little Light Bearer, Grand Rapids.
Pledges.
Reports of Committees.
Election of Officers.
Reading of Minutes.
Installation of Officers... Conference Secretary.
Consolation Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.

Thursday, 7:30 p. m.

7:30—Hymn.
Male Quartette.
Prayer... Rev. H. C. Logan.
Violin Solo.
Address... Bishop W. A. Quayle.
Offering.
Duett... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Dismissal Prayer... Bishop Quayle.
Officers of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.
President... Mrs. C. J. L. Bailey, Green Bay.
Vice President... Mrs. Hattie Nielson, Appleton.
Recording Secretary... Mrs. Cora Martin, Green Bay.
Corresponding Secretary... Mrs. H. S. Cooke, Kaukauna.
Treasurer... Mrs. Clifford Ploek, Waupun.
Superintendent Young People's Work... Miss Myrtle Hart, Appleton.
Superintendent Children's Work... Miss Elizabeth Herschle, Grand Rapids.

Deputy-Akey.

Miss Margaret Leahy of Marshfield and Mr. Cleve Akey of this city were married this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Catholic church at Marshfield. While the bride is a comparative stranger in this city she is well known at Marshfield and is reported to be a very popular young lady. The groom is well known in this city, having lived here most of his life, and has many friends here who will wish him and his bride a happy journey thru life. The Tribune unites with these in extending congratulations.

Auto Owners Take Notice.

We are going to paint automobiles this winter and are pleased to announce that Hugo Lind, after working 15 months in up-to-date auto and paint departments in larger cities has returned to Grand Rapids and will take charge of our paint department. This will enable us to guarantee entire satisfaction. Please contact us as soon as possible. The Anderson Carriage Works.

STEVENS POINT PEOPLE HERE TO ENJOY MACCABEE RALLY.

Stevens Point Journal:—The local Lady Macabees who attended the district rally at Grand Rapids Friday returned home with most favorable impressions of the hospitality of their sisters in the neighboring city. They were shown every courtesy and as a result the event was an unusually pleasant one. Lillian Hise, which sent sixteen members to the rally, received a prize of $5.00 for having the largest delegation from outside Grand Rapids.

Afternoon and evening sessions were held. The program included addresses by Dr. Elizabeth M. Hooper of Port Huron, Michigan, supreme medical adviser, and Miss Hild Olson of Oakbrook, state commissioner, musical numbers and readings. The officers of Lillian Hise, No. 14 of this city exemplified the work in the first and second degrees and also ex-march. At six o'clock an elaborate banquet was served. The attendance at the meetings was large delegations being present from Wauwatosa, Marshfield and Athens as well as from Stevens Point.

Besides the Stevens Pointers mentioned in Friday's Journal, Mrs. T. E. Canby, Mrs. P. Keller and Mrs. William Parker attended the rally.

County Board in Session.

The county board met in annual session in this city yesterday afternoon. After assigning the work to the different committees an adjournment was taken until today. So far as is known there will be nothing of a startling nature brought up before the board at this meeting.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office.

Do not miss the Deep Purple, which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday, Nov. 20th.

GAME WARDENS ROUND UP SEVERAL LAW BREAKERS.

Game Warden W. A. Cole and J. V. Kelsey arrested Henry Lindsey at Nettville on Nov. 8th for shipping partridges, they having found 66 birds that he had consigned to the southern market. He was taken before Circuit Judge O'Neill who fined him $75, which with the costs amounted to $85.88.

Wm. Schill was arrested on November 9th and taken before Justice E. L. Brown, of this city and he paid a fine and costs amounting to $52.00. William was hunting without having gone thru the formality of securing a license.

Leonard Slusser, who was catching Mink out of season was arrested on October 22, and paid fine and costs amounting to $27.00.

Charles Wenck was arrested on October 30th for molesting muskrat houses, $25.00.

George Prusynski was arrested on the 5th of November for catching mink during the closed season and upon being taken before Judge Brown he contributed $43.00 toward defraying the running expenses of this great state of Wisconsin.

The game wardens also made a seizure of 63 partridges and three grouse at Babcock on November 4th. The birds were consigned to Fred Pegel, Jr. Co. of Chicago, and were sent by Harry Lewis from Lynn, Wis.

ESTABLISHES REPRESENTATIVES IN THE PRINCIPAL EUROPEAN CITIES.

The Passenger Department of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company has established representatives of the principal cities of Europe, including London, Liverpool, Southampton, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Paris, Havre, Marseilles, Rome, Genoa, Naples, Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen, Frankfurt, Copenhagen and Christiania.

These representatives are experienced and qualified to plan itineraries, quote rates, check baggage, arrange for payment of customs and supply maps and descriptive matter and assist in arranging all minor details incident to a trip from Europe to and through America over the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, which comprises over ten thousand miles of perfectly equipped railway, traversing the nine great lakes west and northwest of Chicago, and by its traffic arrangements with connecting lines operating the most complete through train service over the famous "Overland Route" from its palatial new Chicago Passenger Terminal to the Pacific Coast.

It offers a service of the most modern, efficient running over the direct route and historical highway to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, 1915.

The establishment of these offices in Europe will no doubt be greatly appreciated by the thousands of Americans who visit Europe annually as they will find these well equipped offices at their disposal for securing information and assistance relating to travel in Europe, round the World, and for their return journeys.

They will further aid greatly in stimulating travel to and through the United States and will bring prominently to the attention of the European traveler the many attractions America has to offer to the tourist as well as the business man.

The exact location of these offices in the cities named above are shown in the complete time table folders and other printed matter issued by this Company.

Buy Cold Storage Plant.

C. Blodgett this city made a deal the past week with the First National bank of Richmond Center whereby he becomes possessor of a large cold storage plant at that place. Since his advent in the cheese business Mr. Blodgett has steadily advanced in the business until he is now recognized as the largest individual dealer in the world. He now owns his own model cold storage plant in this city, a cold storage at Osceola, another at New Richmond, the one purchased at Richmond Center and a warehouse at Thorpe. Wm. Nesbet, an expert cheese man, and well known at Richmond Center, has been engaged to manage the plant at that place—Marshfield Herald.

Auto Owners Take Notice.

We are going to paint automobiles this winter and are pleased to announce that Hugo Lind, after working 15 months in up-to-date auto and paint departments in larger cities has returned to Grand Rapids and will take charge of our paint department. This will enable us to guarantee entire satisfaction. Please contact us as soon as possible. The Anderson Carriage Works.

LOUIS LEE SHOOT A LARGE WOLF WHILE HUNTING SUNDAY.

Louis Lee, while hunting partridges on Sunday, bagged a wolf that measured 54 inches from tip to tip. The animal was killed with fine shot, the first barrel having brought it to the ground, when it was finished with the second barrel.

It was killed about four miles east of the city, and as the bounty amounts to $20.00 it will prove quite a profitable day's hunt to Mr. Lee.

Federation Meeting.

The Art Committee of the Federation will give their program Friday, November 14, 1913, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. E. B. Bedford.

The committee have secured an able speaker from the University Extension Division of Madison to address the meeting. The meeting promises to be one of interest and all members are urged to come out.

Mr. Zwickey will illustrate his lecture as he talks. He will give you the best art and plenty of fun. He is a man of national reputation and a surprise wherever he goes. Good music by local talent.

THE DEEP PURPLE.

Which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday, Nov. 20th, is one of the biggest success ever produced in Chicago. After a year's run at the Princess Theatre Chicago, it was transferred to McVicker's Theatre where it ran six months longer, was then transferred to New York for a continuous run of one year. Manager Daly guarantees the Princess Theatre production complete with a first class cast in every way. This is a play that is sure to please. Do not miss it. The advance sale opens Monday Nov. 17th.

Carl Odgaard left on Tuesday for Sheboygan, he being a delegate to the Sunday school convention being held in that city.

Mrs. J. H. Linderman is in Sheboygan this week being a delegate to the Sunday school convention being held in that city on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

THE GOVERNMENT WANTS DAIRMEN

The establishment of creameries on several irrigation projects of the government during the past two years has proven so successful that there is widespread interest in dairying among the settlers. Unfortunately many of the settlers are without the necessary capital to purchase good dairy stock and for the time being are forced to employ the uneconomical method of selling all their forage crops. A large number of these settlers are trying to operate more land than their means will permit, and with a view of engaging in dairying are desirous of subdividing their farms in order to get money for the purchase of stock. This has placed on the market a considerable area of land on several projects where nearly all of the government land is taken up. The prices and terms offered are more on the basis of cash needed for money than on actual value, and offer excellent opportunities for experienced dairymen to establish themselves in communities where the success of their enterprise is practically assured. There are numerous sections where good land suited for dairy farming can be had at prices ranging from $25 to $50 per acre, with water ready for irrigation. On all these projects the markets for dairy products, beef and pork, are excellent and there is every indication of a continuance for an indefinite period. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that dairy farming in the west is the safest, surest, and in the long run the most profitable form of agriculture to engage in.

The Settlement Agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service at Chicago is furnishing information concerning location, prices, and terms to all who are seeking homes in the west, but is especially desirous of interesting practical farmers with capital. Many of these projects contain a few government farms available for homesteading and literature describing them is also supplied. In view of the very high prices prevailing elsewhere for lands suitable for dairying, the western opportunities are regarded as exceedingly attractive.

CONCERT SATURDAY FOR THE DEBENTEE OF THE BAND

The second number of the Best Concert Company will be given Saturday evening, Nov. 15th, at Daly's Theater. Reserved seats may be had on Friday at Daly's Drug store. The following is the program:

1. Fantasia... Kavareole Miss Rogers.
2. A Chip of the Old Block... Anon Mrs. Edwards.
3. Go to Sea... Trotter Master McCombs.
4. The Perfect Tribute... Andrews Mrs. Edwards.
5. Andante... Parish, Alvares.
6. Jane of Old Kentucky... Vera Jane Edwards.
7. Her protector Mrs. Edwards.
8. A Colonial Sketch with Harp and Song. Mrs. Leigh... Mrs. Edwards.
9. Marian... Miss Rogers.
10. Paul... Master McCombs.

OUR ASSESSMENT IS MUCH HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR

Grand Rapids property this year is assessed at $5,556,415, while last year it was $4,647,253, a difference of $909,162. When seven thousand people gain over nine hundred thousand dollars in a year it would look as if we were acquiring riches in a very rapid manner. However, millions of property were assessed this year that have not been, heretofore, and in many instances the assessed valuation of different properties was raised. The rate cannot be given at this time.

LOUIS LEE SHOOT A LARGE WOLF WHILE HUNTING SUNDAY.

Louis Lee, while hunting partridges on Sunday, bagged a wolf that measured 54 inches from tip to tip. The animal was killed with fine shot, the first barrel having brought it to the ground, when it was finished with the second barrel.

It was killed about four miles east of the city, and as the bounty amounts to $20.00 it will prove quite a profitable day's hunt to Mr. Lee.

Federation Meeting.

The Art Committee of the Federation will give their program Friday, November 14, 1913, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. E. B. Bedford.

The committee have secured an able speaker from the University Extension Division of Madison to address the meeting. The meeting promises to be one of interest and all members are urged to come out.

Mr. Zwickey will illustrate his lecture as he talks. He will give you the best art and plenty of fun. He is a man of national reputation and a surprise wherever he goes. Good music by local talent.

THE DEEP PURPLE.

Which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday, Nov. 20th, is one of the biggest success ever produced in Chicago. After a year's run at the Princess Theatre Chicago, it was transferred to McVicker's Theatre where it ran six months longer, was then transferred to New York for a continuous run of one year. Manager Daly guarantees the Princess Theatre production complete with a first class cast in every way. This is a play that is sure to please. Do not miss it. The advance sale opens Monday Nov. 17th.

ADVERTISED MAIL.

Last of mail advertised at Grand Rapids, Wis., Nov. 11, 1913.

Ladies.

Mrs. S. G. Crane, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Sibyl Mahan, Miss Martha Oken, Mrs. Anna Tausor.

Gentlemen.

Forest Craft Guild, Mr. John J. Grobman, Mr. Harry J. Hirsch, J. P. Lamont, J. H. Walter Peterson, Mr. J. G. Goodrich, Mr. Frank Shannon, Mr. A. G. Schutte, Mr. Ernest Torton, Mr. H. Williams.

FOR SALE.

26 acre truck and garden farm adjoining limits of City of Grand Rapids. 25 acres under cultivation, good seven room farm house with large cellar. The barn is not very good but can be used for the present. Located on main traveled highway. E. P. D. Telephone. Good reason for selling. A bargain for quick sale. Inquire of C. R. Roles, Lyon block, Grand Rapids, Wis.

A SLEIGH SHIP TO THE IMPERATOR IS NOW ON THE WAYS.

The mammoth liner is apparently "here to stay" until yet larger boats challenge supremacy.

MERRILL AND GRAND RAPIDS PLAY A UP-AT-FOOTBALL.

The local football team went to Merrill last Saturday and played a game of football with the boys up there and the game resulted in a tie, neither side securing a count. The boys say it wasn't much of a game, as they stood shivering in the cold for minutes at a time while the officials called time and studied up the rules. The boys say it looked very much as if the officials were out of their element in attempting to referee a football game, and were better qualified to keep the score in a game of Old Maid, or some other ladylike game than where they were.

While it would not be polite to say that the locals were cheated, it is a well known fact that they have been playing a much stronger game than the Merrill boys, and to a fellow sitting on the fence it looks as if there might be a colored gentleman concealed in the middle somewhere. Then the spectators rushed onto the field when over the motion seemed to strike them, which is not strictly in accordance with the rules of fair play.

Well, the local boys need not worry, as they have won so many good games this year that every body believes they can play football, even if they were played to a tie in this game, either by fair means or foul.

FRED BEEL WINS HIS MATCH FROM THE SALT LAKE MAN.

Those people who were laboring under the impression that Fred Beel had about wound up his career as a mat artist, and that he would not be able to hold his own against Yokel, the western wrestler, were convinced that he was mistaken last Tuesday night when he met him at Duluth. Fred won the match in two straight falls, the first one in an hour and eleven minutes and the second in 12 minutes and 50 seconds. The fact that Beel wrestled for an hour and eleven minutes makes it evident that he is still able to get in first class condition. His finishing up his man in such short order in the second fall also shows that he still had his strength even after such a long go. The match was refereed by Frank Gatch, champion heavy-weight wrestler of the world and $600 special prize witness the contest. It was reported to be the best thing of the kind ever pulled off in that neck of the woods.

GRAND RAPIDS TELKS TO HOLD BOOSTER MEETING.

The local lodge of Elks are preparing for a booster meeting at their hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25th, when it is expected that there will be quite a time. They will hold their annual session feed at that time and arrangements are being made to have Judge "Key" Karel there to address the boys, and a big time is looked for. As every member of the order is expected to be present, it will be well for all Elks to bear the date in mind.

POT HUNTER CAUGHT.

On Tuesday last week Deputy State Game Warden W. A. Cole of Vesper and Jay Kelsey of Stevens Point seized a condiment of birds in transit to Chicago. When opened the box was found to contain sixty-three partridges and three grouse, and was billed to Fred Pegel, West Water street, Chicago. The shipper's name was given as H. Lynn, Chilli, Wisconsin. On Saturday the warden placed a man by the name of Henry Landis under arrest and when taken before the court commiseration of Clark county at Nettville he was bound over to the circuit court but later appeared before Judge James O'Neill and entered a plea of guilty. He was assessed $75 and costs, amounting in all to $185.88.

These partridges, if they had reached their destination, would have realized the shipper at least $1 each. And when placed on the hotel or restaurant tables in Chicago they would have cost the "ultimate consumers" $2.50 each.

Quoting Goggins.

Miss Cassie M. Canning and Mr. Hugh Goggins, both of this city, were married this morning at eleven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, the ceremony that made them man and wife being performed by the Rev. H. C. Logan, pastor of the Methodist church. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Grace Goggins and Mr. Edward Gleason. Mrs. Phil Canning sang a solo before the ceremony, and afterward the guests partook of a wedding luncheon and the newly weds left on the noon train for the south where they will spend a short wedding tour, after which they will make their home in this city.

Both of these couples are well and favorably known in this city, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Canning, and is a most charming and estimable young lady, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Goggins, one of our rising young attorneys, and a member of the law firm of Goggins, Brazeau & Goggins. They both have many friends in this city who will unite with the Tribune in extending the heartiest of congratulations and wishing them a long life of happiness.

ADVERTISED MAIL.

Last of mail advertised at Grand Rapids, Wis., Nov. 11, 1913.

Ladies.

Mrs. S. G. Crane, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Sibyl Mahan, Miss Martha Oken, Mrs. Anna Tausor.

Gentlemen.

Forest Craft Guild, Mr. John J. Grobman, Mr. Harry J. Hirsch, J. P. Lamont, J. H. Walter Peterson, Mr. J. G. Goodrich, Mr. Frank Shannon, Mr. A. G. Schutte, Mr. Ernest Torton, Mr. H. Williams.

FOR SALE.

26 acre truck and garden farm adjoining limits of City of Grand Rapids. 25 acres under cultivation, good seven room farm house with large cellar. The barn is not very good but can be used for the present. Located on main traveled highway. E. P. D. Telephone. Good reason for selling. A bargain for quick sale. Inquire of C. R. Roles, Lyon block, Grand Rapids, Wis.

A SLEIGH SHIP TO THE IMPERATOR IS NOW ON THE WAYS.

The mammoth liner is apparently "here to stay" until yet larger boats challenge supremacy.

On Demand or Or 10 day's time?

Ours is an "On demand" store, a store where you can come with confidence that your clothes demands will be met at once; and where whatever we give must result in YOUR satisfaction before WE are satisfied.

Years ago you couldn't purchase the kind of clothes we sell on demand outside of the shops of the exclusive tailors. It took an organization such as to bring ready clothes up to their present standard, to put them far above the best tailor models in point of style, quality and workmanship and at the same time keep the price down within reason.

The House of Kuppenheimer

How successfully all this has been done will be most evident if you will but review the more than two score styles for men of every age and every size we are offering at

$18 $20 $22.50 $25 $27.50 $30

KRUGER & WARNER CO.

"The Home of Better Clothes."

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Copyright 1913
The House of Kuppenheimer

THANKSGIVING SALE

on

Linens, Coats and Dress Goods

Bigger and better bargains than ever before in this Annual Thanksgiving Linen sale. You can easily buy the turkey with the money you save on this sale, only kinds that wear, wash and satisfy. The threads are drawn in cutting so there is no waste at either end.

Table Linen and Napkins

- 72 inch bleached Damask table linen special at 89c
- 62 inch half bleached, pure linen Damask at 58c
- Bleached pattern cloths at $1.50
- $1.65 $2.00 and up to $6.00
- 72 inch table covers, round scallop or square at $6.98
- 72 inch bleached Damask in good assortment $1.50 down to $1
- Mercerized pattern cloths at 75c
- 98c $1.25 and $1.60
- Round scalloped lunch cloths at $1.49 to $3.50
- Heavy silver bleached napkins, special per dozen $1.75
- Pure linen bleached napkins at $

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Wednesday, Nov. 12th, 1913

DRUMB & SUTOR, Publishers

J. S. Thompson returned home Wednesday morning from a four weeks trip thru the east, where he had been looking after the business interests of the Budget-Buzz and Lumber Co.

For Sale, Rent or Exchange, a good 140 acre farm close to school, church and market. Good set of buildings. See Edward Pommeroy, the Real Estate Man over Otto's Drug store.

Good Templars to Entertain.

The Marshfield Good Templars will be invited to this city by the local lodge of Good Templars on Monday evening next. It is expected that there will be a good response, as the local lodge is fixing up a musical program and a banquet for them. The local lodge has considerable talent connected with it and are always able to get up a very creditable entertainment.

M. O. POTTER FARM AT RUDOLPH SOLD LAST WEEK.

The M. O. Potter farm at Rudolph was sold last week to Frank Miller of Randolph, Wis. The farm consists of 160 acres and went for $10,000. Oliver Akey, the Rudolph real estate man made the deal.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office.

BULLETIN ON RURAL

SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Every farmer and rural resident who is interested in improving the condition of his home and his environment should secure a copy of a bulletin recently published by the University of Wisconsin on the subject of "Rural Social Development." It is the third annual report of the Wisconsin Country Life Conference, and contains many things of interest both to the dweller in the city and the country.

There is a tendency on the part of the older residents in the country to laugh at efforts to improve rural conditions, but nevertheless it is being done, and there are now many places in the country where things are as modern and up to date as they are in the city. Some people in the country imagine that these efforts to improve country life originate in the cities, and are consequently not of much value, but such is not the case. It is the country people themselves who are taking the matter up, and they are the ones who are making a success of it.

It is not expected that a farmer will take one of these bulletins and, after reading it, then, start out and make all the changes suggested or shown in its pages. Few farmers have the money or inclination to jump from one extreme to the other. It may be, however, that one suggestion will be found that will be helpful toward solving a disagreeable problem, which is enough to pay for the trouble in looking over the book. Many a man has the means right at hand for an improvement which he can make at very little cost, but it may be that the simple way of making it has never been suggested to his mind.

There is hardly an improvement that a farmer wishes to make on the farm nowadays for which he cannot get specific directions right from the University of Wisconsin. Many a farmer could have hot and cold water always on tap in his kitchen and bathroom at the expenditure of very little cost and no great amount of labor if he took the trouble to look the matter up, while as conditions now are, he has been fussing around the cook stove for years past and never knew whether he was going to get what he wanted or not.

BALMY FLORIDA, THE GULF COAST AND CUBA, SOUTHLAND INVITES YOU THIS WINTER.

You can escape the inclemencies of the Northern Winters in a mild climate amid waving palms, blue skies, and balmy breezes from the Gulf. We will be pleased to help you plan your trip, quote you attractive round-trip fares in effect daily until April 30th. Return limit June 1st, 1914. Splendid train service to Chicago, connecting with fast trains of all lines South. Apply to any ticket agent, Chicago and North Western Ry., or address C. A. Cairns, C. P. & T. A., Chicago.

Legal Blanks for sale at this office.

ORSON P. COCHRAN

PIANO TUNER

Best of work guaranteed. Call telephone 233 or at the house 447 Third avenue north.

MISSIONARY MEET TO BE HELD HERE

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church for the Appleton district will be held at the Methodist church in this city on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Nov. 19 and 20. The following program has been prepared for the two days:

VICTOR ILHI BAKSHI
Who will speak at the Missionary Meeting.

Wednesday, 2 p. m., November 19th
2:00—Prayer Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell, Evangelists.
Address of Welcome... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Response... Mrs. Calhoun, New London, Duet... Mrs. J. Linderman and Miss Steen, Grand Rapids.
Greetings from Conference Secretary... Miss A. E. Stearns, Waupun.
"The Women Behind the Work"... Miss D. W. Caffray, Chicago.
Exercise... Kings Herald, Grand Rapids.
Announcements... 5:30—Banquet.
Toasts... Miss Hart, Appleton.
Music...
"The Heather We Bat For"... Mrs. Logan, Grand Rapids.
"Missions and Millinery"... Mrs. Hughes, Wausau.
Ladies' Quartette.
"Wishbone or Backbone"... Miss Grant, "One Master, One Mission" (Prater-nal)... Mrs. E. L. Hayward.
Response... Miss A. E. Stearns.
Music... Wednesday, 8 p. m.
8:00—Voluntary.
Hymn.
Chorus... Young People, Grand Rapids.
Prayer...
Duet... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Address... Missionary Offering.
Male Quartette.
Benediction.

Thursday, 9 a. m., November 20th.
9:00—Devotional Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Report of District Officers.
Corresponding Secretary... Mrs. H. S. Cooke, Kaukauna.
Treasurer... Mrs. Flock, Wausau.
Young People's Work... Miss Hart, Appleton.
Children's Work... Miss Herschle, Grand Rapids.
Annual Financial Statement... Mrs. R. L. Wheeler, Milwaukee.
Music.
Roll Call and Report of Auxiliaries.
Memorial Service... Mrs. J. H. Tippet, Appleton.
Kontente prayer, Benediction.

Thursday, 1:30 p. m.
1:30—Devotional Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
A Word of Cheer from District Superintendent... J. H. Tippet.
Branch Report... Mrs. A. Martin, Green Bay.
"Miss Lecky's Views"... Four Young Ladies, Grand Rapids.
Review of Study Books... Mrs. Evans, Wausau.
Recitation... Little Light Bearers, Grand Rapids.
Pledges.
Reports of Committees.
Blessing of Officers.
Reading of Minutes.
Installation of Officers... Conference Secretary.
Consecration Service... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Thursday, 7:30 p. m.
7:30—Hymn.
Male Quartette.
Prayer... Rev. H. C. Logan.
Violin Solo.
Address... Bishop W. A. Quayle.
Duet... Misses Caffray and Pennell.
Committal Prayer... Bishop Quayle.
Officers of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.
President... Mrs. C. J. L. Bulley, Green Bay.
Vice President... Mrs. Hattie Nielson, Appleton.
Recording Secretary... Mrs. Cora Martin, Green Bay.
Corresponding Secretary... Mrs. H. S. Cooke, Kaukauna.
Treasurer... Mrs. Clifford Flock, Wausau.
Superintendent Young People's Work... Miss Myrtle Hart, Appleton.
Superintendent Children's Work... Miss Elizabeth Herschle, Grand Rapids.

Afternoon and evening sessions were held. The program included addresses by Dr. Elizabeth M. Hooper of Port Huron, Michigan, supreme medical adviser, and Miss Harriet Olson of Oshkosh, state commissioner of musical numbers. The musical numbers of the Lillian Hives, No. 14 of this city exemplified the work in the first and second degrees and also a march. At six o'clock an elaborate banquet was served. The attendance at the meetings was large delegations being present from Wausau, Marshfield and Athens as well as from Stevens Point.

Especially those Stevens Pointers mentioned in Friday's Journal, Mrs. T. E. Canley, Mrs. P. Koller and Mrs. William Parker attended the rally.

County Board in Session.
The county board met in annual session in this city yesterday afternoon after assigning the work to the different committees an adjournment was taken until today. So far as is known there will be nothing of a startling nature brought up before the board at this meeting.

Stevens Point People Here to Enjoy Maccabee Rally.
Stevens Point Journal:—The local Lady Maccabees who attended the triennial rally at Grand Rapids Friday, returned home with most favorable impressions of the hospitality of their sisters in the neighboring city. They were shown every courtesy and as a result the event was an unusually pleasant one. Lillian Hives, which sent sixteen members to the rally, received a prize of $5.00 for having the largest delegation from outside Grand Rapids.

Afternoon and evening sessions were held. The program included addresses by Dr. Elizabeth M. Hooper of Port Huron, Michigan, supreme medical adviser, and Miss Harriet Olson of Oshkosh, state commissioner of musical numbers. The musical numbers of the Lillian Hives, No. 14 of this city exemplified the work in the first and second degrees and also a march. At six o'clock an elaborate banquet was served. The attendance at the meetings was large delegations being present from Wausau, Marshfield and Athens as well as from Stevens Point.

Especially those Stevens Pointers mentioned in Friday's Journal, Mrs. T. E. Canley, Mrs. P. Koller and Mrs. William Parker attended the rally.

GAME WARDENS ROUND UP SEVERAL LAW BREAKERS.

Game Wardens W. A. Cole and J. V. Kelsey arrested Henry Linaley at Neilsville on Nov. 8th for shipping partridges, they having found 66 birds that he had consigned to the southern market. He was taken before Circuit Judge O'Neill who fined him $75, which with the costs amounted to $55.88.

Wm. Schill was arrested on November 8th and taken before Justice B. L. Brown, of this city and he paid a fine and costs amounting to $52.00. William was hunting without having gone thru the formality of securing a license.

Leonard Slusser, who was catching Mink out of season was arrested on October 22, and paid fine and costs amounting to $27.00.

Charles Wenck was arrested on October 30th for molesting muskrats in houses. $26.50.

George Drusinski was arrested on the 5th of November for catching mink during the closed season and upon being taken before Judge Brown he contributed $23.00 toward defraying the running expenses of this great state of Wisconsin.

The game wardens also made a seizure of 63 partridges and three grouse at Babcock on November 4th. The birds were consigned to Fred Pezold, Jr. Co. of Chicago, and were sent by Harry Lewis from Lynn, Wis.

ESTABLISHES REPRESENTATIVES IN THE PRINCIPAL EUROPEAN CITIES.
The Passenger Department of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company has established representative offices at the principal cities of Europe, including London, Liverpool, Southampton, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Paris, Havre, Marseilles, Rome, Genoa, Naples, Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen, Frankfurt, Copenhagen and Christiania.

These representatives are experienced and qualified to plan itineraries, quote rates, check baggage, arrange for payment of customs and supply maps and descriptive matter and assist in arranging all minor details incident to a trip from Europe to and through America over the Chicago and North Western Railway, which comprises over ten thousand miles of perfectly equipped railway, traversing the nine great lakes west and northwest of Chicago, and by its traffic arrangements with connecting lines operating the most complete through train service over the famous Great Lakes and St. Lawrence route to the Pacific Coast.

It offers a service of the most modern equipment running over the direct route and historical highway to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, 1915.

The establishment of these offices in Europe will no doubt be greatly appreciated by the thousands of Americans who visit Europe annually as they will find there well equipped offices at their disposal for securing information and assistance relating to travel in Europe, round the World, and for their return journey.

They will further add greatly in stimulating travel to and through the United States and will bring prominently to the attention of the European traveler the many attractions America has to offer to the tourist as well as the business man.

Buyers Cold Storage Plant.
C. Blodgett this city made a deal the past week with the First National bank of Richmond Center whereby he becomes possessor of a large cold storage plant at that place. Since his advent in the cheese business Mr. Blodgett has steadily advanced in the business until he is now recognized as the largest individual dealer in the world. He now owns his own model cold storage plant in this city, a cold storage at Osceola, another at New Richmond, and a warehouse at Thorpe, Wm. Nesbitt, an expert cheese man, and well known at Richmond Center, has been engaged to manage the plant at that place.—Marshfield Herald.

Auto Owners Take Notice.
—We are going to paint automobiles this winter and are pleased to announce that Hugo Lind, after working 18 months in up-to-date auto and paint departments in larger cities has returned to Grand Rapids and will take charge of our paint department. This will enable us to guarantee entire satisfaction. Please consult us as soon as possible. The Anderson Carriage Works.

LOUIS ULE SHOTS A LARGE WOLF WHILE HUNTING SUNDAY.
Louis Ule, while hunting partridges on Sunday, bagged a wolf that measured 34 inches from tip to tip. The animal was killed with the shot, the first barrel having brought it to the ground, when it was finished with the second barrel.

It was killed about four miles east of the city, and the bounty amounts to $20.00. It will prove quite a profitable day's hunt to Mr. Ule.

Federation Meeting.
The Art Committee of the Federation will give their program Friday, November 14, 1913, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. E. L. Redford.

The committee have secured an able speaker from the University Extension Division of Madison to address the meeting. The meeting promises to be one of interest and all members are urged to come out.

Mr. Zwickey will illustrate his lecture as he talks. He will give you the best in Art and plenty of fun. He is a man of native reputation and a surprise wherever he goes. Good music by local talent.

Program:
Reception... North Division Music... Trio Illustrated Lecture—Home Arts and Decorations... J. Lorenzo Zwickey Music... Solo Refreshments.
In the evening Mr. Zwickey will address the Parental Association at the High School on "The Vocational Opportunities in the Field of Art."

THE GOVERNMENT WANTS DAIRYMEN

The establishment of creameries on several locations proposed by the government during the past two years has proven so successful that there is widespread interest in dairying among the settlers. Unfortunately many of the settlers are without the necessary capital to purchase good dairy stock and for the time being are forced to continue the uneconomical method of selling all their farm crops.

A large number of these settlers are trying to operate more land than their means will permit, and with a view of engaging in dairying are desirous of subdividing their farms in order to get money for the purchase of stock. This has placed on the market a considerable area of land on several projects where nearly all of the government land is taken up. The prices and terms offered are more on the basis of the need for money than on actual value, and offer excellent opportunities for experienced dairymen to establish themselves in communities where the success of their enterprise is practically assured. There are numerous sections where good land suited for dairy farming can be had at prices ranging from $25 to $50 per acre, with water ready for irrigation. On all these projects the markets for dairy products, beef and pork, are excellent and there is every indication of a continuance for an indefinite period. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that dairy farming in the west is the safest, surest, and in the long run the most profitable form of agriculture to engage in.

The Settlement Agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service at Chicago is furnishing information concerning location, prices, and terms to all who are seeking homes in the west, but is especially desirous of interesting practical farmers with capital. Many of these projects contain a few government farms available for homesteading and literature describing them is also supplied. In view of the very high prices prevailing elsewhere for lands suitable for dairying, the western opportunities are regarded as exceedingly attractive.

CONCERT SATURDAY FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE BAND.
The second number of the Best Concert Company will be given Saturday evening, Nov. 15th, at Daly's Theater. Reserved seats may be had on Friday at the city's drug store. The following is the program:

1. Fantasia... Kavarovic
Miss Rogers.
2. A Chip of the Old Block... Anon.
Mrs. Edwards.
3. Go to Sea... Trotter.
Mrs. Edwards.
4. The Perfect Tribute... Andrews.
Mrs. Edwards.
5. Andante... Parish, Alvares.
Miss Rogers.
6. Jane of Old Kentucky... Vera Jane Edwards.
Mrs. Edwards.
Intermission.
7. Her promise... Mrs. Edwards.
A Colonial Sketch with Harp and Song.
Mrs. Leigh... Mrs. Edwards.
Marian... Miss Rogers.
Paul... Master McCombs.

OUR ASSESSMENT IS MUCH HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR.
Grand Rapids property this year is assessed at $5,556,415, while last year it was $4,647,253, a difference of $909,162. When seven thousand people gain over six hundred thousand dollars in a year it would not be a very rapid manner. However, many pieces of property were assessed this year that have not been heretofore, and in many instances the assessed valuation of different properties was raised. The rate cannot be given at this time.

Camming-Goggins.
Miss Cassie M. Camming and Mr. Hugh Goggins of this city, were married this morning at eleven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, the ceremony that made them man and wife being performed by the Rev. H. C. Logan, pastor of the Methodist church. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present, and the wedding party was accompanied by Miss Grace Goggins and Mr. Edward Goggins. Mrs. Phil Camming sang a solo before the ceremony, and afterward the guests partook of a wedding luncheon and the newly wedded left on the noon train for the south where they will spend a short while before returning to their home in this city.

Both of these young people are well and favorably known in this city, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Camming, and is a most charming and estimable young lady, while the groom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Goggins, one of our rising young attorneys, and a member of the law firm of Goggins, Brazau & Goggins. They both have many friends in this city who will unite with the bridegroom in extending the heartiest congratulations and wishing them a long life of happiness.

ADVERTISED MAIL.
List of mail advertised at Grand Rapids, Wis., Nov. 11, 1913.
Ladies:
Mrs. S. O. Carol, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Shiel Mahle, Miss Martha Olson, Mrs. Anna Talbot.
Gentlemen:
Forest Craft Guild, Mr. John J. Grabenstall, Mr. Harry J. Hirsch, J. P. Lamberton, Hon. Walter B. Peterson, Mr. J. G. Roschke, Mr. Frank Shook, Mr. A. A. Schutte, Mr. Ernest Turion, Mr. H. Williams.
ROBT. NASH, P. M.

FOR SALE.
—25 acre truck and garden farm adjoining limits of City of Grand Rapids, 25 acres under cultivation. Good seven room farm house with large cellar. The land is not very good but can be used for the present. Located on main traveled highway. R. P. D. Telephone. Good reason for selling. A bargain for quick sale. Inquire of C. B. Roles, Lyon block, Grand Rapids, Wis.

A sister ship to the Imperator is now on the ways. The mammoth liner is apparently "here to stay" until big larger boats challenge supremacy.

On Tuesday of last week Deputy State Game Warden W. A. Cole of Vesper and Jay Kelsey of Stevens Point seized a consignment of birds in transit to Chicago, without the license required to contain sixty-three partridges and three grouse, and was billed to Fred Pögel, West Water street, Chicago. The shipper's name was given as H. Lynn, Chilli, Wisconsin. On Saturday the warden placed a man by the name of Henry Lindsey under arrest and when taken before the court committal order of Clark county at Neilsville he was bound over to the circuit court but later appeared before Judge James O'Neill and entered a plea of guilty. He was assessed $75 and costs, amounting in all to $85.88. These partridges, which they had reached their destination, would have realized the shipper at least $1 each. And when placed on the hotel or big restaurant tables in Chicago they would have cost the "ultimate consumer" $2.50 each.

On Demand or Or 10 day's time?

Ours is an "On demand" store, a store where you can come with confidence that your clothes demands will be met at once; and where whatever we give must result in YOUR satisfaction before WE are satisfied.

Years ago you couldn't purchase the kind of clothes we sell on demand outside of the shops of the exclusive tailors. It took an organization such as to bring ready clothes up to their present standard, to put them far above the best tailor models in point of style, quality and workmanship and at the same time keep the price down within reason.

The House of Kuppenheimer

How successfully all this has been done will be most evident if you will but review the more than two score styles for men of every age and every size we are offering at

$18 $20 $22.50 $25 $27.50 $30

KRUGER & WARNER CO.

"The Home of Better Clothes."

Copyright 1913
The House of Kuppenheimer

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

THANKSGIVING SALE

on Linens, Coats and Dress Goods

Bigger and better bargains than ever before in this Annual Thanksgiving Linen sale. You can easily buy the turkey with the money you save on this sale, only kinds that wear, wash and satisfy. The threads are drawn in cutting so there is no waste at either end.

Table Linen and Napkins

72 inch bleached Damask table linen special at 89c
62 inch half bleached, pure linen Damask at 58c
Bleached pattern cloths at $1.50, $1.65, $2.00 and up to $6.00.
72 inch table covers, round scallop or square at $6.98
72 inch bleached Damask in good assortment, $1.50 down to $1.98c.
Mercerized pattern cloths at 75c, 98c, $1.25 and $1.60.
Round scalloped lunch cloths at $1.49 to $3.50
Heavy silver bleached napkins, special per dozen, $1.75
Pure linen bleached napkins at $1.50, $1.65, $1.75 and up to $4.50 per dozen.
Linen spread and napkins, hemstitched set, $10.00

70x106 Damask set, $8.00, $10, $11.75 and up to $29.00.
Heavy cotton napkins, hemmed, ready for use per doz., 59c
Luncheon napkins, Maderia hand embr. per dozen, $11.50
Hemstitched per dozen, $4.00
Tray cloths at 23c to 85c

SPECIAL TOWEL VALUES

Scalloped huck towel at 29c
$1.50 fine huck towel, $1.19
$1.00 fine huck towel with eyelet embroidered and monogram space sale price, 69c
Guest towels, hemstitched, linen huck with monogram space sale price, 25-35-85c
Guest toweling, 35, 50 and 85c

Maderia hand embroidered round doilies and table covers at 25-50-$1.75 and up to $5.00.

Linen embr. scallop doilies at 10c
Larger sizes at 50 and 75c
Asbestos pads round at 18c
Asbestos pads covered with linen, embr. edge, 25c
$5 embr. sheet and pillow cases, hemstitched, special, $3.98
$3.50 scalloped sets special, $2.50
Cluney center pieces, round or square from $1.50 to $10
Dresser scarfs, cluney and Venetian at 75c to $5.00

Mercerized petticoats, green and pink at $1.48 and $1.00
Messaline petticoats, all shades $1.75
Knit and fleeced petticoats sale from 25c to $1.25
Plush and Caricure muff for ladies and children from 85c to $5.98.
$1.50 carving set special, $1.12

THANKSGIVING BARGAINS in Fur Sets, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Skirts and Petticoats
We were fortunate in getting a bargain lot of Style Craft Coats and we offer these, also every Ladies and Childs Coat in stock at MONEY SAVING PRICES

LAST WEEK
OF DRESS GOODS SALE.

W. C. WEISEL

BIG JOE
FLOUR
Up to Nov. ember 15th
at $1.45

MITCHEL CHOSEN NEW YORK MAYOR

Fusionists Utterly Rout Forces
of Tammany Hall.

DEMOCRATS WIN MANY STATES

David I. Walsh is Elected Governor of Massachusetts by Large Margin—James F. Fielder Carries
New Jersey for Governor.

New York, Nov. 6.—John Purroy Mitchell was elected mayor of New York Tuesday, and Tammany hall suffered the most crushing defeat it has known in many years.

The fusionists, besides electing their candidate for mayor by more than 121,000 plurality, also were generally victorious in the county and borough elections, and the rule of Charles F. Murphy was put in great peril. It seems certain that a movement will be started, with national approval and encouragement.

John Purroy Mitchell.

agreement, for the upbuilding of a new Democratic organization in New York city and state.

To add to Murphy's plight, returns from upstate showed that the next assembly will be Republican by a majority of 30 over both Democrats and Progressives.

Sulzer is Elected.

One of the spectacular features of the state election was the triumph of former Governor Sulzer, who, running on the Progressive ticket in the sixth district, was sent back to Albany to sit in the assembly which impeached him.

George McAnany was elected president of the board of aldermen, with the prospect of becoming mayor should anything happen to take Mr. Mitchell away. He won by 50,000 plurality over Joseph A. Gouden, Tammany's candidate.

William A. Prendergast was elected comptroller over Herman A. Metz by about 25,000, due undoubtedly to the attacks directed especially against his candidacy.

James M. Marks was chosen borough president of Manhattan over Dr. Thomas Darlington (Tammany) by 14,000. Tammany even lost its county ticket in New York county. It had lost the board of aldermen.

Fusion candidates will fill all the chairs in the important board of estimate meetings except that of Queens, where Borough President Connolly, independent Democrat, whom fusion did not endorse, was elected. Nobody, however, expects Tammany to get any benefit from his vote.

In Other New York Cities.

Schenectady ousted its Socialist mayor, George R. Lunn, and elected J. Toller Schoolcraft, Citizens' candidate.

The Progressives gained their most striking victory in Syracuse. Louis Will, their candidate, defeated James E. Donlan, Democrat, and Eugene J. Mack, Republican, in a race so close that only a few hundred votes separated all three candidates. Johnstown also elected a Progressive mayor by a plurality of 11 votes.

Other upstate municipal elections resulted in the victory of the following candidates for mayor:

Albany—Joseph G. Stevens (Rep.). Buffalo—Louis P. Fuhrmann (Dem.). Utica—James Smith (Dem.). Troy—Cornelius F. Burns (Dem.). Poughkeepsie—Daniel W. Wilbur (Rep.). Rochester—Hiram R. Egerton (Rep.).

Amherst—Charles W. Brister (Rep. and Prog.). Amsterdam—James N. Gilno (Rep. and Prog.).

Rome—H. C. Midlam (Dem.). Watertown—Isaac R. Dreen (Rep.). Elmira—Harry N. Hoffman (Fus.).

Massachusetts Democratic.

Boston, Nov. 6.—In what can be no better described than a landslide David I. Walsh, Democrat, was elected governor of Massachusetts Tuesday. His plurality was 77,816. Boston gave him a plurality of 28,000 a record never beaten by a gubernatorial candidate.

Edward P. Barry, Democrat, was elected lieutenant governor by about 20,000, and the result is hardly less surprising than Walsh's great plurality, for the election of Augustus G. Goheen, Republican, to the second place had been conceded by even the Democrats.

The contest between Charles S. Dird, Progressive, and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, Republican, Noncorroding Coating.

A boiling an iron or steel article in a solution of water, to which has been added four ounces of phosphoric acid and an ounce of iron filings, will give it a black, noncorroding coating.

Shoots Light.

For frightening burglars there has been invented a flashlight that resembles a magazine pistol, but which shoots a ray of light when the trigger is pulled.

Sauerkraut Machinery.

A French society for the encouragement of national industries recently awarded a gold medal to a farmer who established a sauerkraut factory in which all the machinery was electrically driven.

Training Plants.

To overcome the tendency of plants to grow in the direction of sunlight, a Philadelphia college laboratory uses a slowly revolving table to expose all sides of plants to the sun the same length of time.

WHICH HAS DEVELOPED NATION-WIDE INTEREST BECAUSE IT WAS THE ONLY REPLY GOOD FIGHT BETWEEN PROGRESSIVES AND THE OLD GUARD ANYWHERE IN THE COUNTRY WENT IN FAVOR OF THE FOLLOWERS OF ROOSEVELT.

The joke of the campaign proves to have been Governor Foss, running as an Independent.

Calvin D. Paige of South Bridge, Republican, was chosen to succeed the late William B. Wilder, Republican, in the special election in the third congressional district.

New Jersey Elects Fielder.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Fielder, Democratic candidate for governor, was elected Tuesday by over 25,000 plurality.

Apparently nothing was left undone by the leaders to hold the Fielder vote in check, for all sorts of concessions to the Republicans were made, according to rumors flying about Newark, especially in the strong organization wards. Stokes received the bulk of the Progressive vote, a small percentage going to Everett Colby, Progressive, the third candidate for the post in the field.

James F. Fielder became acting governor when President Wilson retired from the office to go to Washington. He was the declared choice of President Wilson for nomination by the Democratic party, and Secretary Bryan and other notables took part in the campaign in his behalf.

Blair Lee Maryland Senator.

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Blair Lee, Democrat, was elected to the United States senate Tuesday, to succeed William P. Jackson, Republican, appointed by Governor Goldsborough to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Rayner, and Charles T. Coady, Democrat, was elected to the house of representatives from the Third district to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Koenig, Democrat.

The Democrats were victorious all along the line, electing Emerson C. Harrington state comptroller and Caleb C. Magruder clerk of the court of appeals.

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

"Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the 'drys.' In ten other places which already were 'dry' the anti-saloon forces routed the 'wets.'"

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

William A. Prendergast.

George McAnany was elected president of the board of aldermen, with the prospect of becoming mayor should anything happen to take Mr. Mitchell away. He won by 50,000 plurality over Joseph A. Gouden, Tammany's candidate.

William A. Prendergast was elected comptroller over Herman A. Metz by about 25,000, due undoubtedly to the attacks directed especially against his candidacy.

James M. Marks was chosen borough president of Manhattan over Dr. Thomas Darlington (Tammany) by 14,000. Tammany even lost its county ticket in New York county. It had lost the board of aldermen.

Fusion candidates will fill all the chairs in the important board of estimate meetings except that of Queens, where Borough President Connolly, independent Democrat, whom fusion did not endorse, was elected. Nobody, however, expects Tammany to get any benefit from his vote.

In Other New York Cities.

Schenectady ousted its Socialist mayor, George R. Lunn, and elected J. Toller Schoolcraft, Citizens' candidate.

The Progressives gained their most striking victory in Syracuse. Louis Will, their candidate, defeated James E. Donlan, Democrat, and Eugene J. Mack, Republican, in a race so close that only a few hundred votes separated all three candidates. Johnstown also elected a Progressive mayor by a plurality of 11 votes.

Other upstate municipal elections resulted in the victory of the following candidates for mayor:

Albany—Joseph G. Stevens (Rep.). Buffalo—Louis P. Fuhrmann (Dem.). Utica—James Smith (Dem.). Troy—Cornelius F. Burns (Dem.). Poughkeepsie—Daniel W. Wilbur (Rep.). Rochester—Hiram R. Egerton (Rep.).

Amherst—Charles W. Brister (Rep. and Prog.). Amsterdam—James N. Gilno (Rep. and Prog.).

Rome—H. C. Midlam (Dem.). Watertown—Isaac R. Dreen (Rep.). Elmira—Harry N. Hoffman (Fus.).

Massachusetts Democratic.

Boston, Nov. 6.—In what can be no better described than a landslide David I. Walsh, Democrat, was elected governor of Massachusetts Tuesday. His plurality was 77,816. Boston gave him a plurality of 28,000 a record never beaten by a gubernatorial candidate.

Edward P. Barry, Democrat, was elected lieutenant governor by about 20,000, and the result is hardly less surprising than Walsh's great plurality, for the election of Augustus G. Goheen, Republican, to the second place had been conceded by even the Democrats.

The contest between Charles S. Dird, Progressive, and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, Republican, Noncorroding Coating.

A boiling an iron or steel article in a solution of water, to which has been added four ounces of phosphoric acid and an ounce of iron filings, will give it a black, noncorroding coating.

Shoots Light.

For frightening burglars there has been invented a flashlight that resembles a magazine pistol, but which shoots a ray of light when the trigger is pulled.

Sauerkraut Machinery.

A French society for the encouragement of national industries recently awarded a gold medal to a farmer who established a sauerkraut factory in which all the machinery was electrically driven.

OUSTS MAD RULER

KING OTTO OF BAVARIA DEPOSED AND PRINCE REGENT IS SUCCESSOR.

HIS BROTHER ALSO DEMENTED

Former Monarch and Predecessor
Were Unable to Govern Country
Because of Weakness—Ludwig II,
Drowned Self in Starnberg Lake.

Munich, Nov. 7.—King Otto, the insane monarch of Bavaria, was deposed here on Wednesday after "ruling" for 27 years.

Prince Regent Ludwig proclaimed himself king in pursuance of the provisions of a law just enacted by the two houses of the Bavarian diet.

The new king is to be known as Ludwig III. He will take the constitutional oath probably on November 8.

A royal proclamation which was posted throughout the kingdom declares incurable the insanity which has incapacitated Otto from ruling and states that in consequence of this Prince Regent Ludwig has brought his regency to an end, has ascended the throne and nominated himself king.

The deposed King Otto was born April 27, 1848, and succeeded his brother Ludwig II, who drowned himself in Starnberg lake (Starnbergersee), June 13, 1886.

Two members of the Bavarian diet were sent as a delegation to Puerstler palace to visit the mad king. They found him in a pathetic condition. When he saw them, he stammered some inarticulate words. While they were out of the room they heard a crash and found that Otto had dashed to the floor a tea tray which had been set for the guests.

The last act of Otto as king, when he upset a tea tray which had been set for the reception of two members of the chamber of deputies, who had come to see him, was in its futility a fitting climax to dementia, which had first become pronounced when the Germans were before the gates of Paris in 1870. Otto, then a prince, ordered his regiment to charge a stone wall, in the belief that the wall was a detachment of the enemy.

Such was Prince Otto of Bavaria, who 27 years ago was proclaimed king by Prince Luitpold, then regent. Ludwig II, also a mad king, and elder brother of Otto, had been deposed and a regency established.

Two USE RIOT GUN IN JAIL

Prisoners Riddle Keeper's Office With Bullets After Forcing Door and Getting Liquor.

Morrisstown, N. J., Nov. 6.—Two intoxicated prisoners with a gun and 1,000 rounds of ammunition held the jail at Morris county, N. J., here from midnight until dawn Tuesday, terrorizing other inmates and riddling the keeper's office with bullets, and falling in their plan for a wholesale jail delivery only because they drank too much liquor after escaping from their cells and fell asleep.

Eugene Sampson and John Burns were placed in the hospital ward with several other prisoners charged with minor offenses. The two picked the lock of a door which leads into the keeper's office. Entering, they found and drank a bottle of liquor that had been taken from a prisoner a few hours before.

Then Sampson and Burns broke into a storeroom and obtained a riot gun and ammunition. Returning to the hospital ward, they closed the front door and began firing through it. As each shell contained a number of bullets the keeper's office was riddled.

At daylight keepers entered the jail. They found the inmates in a state of terror. Burns and Sampson were asleep in a corner.

GATES BODY PUT IN VAULT

Services for Late Millionaire at New York—Laid to Rest Beside Father.

New York, Nov. 4.—Funeral services of Charles G. Gates, the young millionaire whose hunting trip in the west was terminated by his sudden death at Cody, Wyo., were held on Sunday in the Madison Avenue Methodist church. The body was taken to Woodlawn cemetery where it will rest in one of the vaults until the family mausoleum designed to receive the body of the late John W. Gates as well as that of the son is completed.

To Wire Condition of Crops.

Washington, Nov. 7.—November crop reports will be transmitted to newspapers by telegraph. Summaries of conditions will be telegraphed to the central weather-bureau station in each state for further distribution.

Woman Pleads in Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Mrs. S. H. Sorin of Arizona appeared as the representative of a mining corporation in a big mining suit before the U. S. Supreme court. Only on a few occasions have women addressed the court.

Re-Elect Mrs. McDowell.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 7.—All general officers of the General executive committee of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church, headed by Mrs. W. F. McDowell as president, were re-elected.

Will Seek to End Strike.

East Liverpool, O., Nov. 6.—The pottery clay manufacturers and workers will meet in an effort to settle the strike which has tied up the 35 factories in Wellsville, East Liverpool and other places.

Four Prisoners Escape Jail.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 6.—Four prisoners, including three murderers, escaped jail at Beattyville, Lee county, by concerted action in cutting a section out of a steel cage and through a brick wall.

Battleship Fleet Meets Rough Seas.

Cape Race, Nov. 4.—The battleship fleet of its way to Mediterranean ports has encountered rolling seas blown up by fresh southwesterly winds. The vessels have 1,650 miles more to steam.

Rats Ravage Whole Island.

Tokio, Nov. 4.—The entire population of the small island of Nakasima of the Ten Islands group in southern Japan, has been threatened with extermination by a veritable plague of rats.

SHOPPING FOR HER TROUSSEAU

Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the president, accompanied by her mother, is here seen shopping in Washington for her trousseau in preparation for her wedding to Francis B. Sayre on November 25.

ICEBERG CRASH TOLD

STEAMER REACHES PORT SAFELY AFTER TERRIFIC STRUGGLE.

Crew of Ship Struggle at the Pumps to Hold Boat Afloat After Collision in the Dark.

St. Johns, N. F., Nov. 6.—The freighter Manchester Commerce of the Furness line dragged her way into the harbor here on Tuesday, her bow a mass of crumpled wreckage and her pumps working madly to defeat the flood of water which poured in through the shattered hull.

The steamer, which carries no wireless apparatus, crashed head on into a giant iceberg at two o'clock Sunday morning while about 100 miles east of Belle Isle.

The night was very dark and the berg loomed out of the blackness so suddenly there was no time to change the course of the steamer, which swept at full speed into the mountain of ice. The force of the impact was terrible. The steel prow of the liner was crumpled like a piece of tin as far as the collision bulkhead. The decks were covered with huge fragments of crumpled ice and wreckage.

Captain Couch made a hasty survey of the damage and headed his ship for St. Johns. He succeeded in notifying his agents at Montreal by means of flag signals.

The sea was swept by a heavy storm and the steamer had a hard time making port. Torrents of water poured into the hold through the shattered bow. The jumps, although continued in operation, could scarcely hold their own. The ship reached here in a sinking condition.

DENIES HAVING GIRL KILLED

Woman Implicated in Slayer's Confession Declares He is Seeking Revenge.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Ella M. Lake, held an accessory to the murder of Miss Florence Brown on the strength of assertions made by Maude Barr, who had confessed to the killing, in a statement denied that she had any part in or knowledge of the killing of the young woman, and attributed Barr's attempt to implicate her as an endeavor to be revenged for her refusal to accept his advances. These were made, she declared, before the death of a month ago of her husband. At the time Lake and her husband were in the same house. "I was introduced to Barr about five months ago," Mrs. Lake said. "Afterward Barr claimed he loved me. I resented his professions and warned him not to enter my apartments unless my husband was there. He said then he would get even with me some day. That is the only reason I can give for his attempt to connect me with the killing of Miss Brown."

Many Hurt in Wreck.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Scores of people were seriously injured here when a Washburn railroad train crashed into a Halsted street car at West Seventy-fifth street. The piling of the wreckage hid the railroad tracks from the motorists.

Editor of Independent Quits.

New York, Nov. 7.—It became known here that Rev. Dr. William Hayes Ward has resigned as editor of the Independent, after serving in that capacity 45 years. Doctor Ward will remain as contributing editor.

Maniac Kills an Officer.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7.—Police investigation developed that Walter Kuhlman, who killed one policeman and probably fatally wounded another at police headquarters, has been deranged for some time.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.

Laramie, Wyo., Nov. 6.—John Evans, former Burlington railroad employee, killed his wife from whom he had separated, and then blew out his own brains. Mrs. Evans was preparing to sue her husband for divorce.

One Killed in Auto Wreck.

St. Louis, Nov. 6.—George Boland was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Gets $2,500 in Freak Stamps.

New York, Nov. 4.—Five freak United States stamps of the issue of 1893, valued by their owner, Clarence E. Chapman of New York, at $2,500, were stolen from the International Philatelic exhibition.

Jackson, Ky., Swept by Fire.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 4.—The business section of Jackson, the scene of many feud murders, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $150,000. Governor McCreary has been asked to call out the National Guard.

Eugenic Bridgegroom Quits.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5.—M. D. Bowen of Denver, eugenic bridgegroom who volunteered his services to the board of health, and who was held up as a possible husband to 100 women, has backed out.

STATE DEATH RATE FOR THREE MONTHS

Report of Health Board for July, August and September.

OVER 6,000 PERSONS DIE

Increase Seen From Few Contagious Diseases—Infantile Paralysis Claims 11 in Same Number of Counties.

Madison.—The report of the state health board shows that during July, August and September, 1913, there were 6,432 deaths reported by the various local registrars. This corresponds to an annual death rate of 10.6 per thousand of estimated population, and represents a fair average for the five-year period.

As compared with the 1912 report, there is a slight increase in the number of deaths of persons under one year of age, one to four years of age, and sixty-five and over.

There is also a small increase in the number of deaths reported from the various communicable diseases, with the exception of typhoid fever, scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, meningitis and influenza.

There was increase in the number of deaths from the following diseases: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 9; other forms of tuberculosis, 23; diphtheria, 19; measles, 5; pneumonia, 47; cancer, 58, and violence, 38.

The northern section of the state has a death rate for this period of 9.3 per thousand, estimated population, while the rate for the central counties is 10.4 and the rate for the southern section 11.3.

Considering the deaths from violence, we find that 93 resulted from accidental drowning; 67 from railroad accidents; 83 from suicides; 26 from accidental burns and scalds; 26 from heat prostrations and sunstroke; 15 from lightning; 15 from horse vehicles and horses; 17 from automobile accidents; 11 from accidental poisoning; 12 from homicides; 16 from accidental gunshot wounds and 8 from street car accidents.

There were 7 deaths from tetanus, one from rabies, one from snake bite and one from pellagra. The deaths from infantile paralysis are distributed by counties as follows: Clark, 1; Douglas, 1; Grant, 1; Juneau, 1; La Crosse, 1; Manitowish, 1; Marathon, 1; Monroe, 1; Pierce, 1; Rock, 1; and Walworth, 1.

Start Sale of Red Cross Xmas Seals.

The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association wants 1,400 local campaign managers to take care of the sales of Red Cross Christmas seals in the different parts of the state, said Otto F. Bradley, Milwaukee, Mr. Bradley is campaign manager of the association of Wisconsin.

This method is taken to raise funds with which to fight the white plague during the coming year and to keep Wisconsin among the leading states in the union. Last year we had 1,169 managers in the state, but we want more this year.

More and better care for children will be the slogan of the campaign. It is maintained by authorities that this is the solution of the problem expressed in the former battle cry, "Wipe consumption out of the family." This is a most important factor in the control of all other preventable diseases.

The opening date of the sale of these seals this year has been fixed for Thanksgiving, and it will continue till Christmas. But one manager in each locality is named, and he places the seals with business men, organizations, schools, etc., for sale to the public.

The Christmas seal campaign has the prestige and the contagiousness of the Warrenton, Wis., movement," said Mr. Bradley. "There is something inspiring in falling in line with the whole country, especially in the Badger state, which has led the country in making the highest per capita sale in past years. The accomplishments of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association during the last year insures this support on the part of the public being continued."

Historical Society Donates Tract.

At a largely attended meeting of the Washington County Historical society, held in the Congregational church, it was unanimously voted to deed the state site of the Cushing monument, to be erected at Delafield, to the state. According to lay, the state legislature must first vote to accept the deed, and in the meantime it will remain in escrow. It is probable that the monument will be erected next year. The question of who was to hold the deed has been "hanging fire" for months, and the fact that there were no dissenting voices was surprising to many.

Articles of Incorporation.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state as follows: The Equitable Investment company, Milwaukee; capital, $15,000; incorporators, James W. Dorsey, Robert Wild and E. J. Gross. The Quinlan Timber and Logging company, Supton; capital, $50,000; incorporators, M. J. Quinlan, John V. Quinlan and H. E. McGraw. The Klondike Co-operators, Cheese and Butter company, Marshfield; capital, $4,000; incorporators, J. A. Chapman, Oliver E. Roland, August Held and C. F. Fredrick.

The L. P. C. Motor company, Racine; capital, $250,000; incorporators, William Mitchell Lewis, Rene M. Petard, and Elbert B. Hand. The American Land company, Superior; capital, $15,000; incorporators, Joseph J. Wirtz, R. H. Mann, and A. B. Wirtz. The Mukwonago Poultry and Stock association, Mukwonago; no capital; incorporators, R. J. Porter and five others. The Marinette-Nez Pines Mining company, Phoenix, Ariz.; capital, $1,000,000, of which $25,000 is represented by property in Wisconsin; representative in Wisconsin, Al Jan W. John, Marinette.

Increase in 1913 Hunting Licenses.

That the number of resident game licenses issued in 1913 will exceed the number issued in 1912 by 15,000 is the opinion of Chief V. G. Warden Scholls, who said that already many hunters have found it necessary to ask for more blank forms. The record also shows that for the present year the number of licenses granted to non-residents for deer and small game exceeds the record of last year at the present time, although the rush season for deer hunting licenses has not yet arrived.

New Wisconsin Patents.

Frank E. Davis, assignor of one-half to La Crosse Plow company, La Crosse, plow; Clinton W. Dickinson, La Crosse, plow; James L. Garnett, St. Louis, Mo., assignor to E. A. Peterson, Appleton, hydraulic latch; Frederick A. Glencoe, assignor of one-half to G. Reinders, Brookfield, distributing apparatus for liquids; Paul Kempe, Milwaukee, bottle washer; Wilhelm Niebuhr, assignor to the National Trap works, Madison, trap.

30 ARE HURT IN RIOT

GOVERNOR RALSTON CALLS THE TROOPS TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Non-Union Men Beaten by Mob Attacking Car Agree to Go Home.

MITCHEL CHOSEN NEW YORK MAYOR

Fanatics Utterly Rout Forces of Tammany Hall.

DEMOCRATS WIN MANY STATES

David I. Walsh Is Elected Governor
of Massachusetts by Large Margin—James F. Fielder Carries
New Jersey for Governor.

New York, Nov. 6.—John Purroy Mitchell was elected mayor of New York Tuesday, and Tammany hall suffered the most crushing defeat it has known in many years.

The fanatics, besides electing their candidate for mayor by more than 121,000 plurality, also were generally victorious in the county and borough elections, and the rule of Charles F. Murphy was put in great peril. It seems certain that a movement will be started, with national approval and encouragement, for the upbuilding of a new Democratic organization in New York city and state.

John Purroy Mitchell.

To add to Murphy's plight, returns from an upstate showed that the next assembly will be Republican by a majority of 30 over both Democrats and Progressives.

Sulzer Is Elected.
One of the spectacular features of the state election was the triumph of former Governor Sulzer, who, running on the Progressive ticket in the sixth district, was sent back to Albany to sit in the assembly which impeached him.

George McAneny was elected president of the board of aldermen, with the prospect of becoming mayor should anything happen to take Mr. Mitchell away. He won by 50,000 plurality over Joseph A. Goulden, Tammany's candidate.

William A. Prendergast was elected comptroller over Herman A. Metz by about 25,000, due undoubtedly to the attacks directed especially against his candidacy.

Marcus M. Marks was chosen borough president of Manhattan over Dr. Thomas Darlington (Tammany) by 14,000. Tammany even lost its county ticket in New York county. It had lost the board of aldermen.

Fusion candidates will fill all the chairs in the important board of estimate meetings except that of Queens, where Borough President Connolly, Independent Democrat, whom fusion did not endorse, was elected. Nobody, however, expects Tammany to get any terrors from his vote.

In other New York cities.
Schenectady ousted the Socialist mayor, George R. Lunn (Rep.) and J. Teller Schoolcraft, Citizens' candidate.

The Progressives gained their most striking victory in Syracuse. Louis Will, their candidate, defeated James E. Donlan, Democrat, and Eugene J. Mack, Republican, in a race so close that only a few hundred votes separated all three candidates. Johnstown also elected a Progressive mayor by a plurality of 11 votes.

Other upstate municipal elections resulted in the victory of the following candidates for mayor:
Albany—Joseph C. Stevens (Rep.)
Buffalo—Louis P. Fuhrmann (Dem.)
Utica—James Smith (Dem.)
Troy—Cornelius F. Burns (Dem.)
Poughkeepsie—Daniel W. Wilbur (Rep.)
Rochester—Hiram R. Egerton (Rep.)
Auburn—Charles W. Brister (Rep. and Prog.)
Amsterdam—James N. Glue (Rep. and Prog.)
Rome—H. C. Midiam (Dem.)
Watertown—Isaac R. Breen (Rep.)
Excelsior—Harry N. Hoffman (Fus.)

Massachusetts Democratic.
Boston, Nov. 6.—In what can be no better described than a landslide, David I. Walsh, Democrat, was elected governor of Massachusetts Tuesday. His plurality was 57,815. Boston gave him a plurality of 28,000, a record never beaten by a gubernatorial candidate.

Edward P. Barry, Democrat, was elected lieutenant governor by about 20,000, and the result is hardly less surprising than Walsh's great plurality, or the election of Augustus Gathings, Republican, to the second place had been conceded by even the Democrats.

The contest between Charles S. Bird Progressive, and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, Republican, Noncorroding Coat.

Beating an iron or steel article in a gallon of water, to which has been added four ounces of phosphoric acid and an ounce of iron filings, will give it a black, noncorroding coating.

Shoots Light.
For frightening burglars there has been invented a flashlight that releases a blinding light, but which shoots a ray of light when the trigger is pulled.

Sauerkraut Machinery.
A French society for the encouragement of national industries recently awarded a gold medal to a farmer who established a sauerkraut factory in which all the machinery was electrically driven.

Training Plants.
To overcome the tendency of plants to grow in the direction of sunlight a Philadelphia college laboratory uses a slowly revolving table to expose all sides of plants to the sun the same length of time.

Harness Wasted Energy.
To harness some of the power exerted by the occupant of a rocking chair, a Minnesota man has invented a spring motor which is wound up by ratchet mechanism attached to the back of the chair.

Rapid Telegraphy.
An inventor claims to have perfected a system of rapid telegraphy capable of 40,000 words an hour. A beam of light playing upon a strip of sensitized paper records the messages.

Singing Milkmaids Wanted.
Swiss milkmaids who can sing are paid more than those who cannot, a theory being that a cow will give more milk while listening to music.

Handy for Hairdresser.
To the hairdresser electric heat is serviceable when shampooing to dry the hair and for heating curling tongs.

Underground Railroads.
The underground electric railroads of Paris are now carrying more than 400,000,000 passengers a year.

Rate Ravage Whole Island.
Tokio, Nov. 4.—The entire population of the small island of Nakashima of the Ten Islands group in southern Japan, has been threatened with extermination by a veritable plague of rats.

Battleship Fleet Meets Rough Seas.
Cape Race, Nov. 4.—The battleship fleet out of the United States coast, after encountering rolling seas blown up by fresh southwesterly winds, the vessels have 1,650 miles more to steam.

Gets $2,500 in Freak Stamp.
New York, Nov. 4.—Five freak United States stamps of the issue of 1869, valued by their owner, Clarence E. Chapman of New York at $2,500, were stolen from the International Philatelic exhibition.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

Man Kills Wife and Himself.
St. Louis, Nov. 5.—George Boland, was killed and Mrs. Boland, his wife, Mrs. Giles Boland, his mother, and Miss Anna Boland, his sister, were injured in an automobile wreck. Their car upset in a ditch.

The League of Lost Causes

Being the Romantic Adventures of
By H. M. EGBERT
Paul Lane, American Millionaire

The Misplaced Dream

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

AUL LANE stood on the heights above Delhi, looking down upon a city of tents.

The ancient capital of the Mughals stretched away beneath him, mile after mile of mean and squalid buildings, relieved here and there by the splendid orb of temple or marble minaret. But it was not at the native city Paul looked; rather at the mushroom town which had sprung up almost overnight, with its acres of canvas and high scaffolding. King George and Queen Mary were to be crowned in their magnificent pavilion on the third morning, when all the feudatory chiefs of the sub-continent would present themselves before them to pledge their loyalty.

It was the first time that a reigning British sovereign had set foot within the boundaries of his Indian empire. And the cause of this long journey was known to every one. India was seething with dissatisfaction, so that it required the presence of the king-emperor to strike home into the imagination of the natives something of the power of the British army.

When, glittering with gems and gold, the native princes bent before their majesties, the symbol of the act would impress upon the natives who would be watching from walls and towers and packing every road and footpath of the ancient capital.

Paul's mission had been suddenly determined on. The League of Lost Causes, as it was popularly termed, sitting at its headquarters, had resolved that England's prestige must be shattered in the East, that out of her difficulties, something might be gained. The league spun webs within webs; no stroke was planned but had some bearing upon its ultimate end: the restoration of the monarchies and the overthrow of democracy. And England, as the leader of the democratic nations of Europe, was hated perhaps most bitterly by those who directed the league.

Joan Rosny, its secretary, had called on Paul in Paris and outlined the situation.

"Desperate as the chance appears," he said, "it requires only determination and self-confidence to effect our purpose. The British power is tottering; India will never willingly see a king from overseas crowned in the sacred capital of the Moguls. We have secured the adherence of the most powerful of the feudatory princes—the Jam of Naghpur. He commands thirty millions of subjects—as many as the population of all Italy. The native troops look to him as their leader and will follow him. When he stands before King George and Queen Mary, then, instead of pledging his loyalty, he will address their native bodyguard, order them into arrest, and himself pluck the crown from the British sovereign's head and place it on his own. Delhi will acclaim him emperor, and all India will be ablaze with rebellion."

"Now, my dear Paul," Rosny had continued, "unfortunately the Jam, who alone can commit this action with the certainty of success, is vacillating. Educated at Oxford, he has something of an Englishman's loyalty to his emperor, or rather, let us say, he realizes the might of England's power. But the thought of domination has dazzled him. He can be persuaded. You will go, then, to his palace at Delhi and communicate with him through his chief officer, Ramchandra Sing, our Indian representative. Together you will overcome the Jam's reluctance. And to prevent all possibility of failure I may tell you that, out of the millions which you have placed at the disposal of the league, we have devoted nearly $500,000 to this purpose."

"And now, Paul, I may speak upon a subject more to your heart than even this magnificent opportunity to overthrow the power of England in the East. I will speak as man to man and not as the league's western secretary. I am not blind to the perception of your ultimate desires; you, too, Mademoiselle, as we have agreed to term her—the mysterious, unknown woman who visited you in America and pledged you and your millions to our cause. You feel that we are playing with you—no, don't protest—utilizing your services and your millions without the intention to admit you into our councils. Rest assured that Mademoiselle has followed each effort of yours with interest and appreciation, and that, if you succeed in this endeavor, you shall at least learn her identity. That much I guarantee, and the rest shall come after."

This much Paul recalled as he looked down upon the Durbar city, with its tents and pavilions and flying flags, topped-off courses for camels and elephants, and its circles of seats for the spectators. The Jam, clad in the robes of empire, was at last resolved to make his coup at the psychological moment. So much he had learned at an interview with Ramchandra Sing, a Sikh of high lineage, who, speaking in flawless English, dilated upon the possibilities of the scheme.

"Think of it, Mr. Lane," he said, as his eyes flashed, "a continent of three hundred million souls dominated by seventy thousand English troops! Why, we shall sweep them away as the wind sweeps the threshing floor. But first we need the man. And the Jam has determined to cast his all upon this throw."

Paul had an appointment at the Jam's palace for that afternoon. Much remained to be done. The disbursement of the immense sum of money which had been devoted to the enterprise lay in the hands of Ramchandra, but it was Lane's duty to supervise all to enjoy and wrangle over their booty. The shutter closed and the hand was withdrawn. How many secret lives were spent thus, in the women's quarters in the upper stories of these ill-smelling, unsanitary, secluded houses! It seemed a place of mysteries. Instinctively Paul's thoughts went back to the unknown woman who had drawn him from America to engage in this series of unprofitable adventures.

Every fiber of his being thrilled at the thought of her. But he must not let his thoughts linger there. When his mission had been brought to a successful termination, then he would have earned the right to convert his oft-repeated request to Rosny into a command. Till then—

He followed the Hindoo into an apartment on the ground floor and stumbled into almost complete obscurity, except for the glow of a small brazier in one corner, in which incense was burning. Somebody came forward and grasped his hand. It was Ramchandra, and he led Paul to a large, ornate chair, beneath the small aperture high in the wall which served as a window. In the chair sat a fat man in a long cloak, now thrown open casually. This was the Jam of Naghpur, and beneath his outer garment Paul could see the brilliant uniform of his order, which his religion forbade him to cast aside when he left the enclosure of the palace. The Jam grunted and, paying Paul no further attention, fixed his gaze upon the brazier. And now, behind the tiny, stood not a word; instead, he began speaking in excellent English, glancing at a glass crystal which he held in his hand.

"The heavens are favorable," he began, in a low, croaking utterance. "Your project is already assured of success. Look into the crystal!"

He addressed himself to the Jam, who murmured lethargically: "His secretary took the glass and placed it in his hand. It lay there for an instant and then crashed down to the floor, rolling, with uncanny precision, directly to the feet of the astrologer, and remaining there.

"Sir!" pleaded Ramchandra. "Will you deign to look into the crystal?" No answer came, except a stertorous snore. The Jam slept in his chair; his eyes wide open, his hands limp at his side.

Satisfied that his ruler was completely under the influence of the drug, Ramchandra leaped to his feet, and his face underwent a remarkable metamorphosis. He struck a match and lit a small silver lamp upon the table, then turned to Paul.

"The first part of our task is accomplished," he said briskly. "Now, my friends, we have no time to lose. In a few moments the immediate effects of the drug will wear off. It will be your task to instill into our sovereign's empty—unusually empty—mind the understanding of what his duty is tomorrow. Address him in a peremptory fashion as you please and have no fear; though he will seem

Paul received a visit from Ramchandra which materially altered the situation. "I had a talk last night with his highness," began the secretary in mellifluous English. "He wants to consult his astrologer before finally committing himself. You are to meet us there." He gave Paul an address in a little blind alley leading out of the Grand Bazaar. "As the astrologer has been amply bribed," he continued, smiling, "I do not doubt that he will consider the cause favorable."

"Now, Mr. Lane," he went on, "it is understood that at the moment when his highness approaches the dais to make his obeisance you, who will be watching from the top tier of seats immediately in front of the pavilion, will drop your handkerchief. The signal will be seen by the commander of the Sikhs and will indicate that all is in readiness. As his highness arrests the king and queen the commander will swiftly move his troops to encircle them, cutting off all access on the part of the natives. A revolt will break out, his highness will rule in Delhi, and English rule is shattered forever throughout India."

He stopped and looked carefully at Paul.

"You are thinking, 'Suppose the prince changes his mind again at the last moment,'" he said.

"Well—yes," admitted Paul.

"Mr. Lane," said the secretary, in an apparent spontaneous outburst of confidence, "you have never fully trusted me in this affair. Now don't explain your position; a secretary to a prince somehow gets into the habit of reading his followers fairly accurately. Well, sir, let me tell you that I, too, have a good deal at stake. I would assuredly rather be the prime minister of an Indian empire than a mere secretary to a principality. So I have taken a certain step to clinch the matter. I have seen the astrologer in private and have arranged that the prince's coffee shall be drugged when we three meet there tomorrow night, twelve hours before the Durbar begins."

"Drugged!" exclaimed Paul Lane.

"But how can a drugged man play so important a part?"

"You have heard of hashish?" asked Ramchandra Sing.

"Assuredly."

"It is a very mysterious drug, especially when blended with certain other narcotics, the knowledge of which is confined to some of the Indian practitioners. For half an hour after swallowing it one feels no effects at all; after that, when given in certain quantities and combinations, it possesses the peculiar property of destroying the perception of time. For instance, to the man under hashish, a thousand years may pass, or seem to pass, in a moment, and conversely also. This is the effect of the drug, which the astrologer's effects is able to go about his business apparently in full possession of his senses. Actually, he is an automaton. He is like one hypnotized; he obeys all orders unquestioningly. For the inhibition of the processes of ratiocination leaves the mind in a state to carry out the one idea which has been placed in it. You understand me? Good! Well, then, his highness the Jam, when under the influence of this drug, will be told exactly what he is to do, and will set about to do it. He will conquer an empire in a dream and awake to find himself an emperor."

Skeptical as he was by nature, Paul was forced to admit to himself that the idea was not wholly impracticable. At any rate the apathy of the Jam had made desperate measures essential. The enthusiasm of the secretary seemed equal to his own; before he left he pronounced a malediction upon the British rule and painted the prospects of a free India in such glowing terms that Paul's own ardor was again aroused. They parted with a warm hand-clasp and in the understanding that they were to meet on the following night at the astrologer's house.

Paul was admitted to the little two-story shanty by an evil-looking Hindoo, dressed in a dirty white linen cloth and turban of the same indeterminate hue. The street was empty, except for a couple of sacred apes, which chased each other along the housetops and tapped impudently at the shuttered windows in appeal for immunity. A shutter was thrust open and a slim hand protruded holding a morsel, which one of the beasts snatched away, and the two made off leaping flame. Paul saw, with startling suddenness, the head and shoulders of a white-bearded old man emerge from the obscurity. It was the astrologer, whom, hidden as he was in the shadows, Paul had not at first seen. He was incredibly old, and his aspect was incredibly evil. In the deep furrows stamped into his face one might have read the story of a life given up to wickedness. Paul shuddered at the sight of the man, but could not turn his eyes from this hideous apparition.

Evidently there was more than incense in the bowl, for the smell of fragrant coffee now assailed Paul's nostrils, and the secretary, stepping toward the Jam, proffered him a tiny cup of the liquid. The prince grunted and began sipping listlessly. The other cup Ramchandra handed to Paul; in the darkness Paul could make out a meaning look upon the secretary's face. The man's hand, too, shook as he handed it to him. Despite their understanding Paul seemed to sense treachery in the air. But there was nothing to be done now; nor any going back. He had trusted himself to Ramchandra and must follow the path on which he had entered. He tasted the coffee cautiously; there was no flavor or odor of any foreign drug, and hashish, he had understood, was intensely bitter. Smiling at his fears, he set the empty cup upon an indistinct table, and saw Ramchandra obsequiously take the other empty cup from the Jam. And now there remained nothing but to wait until the drug took effect on the unstable ruler.

Presently Paul's eyes became accustomed to the darkness. He saw the dim figure of the old astrologer clearly outlined now, and the Jam, seated motionless in his chair, and Ramchandra at his side. The prince's lethargy seemed to indicate that the drug was beginning to take effect on him. Presently the astrologer beckoned to the three men to draw up their chairs. They did so. Paul had expected that the old man would address them in his own language, of which he understood not a word; instead, he began speaking in excellent English, glancing at a glass crystal which he held in his hand.

"The heavens are favorable," he began, in a low, croaking utterance. "Your project is already assured of success. Look into the crystal!"

He addressed himself to the Jam, who murmured lethargically: "His secretary took the glass and placed it in his hand. It lay there for an instant and then crashed down to the floor, rolling, with uncanny precision, directly to the feet of the astrologer, and remaining there.

"Sir!" pleaded Ramchandra. "Will you deign to look into the crystal?" No answer came, except a stertorous snore. The Jam slept in his chair; his eyes wide open, his hands limp at his side.

Satisfied that his ruler was completely under the influence of the drug, Ramchandra leaped to his feet, and his face underwent a remarkable metamorphosis. He struck a match and lit a small silver lamp upon the table, then turned to Paul.

"The first part of our task is accomplished," he said briskly. "Now, my friends, we have no time to lose. In a few moments the immediate effects of the drug will wear off. It will be your task to instill into our sovereign's empty—unusually empty—mind the understanding of what his duty is tomorrow. Address him in a peremptory fashion as you please and have no fear; though he will seem though these figures were those in a moving picture show. And in all this there was no atom of unreality, save that he felt constrained and as if gagged. He was impotent among these crowds, a passive spectator, unable to move or stir.

He was one of the procession now and following among the long line of watchers. A company of soldiers flashed into sight; white-turbaned Sikhs, with curled beards, spottedly clad, holding their rifles suddenly to the attention as a mounted general rode past. He bore some message, evidently, for a thrill seemed to pass through the crowd, and then—then, the king and queen, followed by a whole coterie of attendants, King George and Queen Mary passed in their carriage, waving and deafening acclamations rent the air.

"Darkness!" The scene had changed. As in the picture show, when a new film passes before the rays, so this new scene flashed into clear precision before Paul's eyes. He was seated, as he had arranged to sit, upon the top-most tier of the great amphitheater of wooden benches that rose from the ground opposite the pavilion in which the coronation was to occur. Around him were thousands upon thousands, all waiting in deep silence for the final act of the great ceremony. The king was on the throne, and the queen, and they awaited the approach of the feudal princes to pledge their loyalty. And slowly the dusty carpeted road which led to the royal dais there came, one by one, the feudal princelings, and one by one they bowed low before these rulers of alien race and, placing their hands upon their hearts, they vowed submission.

Suddenly Paul became aware that he held a handkerchief in his hand. His mind rushed back through a fog of bewildering dreams. What did this portent? This handkerchief—did it not mean that the astrologer had failed to utter an empire hang upon the fall of the throne? There, far under him, he saw the commander of the

Paul curiously. "Note them well, Mr. Lane, for this is, to all intent, a dress rehearsal of the ceremony."

Paul leaned back in his chair and stretched out his limbs luxuriously. All sense of strangeness had departed; he felt only a blissful ease, mingled with which was a sense of utter peace, as though all his fears and indecisions had yielded to the knowledge of some secret power within him which made success a certainty. He looked into the glass.

He saw the white city of tents, the gathering spectators. How real they appeared! He could even distinguish the expressions of amazed reverence and excitement as the elephants slowly lumbered past, each with its mahout, and each clothed in trappings of silk and gold, with silver tips upon its massive tusks. Through the long lanes of people they passed, followed by camels, then horsemen rode, white-turbaned, black of beard, very sedate and dignified. There were carriages of silver and artillery of the same metal, plated with gold. Dust rose into the air and the hot noonday sun cast shadows over the crystal ball, exactly as though Paul stood in the sun and watched among the spectators. And this, indeed, he might have done, for now he was no longer conscious of the room or of the astrologer and the secretary and the sleeping Jam; and the ball itself had expanded into a dome, as of the sky. The processions passed before his eyes, coming into perspective as Sikh troops, seated upon his horse at the head of his men. As he looked the face of the man projected itself clearly upon his perceptions. He was looking upward, straining his eyes to catch the flutter of white.

And all at once the voice of the astrologer seemed to break the silence.

"You must not drop that handkerchief," he croaked, "or the whole picture will fade away. Remember, this is nothing but a vision. The reality comes tomorrow."

Paul crumpled up the handkerchief and hid it in his shirt. Far beneath him he saw the Sikh officer look upward; he fancied that he detected an appearance of uneasiness on the part of the man. His horse reared, and, in checking it, he pulled the reins so taut that it was flung back on its haunches. Why was he attempting to attract Paul's attention?

A deep, indrawn exclamation answered the question. As every head turned forward and every heart beat hard, Paul, instinctively following the gaze of the crowd, perceived the Jam of Naghpur advance slowly in the turn toward the royal dais. Though chief of all the princes, he had been held almost to the last before being permitted to pledge his allegiance.

The minds of the rulers of the country in future, for the Jam's supposed anti-English proclivities. The people, perfectly aware of the meaning of this maneuver, watched him with bated breath. Upon his action depended the fate of the empire. Would he pledge himself or would he fling defiance into the faces of his English rulers?

The Jam advanced uneasily, evidently almost overcome by nervousness, and glancing as he advanced toward the Sikh officer, who, with his back turned to him as he sat his horse, could see nothing, but kept his gaze fixed steadfastly upon the top tier of the amphitheater.

Suddenly a sigh ran through the assembled multitudes. They quivered, as when quivers in a summer breeze. For with a gesture which might have been either of despair or self-immolation, the Jam had thrown himself into the dust before the dais and kissed the monarch's robe.

Suddenly, out of the crowd, a face, burned itself into Paul's heart like a live ember—a beautiful, imperious face, a woman's face, set sternly in unutterable contempt as the eyes met his.

It was the face of the beautiful unknown, whom he had so dramatically met in America and who had sent him upon his quest. She stared up at him from among the distinguished guests assembled under the royal canopy; and as he met those eyes Paul flung up his arms and cried:

And the moving picture quivered and vanished out of the crystal.

Paul opened his eyes.

It was evening and the sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The twilight quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. And everywhere tents were being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

Paul stumbled down the almost endless stairs toward the city street. His head ached and his limbs would hardly respond to the promptings of his will. When at last he reached the level of the street he noticed that his clothes were damp, as though after a rain, and that he was disheveled as a tramp.

Paul stood still, staring into the policeman's face. Then, thrusting his hands through his hair, he set off wildly toward his quarters. He saw all clearly now. His cup had been drugged as well as the Jam's. It was real, then, all that he had seen, and in his stupor he had attended the Durbar and sat in his appointed place, while the Sikh officer waited in vain for the signal that did not come. Ramchandra Sing had outwitted both his masters and pocketed their money.

But the face of the girl—had that been more than a dream? If she were in Delhi, how should he face her, how confess the reason for his mission's failure?

Disconsolately he flung himself upon his bed. All was lost, all had been hoped and dreamed and had been hoodwinked and he displayed his helplessness. He had lost wealth and honor, and his hopes of winning the one whom he prized more than all else in the world.

He looked down. There, far under him, he saw the commander of the

Paul opened his eyes.

It was evening and the sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The twilight quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. And everywhere tents were being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

Paul stumbled down the almost endless stairs toward the city street. His head ached and his limbs would hardly respond to the promptings of his will. When at last he reached the level of the street he noticed that his clothes were damp, as though after a rain, and that he was disheveled as a tramp.

Paul stood still, staring into the policeman's face. Then, thrusting his hands through his hair, he set off wildly toward his quarters. He saw all clearly now. His cup had been drugged as well as the Jam's. It was real, then, all that he had seen, and in his stupor he had attended the Durbar and sat in his appointed place, while the Sikh officer waited in vain for the signal that did not come. Ramchandra Sing had outwitted both his masters and pocketed their money.

But the face of the girl—had that been more than a dream? If she were in Delhi, how should he face her, how confess the reason for his mission's failure?

Disconsolately he flung himself upon his bed. All was lost, all had been hoped and dreamed and had been hoodwinked and he displayed his helplessness. He had lost wealth and honor, and his hopes of winning the one whom he prized more than all else in the world.

He looked down. There, far under him, he saw the commander of the

Paul opened his eyes.

It was evening and the sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The twilight quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. And everywhere tents were being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

Paul stumbled down the almost endless stairs toward the city street. His head ached and his limbs would hardly respond to the promptings of his will. When at last he reached the level of the street he noticed that his clothes were damp, as though after a rain, and that he was disheveled as a tramp.

Paul stood still, staring into the policeman's face. Then, thrusting his hands through his hair, he set off wildly toward his quarters. He saw all clearly now. His cup had been drugged as well as the Jam's. It was real, then, all that he had seen, and in his stupor he had attended the Durbar and sat in his appointed place, while the Sikh officer waited in vain for the signal that did not come. Ramchandra Sing had outwitted both his masters and pocketed their money.

But the face of the girl—had that been more than a dream? If she were in Delhi, how should he face her, how confess the reason for his mission's failure?

Disconsolately he flung himself upon his bed. All was lost, all had been hoped and dreamed and had been hoodwinked and he displayed his helplessness. He had lost wealth and honor, and his hopes of winning the one whom he prized more than all else in the world.

He looked down. There, far under him, he saw the commander of the

Paul opened his eyes.

It was evening and the sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The twilight quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. And everywhere tents were being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Appleton.—The city council voted to make a loan of $15,000, the first loan to be made this year.

Columbus.—George White has purchased the Parker farm of 120 acres for $15,000. Twenty-seven years ago the farm brought $40 an acre.

Cumberland.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Olsen celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Delavan.—A year ago Turtle creek marsh was knee deep in mud. A drainage canal was built and now the marsh of 3,200 acres is dry.

Fond du Lac.—After living five days with his throat cut, Thomas Shafer, a farmer, died in a hospital here.

Fond du Lac.—High pressure on the water system caused the boiler of the hot water heater at the Y. M. C. A. building to burst, entailing a damage of $75.

Fond du Lac.—D. C. Sargent of this city, secretary of a new hotel company, announces that his company will build a hotel at Escanaba, Mich., which will cost $132,000.

Fond du Lac.—The new St. Agnes hospital, extensively equipped by Archbishop G. Messmer, Milwaukee, assisted by the Catholic clergy of Fond du Lac.

Kaukauna.—The Holy Cross Catholic church was burned to the ground. It is believed the fire started from a defective wire. The loss is $30,000, with an insurance of $18,000.

Racine.—Tony Bruno, an Italian twenty-two years old, was run down and killed by a train on the Northwestern road, the body being cut in two.

Grand Rapids.—Miss Marjorie Kellogg, eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kellogg, was found dead in her room, death resulting from heart failure.

Viroqua.—Two deaths occurred in this county from the effects of the tornado three weeks ago. Mrs. John Williams passed away at Mount Sterling and Mrs. James Knutson at Pine Knob.

Appleton.—James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Borland, was saved from asphyxiation while asleep in a room in his home when the father broke in a door and carried the unconscious child from a gas-filled room.

Kenosha.—Mayor Dan O. Head ordered the legal department to prevent the practicing of "traveling doctors" in Kenosha. The common council passed a resolution refusing to license traveling medicine shows.

Oshkosh.—The barber shop of Edman & Rehben was robbed of between $40 and $50 and a quantity of cigars. Entrance was effected with keys. The porter, who could not be found after the robbery, is being sought.

Franklin du Chien.—George McCullough of Grand Rapids, Mich., a student at Keeywin school, was nearly drowned in the Mississippi, opposite the school, while duck hunting. As he fired a shot from his gun the canoe overturned.

Coudersville.—Black bears are more numerous in this section this year than for many years. George Ruegger of Radisson, near here, has killed three and Alexander Martin, an Indian, living near this place, has also succeeded in killing three.

Fond du Lac.—George F. Johnson, twenty-five years old, son of Chairman Thomas L. Johnson of the town of Ashford, died of lockjaw as the result of an injury received in a corn shredder on October 11, when four fingers were crushed.

Madison.—Two important pieces of legislation were passed by the new student conference at its first meeting. The first is the restoration of the old-time prom, with the house parties and elaborate outlay of money. The second was the forbidding of any freshman entering a saloon during his first year in Madison, and granting the power to upper classmen to kick them out if found there, and also to prosecute them before the student court.

Grand Rapids.—While undergoing treatment for severe indigestion at Waupaca, Mrs. William Arnold of Pittsville was taken with a vomiting spell and threw up a living lizard, seven inches long. Mrs. Arnold has been suffering from stomach trouble for several years and recently consulted her former family physician at Waupaca, who prescribed a course of treatment. He gave her an emetic and the woman was relieved of the lizard.

Madison.—The income tax from individuals in the state has increased over 17 per cent. The corporate tax will increase a like amount, according to the records of the state tax commission. These figures indicate that the last year has been one of unusual prosperity throughout the state. The figures of the commission show that individuals will pay a tax of $1,297,706.61, an increase of $188,999.59. A better understanding of the law, the commissioners say, is in large part responsible for the increased returns.

Madison.—The new "blue sky" law, aimed at fraudulent stock and bond sales, requires all banks in the state engaged in selling stocks or bonds to obtain a specific license, according to a circular letter just sent to the banks from the state railroad commission, which is charged with enforcing the law. The banks are also requested to report suspicious sales by unscrupulous agents.

Waukegan.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching blasting operations for the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group just at meal time, because one of their number had been discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Waukegan.—A broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching blasting operations for the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group just at meal time, because one of their number had been discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Waukegan.—A broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching blasting operations for the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group just at meal time, because one of their number had been discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Here is her own statement.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was nervous. I could not sleep, then I would be tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my usual work. I owe my good health to your medicine."

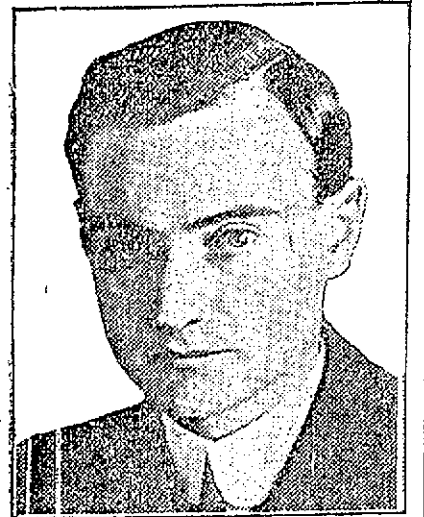

MITCHEL CHOSEN NEW YORK MAYOR

Fusionists Utterly Rout Forces
of Tammany Hall.

DEMOCRATS WIN MANY STATES

David L. Walsh Is Elected Governor
of Massachusetts by Large Margin—James F. Fielder Carries
New Jersey for Governor.

New York, Nov. 6.—John Purroy Mitchell was elected mayor of New York Tuesday, and Tammany hall suffered the most crushing defeat it has known in many years. Besides electing their candidate for mayor by more than 121,000 plurality, also were generally victorious in the county and borough elections, and the rule of Charles F. Murphy was put in great peril. It seems certain that a movement will be started, with national approval and encouragement, for the rebuilding of a new Democratic organization in New York city and state.

John Purroy Mitchell.

agent, for the rebuilding of a new Democratic organization in New York city and state.

To add to Murphy's plight, returns from upstate showed that the next assembly will be Republican by a majority of 30 over both Democrats and Progressives.

Sulzer Is Elected.

One of the spectacular features of the state election was the triumph of former Governor Sulzer, who, running on the Progressive ticket in the sixth district, was sent back to Albany to sit in the assembly which impeached him.

George McAnoy was elected president of the board of aldermen, and the prospect of becoming mayor should anything happen to take Mr. Mitchell away. He won by 50,000 plurality over Joseph A. Goulden, Tammany's candidate.

William A. Prondorf was elected controller over Herman A. Metz by about 25,000, due undoubtedly to the attack directed especially against his candidacy.

Marcius M. Marks was chosen borough president of Manhattan over Dr. Thomas Dillingham (Tammany) by 14,000. Tammany even lost its county ticket in New York county. It had lost the board of aldermen.

Fusion candidates will fill all the chairs in the important board of estimate meetings except that of Queens, where Borough President Connolly, Independent Democrat, whom fusion did not endorse, was elected. Nobody, however, expects Tammany to get any benefit from its vote.

In Other New York Cities.

Schenectady ousted her Socialist mayor, George R. Lunn; and elected J. Toller Schoolcraft, Citizens' candidate.

The Progressives gained their most striking victory in Syracuse. Louis Wilf, their candidate, defeated James B. Egan, Democrat, and Eugene J. Mack, Republican, in a race so close that only a few hundred votes separated all three candidates. Jointstown also elected a Progressive mayor by a plurality of 11 votes.

Other upstate municipal elections resulted in the victory of the following candidates for mayor:

Albany—Joseph G. Stevens (Rep.).

Buffalo—Louis P. Fuhrman (Dem.).

Utica—James Smith (Dem.).

Troy—Cornelius F. Burns (Dem.).

Poughkeepsie—Daniel W. Wilbur (Rep.).

Rochester—Hiram R. Egerton (Rep.).

Auburn—Charles W. Brister (Rep. and Prog.).

Amsterdam—James N. Gino (Rep. and Prog.).

Rome—H. C. Midlam (Dem.).

Watertown—Isaac R. Breen (Rep.).

Elmira—Harry N. Hoffman (Fus.).

Massachusetts Democratic.

Boston, Nov. 6.—In what can be no better described than a landslide David L. Walsh, Democrat, was elected governor of Massachusetts Tuesday. His plurality was 57,515. Boston gave him a plurality of 23,000, a record never beaten by a gubernatorial candidate.

Edward P. Barry, Democrat, was elected lieutenant governor by about 20,000, and the result is hardly less surprising than Walsh's great plurality, for the election of Augustus G. Thayer, Republican, to the second place had been conceded by even the Democrats.

The contest between Charles S. Bird, Progressive, and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, Republican, Nonconforming Coat.

Belling an iron or steel article in a set of water, to which has been added four ounces of phosphoric acid and an ounce of iron filings, will give it a black, nonconforming coating.

Shoots Light.

For frightening burglars there has been invented a flashlight that resembles a magazine pistol, but which shoots a ray of light when the trigger is pulled.

Sauerkraut Machinery.

A French factory for the encouragement of national industries recently awarded a gold medal to a farmer who established a sauerkraut factory in which all the machinery was electrically driven.

Training Plants.

To overcome the tendency of plants to grow in the direction of a light, a Philadelphia laboratory uses a revolving table to expose all sides of plants to the sun the same length of time.

which has developed nation-wide interest because it was the only really good fight between Progressives and the old guard anywhere in the country went in favor of the followers of Roosevelt.

The joke of the campaign proves to have been Governor Foss, running as an Independent.

Calvin D. Paige of South Bridge, Republican, was chosen to succeed the late William H. Wilder, Republican, in the special election in the third congressional district.

New Jersey Elects Fielder.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Fielder, Democratic candidate for governor, was elected Tuesday by a vote of 25,000 plurality.

Apparently nothing was left undone by the leaders to hold the Fielder vote in check, for all sorts of concessions to the Republicans were made, according to rumors flying about Newark, especially in the strong organization wards. Stokes received the bulk of flopped Democratic votes, a small percentage going to Everett Colby, Progressive, the third candidate for the post in the field.

James F. Fielder became acting governor when President Wilson retired from the office to go to Washington. He was the declared choice of President Wilson for nomination by the Democratic party, and Secretary Bryan and other notables took part in the campaign in his behalf.

Blair Lee Maryland Senator.

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Blair Lee, Democrat, was elected to the United States senate Tuesday to succeed William F. Jackson, Republican, appointed by Governor Goldsborough to fill the unexpired term of the late leader.

Blair Lee, Democrat, was elected to the house of representatives from the Third district to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Koenig, Democrat.

The Democrats were victorious all along the line, electing Emerson C. Harrington state comptroller and Caleb C. Magruder clerk of the court of appeals.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

Stuart Governor of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The entire state Democratic ticket, headed by Henry Carter Stuart for governor, was elected Tuesday without Republican opposition.

Many Towns Go "Dry."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—With the aid of women's votes, which for the first time figured in local option elections in Illinois, the "drys" Tuesday won sweeping victories in downstate cities and villages.

Twelve towns which now have saloons were captured by the "drys." In ten other places which already were "dry" the anti-saloon forces routed the "wets."

The "wets" won in only five towns, all of which already have saloons.

Results in Ohio.

Returns from the elections in various cities of Ohio show the following results:

In Cincinnati Frederick S. Spiegel (Rep.) was elected mayor over Henry T. Hunt (Dem.), incumbent, by about 3,000 plurality. Cleveland re-elected

The League of Lost Causes

Being the Romantic Adventures of Paul Lane, American Millionaire

The Misplaced Dream

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

AUL LANE stood on the heights above Delhi, looking down upon a city of tents.

The ancient capital of the Moguls stretched away beneath him, mile after mile of mean and squalid buildings, relieved here and there by the splendid orb of temple or marble minaret. But it was not at the native city Paul looked; rather at the mushroom town which had sprung up overnight, with its acres of canvas and high scaffolding. King George and Queen Mary were to be crowned in their magnificent pavilion on the third morning, when all the feudatory chiefs of the sub-continent would present themselves before them to pledge their loyalty.

It was the first time that a reigning British sovereign had set foot within the boundaries of his Indian empire. And the cause of this long journey was known to every one. India was seething with dissatisfaction, so that it required the presence of the king-emperor to strike home into the imagination of the natives something of the power of the British.

When, glittering with gems and gold, the native princes bent before their majesties, the symbol of the act would impress all the myriads who would be watching from walls and towers and packing every road and footpath of the ancient capital.

Paul's mission had been suddenly determined on. The League of Lost Causes, as it was popularly termed, sitting at its headquarters, had resolved that England's prestige must be shattered in the East, that out of her difficulties, something might be gained. The league spun webs within which a stroke was planned but had some bearing upon its ultimate ends: the restoration of the monarchical ideal among the peoples and the overthrow of democracy. And England, as the leader of the democratic nations of Europe, was hated perhaps most bitterly by those who directed the league.

Jean Rosny, its secretary, had called on Paul in Paris and outlined the situation.

"Desperate as the chance appears," he said, "it requires only determination and self-confidence to effect our purpose. The British power is tottering, India will never willingly see a king from overseas crowned in the sacred capital of the Moguls. We have secured the adhesion of the most powerful of the feudatory princes—the Jam of Naghpur. He commands thirty millions of subjects—as many as the population of all Italy. The native troops look to him as their leader and will follow him. When he stands before King George and Queen Mary, then, instead of pledging his loyalty, he will address their native bodyguard, order them into arrest, and himself pluck the crown from the British sovereign's head and place it on his own. Delhi will acclaim him emperor, and all India will be ablaze with rebellion."

"Now, my dear Paul," Rosny had continued, "unfortunately the Jam, who alone can commit this action with the certainty of success, is vacillating. Educated at Oxford, he has something of an Englishman's loyalty to his emperor, or rather, let us say, he realizes the might of England's power. But the thought of dominion has dazzled him. He can be persuaded. You will go, then, to his palace at Delhi and communicate with him through his chief officer, Ramchandra Sing, our Indian representative. Together you will overcome the Jam's reluctance. And to prevent all possibility of failure I may tell you that, out of the millions which have been placed at the disposal of the league, we have devoted nearly $500,000 to this purpose."

"And now, Paul, I may speak upon a subject more to your heart than even this magnificent opportunity to overthrow the power of England in the East. I will speak as man to man and not as the league's western secretary. I am not blind to the perception of your ultimate desires; you love Mademoiselle, as we have agreed to term her—the mysterious, unknown woman who visited you in America and pledged you and your millions to our cause. You feel that we are playing with you—no, don't protest—utilizing your services and your millions without the intention to admit you into our councils. Rest assured that Mademoiselle has followed each effort of yours with interest and appreciation, and that, if you succeed in this endeavor, you shall at least learn her identity. That much I guarantee, and the rest shall come after."

This much Paul recalled as he looked down upon the Durbar city, with tents and pavilions and flying flags, topped-off masts for camels and elephants, and its circles of seats for the spectators. The Jam, clad in the robes of empire, was at last resolved to make his coup at the psychological moment. So much he had learned at an interview with Ramchandra Sing, a Sikh of high lineage, who, speaking in flawless English, dilated upon the possibilities of the scheme.

"Think of it, Mr. Lane," he said, as his eyes flashed, "a continent of three hundred million souls dominated by seventy thousand English troops! Why, we shall sweep them away as the wind sweeps the leaves from the trees. But first we need the man. And the Jam has determined to cast his all upon this throw."

Paul had an appointment at the Jam's palace for that afternoon. Much remained to be done. The disbursement of the immense sum of money which had been devoted to the enterprise lay in the hands of Ramchandra, but it was Lane's duty to supervise all to enjoy and wrangle over their booty. The shutter closed and the hand was withdrawn. How many secret lives were spent thus, in the women's quarters in the upper stories of these ill-smelling, unsanitary, secluded houses! It seemed a place of mysteries. Instinctively Paul's thoughts went back to the unknown woman who had drawn him from America to engage in this series of unprofitable adventures. Every fiber of his being thrilled at the thought of her. But he must not let his thoughts linger there. When his mission had been brought to a successful termination, then he would have earned the right to convert his oft-repeated request to Rosny into a command. Till then—

He followed the Hindoo into an apartment on the ground floor and stumbled into almost complete obscurity, except for the glow of a small brazier in one corner, in which incense was burning. Somebody came forward and grasped his hand. It was Ramchandra, and he led Paul to a large, ornate chair, beneath the small aperture high in the wall which served for a window. In the chair sat a fat man in a long cloak, now thrown open carelessly. This was the Jam of Naghpur, and beneath his outer garment Paul could see the brilliant uniform of his order, which his religion forbade him to cast aside when he left the enclosure of the palace. The Jam grunted and, paying Paul no further attention, fixed his gaze upon the brazier. And now, behind the tiny, details of the scheme. He was especially perplexed because it was impossible to witness a rehearsal of the Durbar, especially of the coronation ceremony. With one so vacillating as the Jam was known to be, there was always the fear that the psychological moment would be allowed to pass, that the Indian prince, overawed by the magnificence of the scene, would fail to strike, and that the latent hostility of the crowd toward England would be converted into a genuine enthusiasm for their foreign ruler.

His visit to the Jam did not prove productive of much confidence. The prince was a fat man, approaching middle life, and evidently more adapted to the enjoyment of his placid and protected sovereignty than to heroic measures. For a long time only generalities were discussed; each time that Paul approached the subject of his visit the Jam cast a terrified glance toward Ramchandra as though to beseech him to change the topic of conversation. At last Paul left in despair; he came to the conclusion that the prince did not mean to keep his part in the bargain and could not be trusted.

On the next morning, however, Paul received a visit from Ramchandra which materially altered the situation. "I had a talk last night with his highness," began the secretary in mellifluous English. "He wants to consult his astrologer before finally committing himself. You are to meet us there." He gave Paul an address in a little blind alley leading out of the Grand Bazaar. "As the astrologer has been amply bribed," he continued, smiling, "I do not doubt that he will consider the omens favorable."

"Now, Mr. Lane," he went on, "it is understood that at the moment when his highness approaches the dais to make his obeisance you, who will be watching from the top tier of seats immediately in front of the pavilion, will drop your handkerchief. The signal will be seen by the commander of the Sikhs and will indicate that all is in readiness. As his highness arrests the king and gives the commander will swiftly move his troops to encircle them, cutting off all access on the part of the natives. A revolt will break out, his highness will rule in Delhi, and English rule is shattered forever throughout India."

He stopped and looked craftily at Paul. "You are thinking, 'Suppose the prince changes his mind again at the last moment,'" he said. "Well—yes," admitted Paul. "Mr. Lane," said the secretary, in an apparent spontaneous outburst of confidence, "you have never fully trusted me in this affair. Now don't explain your position; a secretary to a prince somehow gets into the habit of reading his fellowmen fairly accurately. Well, sir, let me tell you that I, too, have a good deal at stake, for I would assuredly rather be the prime minister of an Indian empire than a mere secretary to a princeling. So I have taken a certain step to clinch the matter. I have seen the astrologer in private and have arranged that the prince's coffee shall be drugged when we three meet there tomorrow night, twelve hours before the Durbar begins."

"Drugged!" exclaimed Paul Lane. "But how can a drugged man play so important a part?" "You have heard of hashish?" asked Ramchandra Sing. "Assuredly."

"It is a very mysterious drug, especially when blended with certain other narcotics, the knowledge of which is confined to some of the Indian practitioners. For half an hour after swallowing it one feels no effects at all; after that, when given in certain quantities and combinations, it possesses the peculiar property of destroying the perception of time. For instance, to the man under hashish, a thousand years may pass, or seem to pass, in a moment, and conversely also. This is the way. The most important effect of the drugs which the astrologer is to administer is that one under their effects is able to go about his business apparently in full possession of his senses. Actually, he is an automaton. He is like one hypnotized; he obeys all orders unquestioningly. For the inhibition of the processes of ratiocination leaves the mind in a state to carry out the one idea which has been placed in it. You understand me? Good! Well, then, his highness the Jam, when under the influence of this drug, will be told exactly what he is to do and will set about to do it. He will conquer an empire in a dream and awake to find himself an emperor."

Skeptical as he was by nature, Paul was forced to admit to himself that the idea was not wholly impracticable. At any rate the apathy of the Jam had made desperate measures essential. The enthusiasm of the secretary seemed equal to his own; before he left he pronounced a malediction upon British rule and painted the prospects of a free India in such glowing terms that Paul's own ardor was again awakened. They parted with a warm hand-clasp and in the understanding that they were to meet on the following night at the astrologer's house.

Paul was admitted to the little two-story shanty by an evil-looking Hindoo, dressed in a dirty white loin cloth and turban of the same indeterminate hue. The street was empty, except for a couple of sacred asses, which chased each other along the house-tops and tapped impudently at the shuttered windows in appeal for food, secure in the knowledge of their immunity. A shutter was thrust open and a slim hand protruded holding a morsel, which one of the beasts snatched away, and the two made off leaping flame. Paul saw, with startling suddenness, the head and shoulders of a white-bearded old man emerge from the obscurity. It was the astrologer, whom, hidden as he was in the shadows, Paul had not at first seen. He was incredibly old, and his aspect was incredibly evil. In the deep furrows stamped into his face one might have read the story of a life given up to wickedness. Paul shuddered at the sight of the man, but could not turn his eyes from this hideous apparition.

Evidently there was more than incense in the bowl, for the smell of fragrant coffee now assailed Paul's nostrils, and the secretary, stepping toward the Jam, proffered him a tiny cup of the liquid. The prince grunted and began sipping noisily. The other cup Ramchandra handed to Paul; in the darkness Paul could make out a meaning look upon the secretary's face. The man's hand, too, shook as he handed it to him. Despite their understanding Paul seemed to sense treachery in the air. But there was nothing to be done now, nor any going back. He had trusted himself to Ramchandra and must follow the path on which he had entered. He tasted the coffee cautiously; there was no flavor or odor of any foreign drug, and hashish, he had understood, was intensely bitter. Smiling at his fears, he set the empty cup upon an inlaid table, and saw Ramchandra obsequiously take the other empty cup from the Jam. And now there remained nothing but to wait until the drug took effect on the unstable ruler.

Presently Paul's eyes became accustomed to the darkness. He saw the dim figure of the old astrologer clearly outlined now, and the Jam, seated motionless in his chair, and Ramchandra at his side. The prince's lethargy seemed to indicate that the drug was beginning to take effect on him. Presently the astrologer beckoned to the three men to draw up their chairs. They did so. Paul had expected that the old man would address them in his own language, of which he understood not a word; instead, he began speaking in excellent English, glancing at a glass crystal which he held in his hand. "The heavens are favorable," he began, in a low, croaking utterance. "Your project is already assured of success. Look into the crystal!" He addressed himself to the Jam, who mumbled lethargically. His secretary took the glass and placed it in his hand. It lay there for an instant and then crashed down to the floor, rolling, with uncanny precision, directly to the feet of the astrologer, and remaining there.

"Sir!" pleaded Ramchandra. "Will you deign to look into the crystal?" No answer came, except a stertorous snore. The Jam slept in his chair, his eyes wide open, his hands limp at his side. Satisfied that his ruler was completely under the influence of the drug, Ramchandra leaped to his feet and his face underwent a remarkable metamorphosis. He struck a match and lit a small silver lamp upon the table, then turned to Paul.

"The first part of our task is accomplished," he said briskly. "Now, my friends, we have no time to lose. In a few moments the immediate effects of the drug will wear off. It will be your task to instill into our sovereign's empty—unusually empty—mind the understanding of what his duty is tomorrow. Address him in as peremptory a fashion as you please and have no fear; though he will seem

Paul curiously. "Note them well, Mr. Lane, for this is, to all intent, a dress rehearsal of the ceremony." Paul leaned back in his chair and stretched out his limbs luxuriously. All sense of strangeness had departed; he felt only a blissful ease, mingled with which was a sense of utter peace, as though all his fears and indecisions had yielded to the knowledge of some secret power within him which made success a certainty. He looked into the glass.

He saw the white city of tents, the gathering spectators. How real they appeared! He could even distinguish the expressions of amazed reverence and excitement as the elephants slowly lumbered past, each with its mahout, and each clothed in trappings of silk and gold, with silver tips upon its massive tusks. Through the long lanes of people they passed, followed by camels; then horsemen rode, white-turbaned, black of beard, very sedate and dignified. There were carriages of silver and artillery of the same metal, plated with gold. Dust rose into the air and the hot noonday sun cast shadows over the crystal ball, exactly as though Paul stood in the sun and watched among the spectators. And this, indeed, he might have done, for now he was no longer conscious of the room or of the astrologer and the secretary and the sleep- ing Jam, and the ball itself had expanded into a dome, as of the sky. The processions passed before his eyes, coming into perspective as Sikh troops, seated upon his horse at the head of his men. As he looked the face of the man projected itself clearly upon his perceptions. He was looking upward, straining his eyes to catch the flutter of white.

All at once the voice of the astrologer seemed to break the silence. "You must not drop that handkerchief," he croaked, "or the whole picture will fade away. Remember, this is nothing but a vision. The reality comes tomorrow."

Paul crumpled up the handkerchief and hid it in his sleeve. Far beneath him still saw the Sikh officer look upward; he fancied that he detected an appearance of uneasiness on the part of the man. His horse reared, and, in checking it, he pulled the reins so taut that it was flung back on its haunches. Why was he attempting to attract Paul's attention?

A deep, indrawn exclamation answered the question. As every head craned forward and every heart beat hard Paul, instinctively following the gaze of the crowd, perceived the Jam of Naghpur advance slowly in his turn toward the royal dais. Though chief of all the princes, he had been permitted to the last before being allowed to pledge his allegiance; it was a subtle slight, devised by the minds of the rulers of the country in return for the Jam's supposed anti-English proclivities. The people, perfectly aware of the meaning of this maneuver, watched him with bated breath. Upon his action depended the fate of the empire. Would he pledge himself or would he fling defiance into the faces of his English rulers?

The Jam advanced uneasily, evidently almost overcome by nervousness, and glancing as he advanced toward the Sikh officer, who, with his back turned to him as he sat his horse, could see nothing, but kept his gaze fixed steadfastly upon the top tier of the amphitheater.

Suddenly a sign ran through the assembled multitudes. They quivered, and wheeled quivers in a summer breeze. For with a gesture which might have been either of despair or self-immolation, the Jam had thrown himself into the dust before the dais and kissed the monarch's robe.

Suddenly, out of the crowd, a face-borne itself into Paul's heart like a live ember—a beautiful, imperious face, a woman's face, set sternly in unutterable contempt as the eyes met his.

It was the face of the beautiful unknown, whom he had so dramatically met in America and who had sent him upon his quest. She stared up at him from among the distinguished guests assembled under the royal canopy; and as he met those eyes Paul flung up his arms and cried.

And the moving picture quivered and vanished out of the crystal. Paul opened his eyes.

It was evening and the sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The tamarisks quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. And everywhere tents were being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

Paul stumbled down the almost endless stairs toward the city street. His head ached and his limbs would hardly respond to the promptings of his will. When at last he reached the level of the street he noticed that his clothes were damp, as though after a rain, and that he was disheveled as a tramp.

A passing policeman eyed him suspiciously, and then, seeing that he appeared to be a gentleman, admonished him: "You'd better go home, my man. What are you doing here the day after the show, anyway? Where did you come from?"

"The show?" Paul cried. "The coronation? When is it to be?" The other laughed. "Yesterday," he said curtly. "Of course there may be another one in thirty years or so, but my advice to you is, go home!"

Paul stood still, staring into the policeman's face. Then, thrusting his hands through his hair, he set off wildly toward his quarters. He saw all clearly now. His cup had been drugged as well as the Jam's. It was real, then, all that he had seen, and in his stupor he had attended the Durbar and sat in his appointed place while the Sikh officer waited in vain for the signal that did not come. Ramchandra Sing had outwitted both his masters and pocketed their money.

But the face of the girl—had that been more than a dream? If she were in Delhi, how should he face her, how confess the reason for his mission's failure?

Disconsolately he flung himself upon his bed. All was lost, all that he had hoped and dreamed. He had been hoodwinked and had displayed his incapability. He had lost wealth and honor, and his hopes of winning the one whom he prized more than all else in the world.

Darkness! The scene had changed. As in the picture show, when a new film passes before the rays, so this new scene flashed into clear precision before Paul's eyes. He was seated, as he had arranged to sit, upon the top-most tier of the great amphitheater of wooden benches that rose from the ground opposite the pavilion in which the coronation was to occur. Around him were thousands upon thousands, all waiting in deep silence for the final act of the great ceremony. The king was crowned, with his consort, and they awaited the approach of the feudal princes to pledge their loyalty. And slowly up the dusty carpeted road which led to the royal dais came, one by one, the feudal princes, and one by one they bowed low before these rulers of alien race, and placing their hands upon their hearts, they vowed submission.

Suddenly Paul became aware that he held a handkerchief in his hand. His mind rushed back through a fog of bewildering dreams. What did this portend? This handkerchief—did it not an empire hang upon the fall of it? He looked down. There, far under him, he saw the commander of the Really a Waste of Time. The late Thomas B. Jeffrey, who built bicycles and automobiles, was a man of few words. One day he was on a railroad train when a traveling acquaintance called his attention to a big building in a town by which the train was passing.

"See that warehouse?" asked the traveler. "Well, ten years ago I could have bought that whole thing for $7,000 and now its worth twenty."

"Did you have the seven thousand?" "Oh, no!"

"Well, then," said Jeffrey, "I would not let it worry me."—Saturating Evening Post.

An Appreciative Orchestra. Rubinstein had promised the orchestra players a supper if one of his operas should prove a success. It was a dismal failure, and he went home sadly. Presently the doorbell rang and, behold, there were the players! In response to his looks of astonishment they exclaimed, "We liked your opera!"

After they returned to the school-room she asked questions regarding what they had seen. Among other things she asked: "If the man wanted the balloon to go up higher and the gas in the bag was not enough to take it up, what would he do?" A little youngster said, very seriously: "Why, he would put a quarter in the meter and get more gas."

When the balloon Philadelphia II. passed over the city recently the children in one of the public schools were at recess. A teacher who took advantage of the opportunity to give the children a practical lesson went out into the school yard, and calling the children together, gave a talk about balloons. Among other things she told them that what they saw coming down was sand, which they threw out to lighten the balloon so it would go up higher.

After they returned to the school-room she asked questions regarding what they had seen. Among other things she asked: "If the man wanted the balloon to go up higher and the gas in the bag was not enough to take it up, what would he do?" A little youngster said, very seriously: "Why, he would put a quarter in the meter and get more gas."

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group because they were discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Waukesha.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching bath operations at the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Appleton.—The city council voted to make a loan of $13,000, the first loan to be made this year.

Columbus.—George White has purchased the Parker farm of 120 acres for $15,000. Twenty-seven years ago the farm brought $40 an acre.

Cumberland.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Olden of this city celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Delavan.—A year ago Turtle creek marsh was dug deep in mud. A drainage canal was built and now the marsh of 3,200 acres is dry.

Fond du Lac.—After living five days with his throat cut, Thomas Shafer, a farmer, died in a hospital here.

Fond du Lac.—High pressure on the water system caused the boiler of the hot water heater at the Y. M. C. A. building to burst, entailing a damage of $75.

Fond du Lac.—D. C. Sargent of this city, secretary of a new hotel company, announces that his company will build a hotel at Escanaba, Mich., which will cost $132,000.

Fond du Lac.—The new St. Agnes hospital extension was dedicated by Archbishop S. G. Messner, Milwaukee, assisted by the Catholic clergy of Fond du Lac.

Kaushansa.—The Holy Cross Catholic church was burned to the ground. It is believed the fire started from a defective wire. The loss is $30,000, with an insurance of $18,000.

Racine.—Tony Bruno, an Italian twenty-two years old, was run down and killed by a train on the Northwestern road, the body being cut in two.

Grand Rapids.—Miss Marjorie Kellogg, eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kellogg, was found dead in her room, death resulting from heart failure.

Viroqua.—Two deaths occurred in this county from the effects of the tornado three weeks ago. Mrs. John Williams passed away at Mount Sterling and Mrs. James Knutson at Pine Knob.

Appleton.—James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Borland, was saved from asphyxiation while asleep in a room in his home when the father broke in a door and carried the unconscious child from a gas-filled room.

Kenosha.—Mayor Dan O. Head ordered the legal department to prevent the practicing of "traveling doctors" in Kenosha. The common council passed a resolution refusing to license traveling medicine shows.

Oshkosh.—The barber shop of Edmund & Rehbein was robbed of between $40 and $50 and a quantity of cigars. Entrance was effected with keys. The porter, who could not be found after the robbery, is being sought.

Prairie du Chien.—George McCallum of Grand Rapids, Mich., a student at Keewatin school, was nearly drowned in the Mississippi, opposite the school, while duck hunting. As he fired a shot from his gun the canoe overturned.

Concordia.—Black bears are more numerous in this section this year than for many years. George Ruegger of Radisson, near here, has killed three and Alexander Martin, an Indian, living near this place, has also succeeded in killing three.

Fond du Lac.—George F. Johnson, twenty-five years old, son of Chairman Thomas L. Johnson of the town of Ashford, died of lockjaw as the result of an injury received in a corn shredder on October 11, when four fingers were crushed.

Madison.—Two important pieces of legislation were passed by the new student conference at its first meeting. The first is the restoration of the old-time prom, with the house parties and elaborate outlay of money.

The second was the forbidding of any freshman entering a saloon during his first year in Madison, and granting the power to upper classmen to kick them out if found there, and also to prosecute them before the student court.

Grand Rapids.—While undergoing treatment for severe indigestion at Waupaca, Mrs. William Arnold of Pittsville was taken with a vomiting spell and threw up a living lizard, seven inches long. Mrs. Arnold has been suffering from stomach trouble for several years and recently consulted her former family physician at Waupaca, who prescribed a course of treatment. It gave her an emetic and the woman was relieved of the lizard.

Madison.—The income tax from individuals in the state has increased over 17 per cent. The corporation tax will increase a like amount, according to the records of the state tax commission. These figures indicate that the last year has been one of unusual prosperity throughout the state. The figures of the commission show that individuals will pay a tax of $1,297,706.61, an increase of $188,999.59. A better understanding of the law, the commissioners say, is in large part responsible for the increased return.

Madison.—The new "blue sky" law, aimed at fraudulent stock and bond sales, requires all banks in the state engaged in selling stocks or bonds to obtain a specific license, according to a circular letter just sent to the banks from the state railroad commission, which is charged with enforcing the law. The banks are also requested to report suspicious sales by unscrupulous agents.

Waukesha.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching bath operations at the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group because they were discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Waukesha.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an interurban car.

Marquette.—While watching bath operations at the basement of a new school, William Poyser, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyser, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—While engaged in target practice at Escanaba with several friends, Paul Heller, aged twenty-five, a barber, backed into the range of a gun in the hands of John Lobert and was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Heller's home was at Oconto.

Appleton.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group because they were discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Here is her own statement: "I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a nervous, straight-up-and-down feeling. My back ached, I had no appetite and was nervous. I could not sleep, and I was so tired morning that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SWANZ, Cary, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1912 by the addition of 100,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. The new settlers are going on farms in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English nobleman, says: "The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England. I have been almost to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they could so easily and certainly improve their position."

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessible a great number of homesteads. In districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

For illustrated literature and reduced railway rates, apply to Railway Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or GEO. A. HALL, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Couldn't Fool Mr. Martin

Alleged Fact of Natural History Altogether Too Much for Him to Believe.

The best people in Dark Hollow had just begun to sit up and take notice of the fact that along the Great White Way and in other large centers there was such a thing as the turkey trot. The Martin family, however, living on the far outskirts of the Hollow, had not heard of this peculiar and seductive motion.

"I see," said Mr. Martin, "by the Dark Hollow Weekly Struggle that a lot of chickens in Chicago are turkey trotting."

"Shucks!" said Mr. Martin, with ineffable disdain. "That's just another mistake in one of those bulletins that the dinged, crazy department of agriculture sends out. They're always trying to tell us farmers something that's absolutely contrary to nature."—Popular Magazine.

Suburban Degravity. Native—Yes, sir, he may be the richest man in town, but he does a lot to disturb the peace.

Visitor—Is he dissipated? Native—No, 'tain't that, but he practically supports the village brass band.

The Reason. "He says he never disputes with his wife."

"He must have a gentle disposition."

"I don't think it is that so much as the fact that he is a cripple and can't run."

Nice and Easy. "Is it hard to learn to swim?" asked the sweet young thing. "Dear me

Warnings! Hints! Reminders
on A Burning Subject!

OUR Coal Wagons

Traverse the High-Ways
and By-Ways of
Grand Rapids

No Street Too Good,
No Alley or Lane Too Poor
For Us To Navigate!

We Get There with the Best of COAL

BOSSERT COAL CO.

Phone 416 Residence 54

IN COMPOUNDING PRESCRIPTIONS

We use the utmost care to see that the physician's orders are carried out to the letter. We permit no substitution, no laxity as to quantities, even in the simplest medicines. Bring prescriptions here and enjoy the certainty that they will be correctly prepared.

SAM CHURCH

DEALER IN
Anaco Cameras, Camera Supplies, Stationery, Combs and Brushes, Toilet Soaps, Toilet Waters, Perfumes, Rubber Goods, Toilet Creams, School Supplies, Fine Candles, Books and Patent Medicines.

The Electric Lamp You Admire

so much in your friend's house may be duplicated here at a moderate expense. The pretty floor shades which so greatly attract you may even be executed by those among our electrical fixtures. Come and see. You are bound to strike something that will appeal to your taste.

Staub's Electric Shop
127 First St. N. East side

Kellner Coal Co.

Coal and Wood

Don't Forget US
when you need any thing in the line of fuel

Telephone 305

D. M. HUNTINGTON

AUTO GARAGE

All kinds of repair work done at reasonable prices.

Auto Supplies and Lubricating Oils

Auto Tires and Tubes
always in stock.

Gas Tanks in Stock.

Agency for the

Ford Automobile

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Mayor Joseph Cohen spent Sunday in Merrill on business.

C. S. Goldworthy of Vesper was in the city on Thursday looking after some business matters.

Miss Laura Polachek of Milwaukee is spending several weeks in this vicinity visiting friends at Port Edwards and in the town of Sigel.

Will Hurley and B. M. Hayes are spending the week in the vicinity of Boulder deer hunting.

Fred Duncan leaves this week for Goodnow where he will spend several days hunting with a party of friends.

Messrs. Jacob Lutz, Fred Miller and Frank Westfall of the town of Sigel departed on Monday for a week's deer hunt in the vicinity of Ekland.

Mrs. Frank Jagodzinski of New London is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hansen.

Mrs. D. J. Keane and Mrs. Harold Gregorson returned on Saturday to their home at Stanley after visiting friends in this city for several days.

Mrs. G. A. Blackwood, who has been a guest at the home of J. B. Brooks for some time past, left on Tuesday for Phillips, Minn.

Joe Corrivue of Green Bay stopped over in the city on Friday and Saturday to visit with his people here. The Tribune acknowledges a pleasant call.

Joseph Jagodzinski of Vesper was in the city on Monday attending to some business matters. While here he favored the Tribune with a pleasant call.

Andy Knutson of Babcock was in the city on Friday looking after some business matters and while here he favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Scott Snyder, who has been with the Natwick Electric Company for time past, has gone to Merrill where he will have charge of a five and ten cent store.

Mrs. George Anderson returned to her home at Milwaukee on Monday after a week's visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Podawitz.

Dr. W. M. Rutke is in Chicago this week in attendance at the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, which is in session in that city. The doctor will probably be absent about two weeks.

Geo. W. Brown of Pittsville and Henry Bibo of the town of Lincoln were in the city on Friday and Saturday looking after some business at the court house, they being members of the highway committee.

The largest apple tree in New York state is said to be one standing near the town of Wilson. It was planted in the year 1815. And it is on record that it once yielded thirty-three full barrels of apples in a season.

—Chiropractic affords you the opportunity to be well. If you're ill it brings you health. If you're well it keeps you so. Try Spinal Adjustments and get well. See P. T. Hoff, the Chiropractor. Offices over Daly's Drug Store.

Mrs. C. H. Bezan of Fond du Lac spent a couple of days in the city last week a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Voss. Mrs. Voss has been under the weather for several weeks past, but is considerably better at this writing.

Mrs. Paul Schwartz entertained a party of her friends on Thursday afternoon, the occasion being the anniversary of her birthday. A very pleasant time was had by the ladies and Mrs. Schwartz received a number of presents from her friends.

Jacob Grap of Milwaukee, who formerly worked at the cigar maker's trade here, spent Sunday in the city being on his way to the northern part of the state to hunt deer for a time. Mr. Grap is now engaged in the manufacture of cigars in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wood and Geo. N. Wood returned on Saturday from West Haden where P. J. had been receiving treatment for an ailment that had been bothering him for some time past. He came home feeling some better but is still slightly under the weather.

G. L. Schiller of the town of Wood was in the city on Friday and called at the Tribune office. Mr. Schiller reports that he has sold his farm in that town to a Mr. Bart of Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Schiller is looking about for another small farm and if he can find what he wants intends to remain in this locality.

The street car has been held up for half an hour or so several times during the past week owing to the fact that the electrical current was cut off by some work that was being done on the wires near the Consolidated plant. While it caused a certain amount of inconvenience, nobody was hurt.

Wauwata citizens have opened up a public rest room and nursery for small children where people from out of town can remain as long as they want to. The place will be fitted with rocking chairs, cradles and cradles, and light refreshments will be sold. It would seem as if an institution of this sort would be a good thing for any town.

A party consisting of Hugo Walters, O. Voelker, Jack Grap of Milwaukee, Joe Lambrecht of Hurley, Andrew Mosher of Trout Lake, and John Mosher, Fred Mosher, J. L. Fritz, and Charles A. Dixon of this city left on Monday for the northern part of the state where they will hunt deer for a few days.

P. L. Pout, who operated the Grand Theater in this city for a time, has gone to Red Wing, Minn. to open a theater. The Grand is looking a much needed rest and will probably continue to do so until some one with a few dollars and a desire for big business happens along, when the bright lights will probably shine again for a short time.

Pittsville Records—George W. Brown has received notice from the chairman of the county board of his appointment with A. E. Bennett as representative of Wood County to the 5th national congress concerning forestry and commerce which convenes at Washington, D. C., the 18th, 19th and 20th of the present month. It will make a delightful and instructive trip.

—Mrs. P. P. Daly expects another carload of pianos about the 20th of this month. They will be from the famous Cable company, and as this is about the time of year to begin to look up a Christmas present, it might be a good thing for anybody who has anything of this sort on their mind to go around and see Mrs. Daly about the matter. There is nothing nicer for a Christmas present than a piano, as it will please every member of the household. It will not cost a cent to investigate the matter. Terms and prices will be right.

The next annual meeting of the Central Wisconsin Teachers' Association will be held at Merrill.

The regular meeting of the Eastern Star will be held on Wednesday evening of this week. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Edward Young left last week for Rochester, Minn., to join her husband, who is engaged in installing an ice machine for the Grand Rapids Foundry Company in the Mayo Bros. hospital.

A. B. Sutor was in Milwaukee on Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Wisconsin State Democratic Press Association at the new Wisconsin Hotel. Mr. Sutor is secretary of the organization.

Joseph Mascha has sold his farm in the town of Rudolph to a party from Chicago who has taken possession of the place. Mascha and family have moved to Chicago, where they will make their future home.

—Don't forget that Mrs. Daly is to receive another carload of Pianos about the 20th of this month. You may be looking for something of the kind for a Christmas present, and if so you will know where to look.

Miss Mary McMillan, who is attending the University of Wisconsin, was home to spend Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McMillan. Miss McMillan puts in a part of her time teaching a classical mathematics at the University.

Up at Marshfield a bunch of human hair was taken from a woman's stomach during a surgical operation, and the medical men there are at a loss to know where the hair came from. Probably if they examined her husband's head some light would be thrown on the matter.

The Elks held a social at their hall last Friday evening at which there was a good time as usual. The entertainment committee has planned to hold a social gathering at the hall about every two weeks during the winter months, and some good times may be looked for.

Miss Mollie Stahl, who has been with the Johnson & Hill Company for several years past as saleslady, has resigned her position and at present is visiting friends at Wausau. Miss Stahl was one of the popular salesladies at the big store and will be missed by the patrons of that institution.

If you want to keep tabs on what your cows are doing, that is if you have any cows, you should remember that you can secure record sheets at the Tribune office that are made especially for this purpose. They do not cost very much and they are something that every dairyman should have.

The deer season opened in Wisconsin on Tuesday morning and the indications are that there will be about the usual number of hunters in the woods and consequently about the usual number of deer being shot. The grains passing thru here on Saturday, Sunday and Monday were fairly loaded with hunters bound for the north woods, and the only wonder is that the supply of deer hangs out as well as it does.

A. G. Felker, the Marshfield candidate for mayor, who is being sued for slander by District Attorney Beriere, has made a general denial of having made the statements which have been attributed to him. In the complaint Felker is charged with having made the statement that the district attorney had been brought off from prosecuting the Grail shooting case which was to have come up at the last term of the circuit court, but which was put over until the adjourned session of court.

—We want to say to our patrons and customers, there never was a better medicine made than Barker's for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh and Rheumatism. We can recommend it every time Johnson & Hill Co.

Prof. Schwede has turned over to the chief of police of this city the names of about forty youngsters in this city who are of school age but who have not been attending school. This is in accordance with the state law on the subject and it is the duty of the officers to look up the cases and if they do not have a pretty good reason for not attending school there will be some prosecutions. This same thing is being done in other places thruout the state and in many cases it is proving an expensive proposition for the persons parent or guardian, who are supposed to see to it that the youngsters attend school.

—Did you ever see the fog rise up from an old marsh or slough? We say to you now its actually nothing compared to the fog that rises up from sore, sweaty tired feet. But you can cure the feet with Barker's Antiseptic. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

Mayor Cohen has received word from the rate commission to the effect that they will take up the matter of the Grand Rapids Electric Light Company some time after the 20th of this month. They have heretofore been too busy to look into the matter. It is expected that the commission will investigate the company, thereby and set a price at which the city shall pay for the plant when it decides to take it over in accordance with the law held last spring. It seems that the commission is kept pretty busy in looking up and adjusting disputes and differences that crop up between the owners and patrons of public utility corporations in the state, and that there is always a large volume of work ahead of them.

—Please take your cutters and sleighs to the Anderson Carriage Works and have them put in proper condition for winter use.

The Tribune is in receipt of a booklet published by the Wisconsin Bureau of Immigration entitled "Making Good on New Soil" which is all about Wisconsin. It is profusely illustrated with views of farms in Wisconsin and would be a good thing for general distribution in the east and south where many people are figuring on moving to a newer country where land is cheap. There are many young men in the far corner states who would be glad to move to Wisconsin and take up a home on some of the land here if they knew how cheaply it could be done. Their only experience has been in states where the buying of 160 acres of land means the investment of a fairly good sized fortune, and they consider in a good many instances that Wisconsin is entirely out of the agriculture belt and not worth considering from an agricultural viewpoint. Could they see the pictures of the many magnificent farms in central and northern Wisconsin it would cause them to change their mind in a hurry.

—All marvelous and new things pass thru three stages. The first is curiosity, the second is adoption. Chiropractic has reached the third stage—it is being adopted all over the world. Results are satisfactory. Consult the Chiropractor over Daly's Drug Store.

WINTER FIRES IN SCHOOL AND CHURCH

During the last fiscal year 19 church fires were reported to this office with a total fire damage of $33,100, and the same number of school building fires with a total damage of $56,435.

In each case six fires, nearly one-third of the whole number, were due to heating plant, smoke pipe and chimney defects. The main defect reported in the majority of cases was faulty boilers, smoke pipes and stacks, heat carrying pipes and registers to unprotected woodwork.

All fires should be a safe distance from wood or the wood should be protected with metal over heavy asbestos. Metal alone is heated readily and may communicate fire to the woodwork underneath.

The management of the heating plant also constitutes a distinct danger in both classes of buildings. Often the janitor touches off a fire, furnace, opens the draft, closes the fire door and hurries out to do his other work. The furnace pipes and registers become overheated and ignite the woodwork. Another danger is the janitor's back draft that forces open the fire door and scatters the fire over wooden floors and partitions.

The public pays for the fuel and no economy of it is therefore usually practiced, and the whole heating plant and chimney are thus put to a much more severe test than in dwellings.

This again emphasizes the necessity of a particularly safe installation of heating plant and flues and a well-built lined chimney, to withstand this extraordinary strain.

No woodwork in the floors or elsewhere should come in contact with the chimney.

Shingle roofs are especially dangerous on school buildings. Quantities of paper are burned in stoves and furnaces, carried up the flues and then set fire to the dry, fuzzy, moss-covered shingles.

The placing of furnaces near stairways is another menace, as this enables the fire to spread rapidly to the upper floors, and is liable to cut off the best means of exit.

Because of the great danger to human life by reason of fire or resultant panic and stampede these defects are unpardonable in public buildings, and official neglect and indifference alone permits them to remain.

Let our fair state have no church or schoolhouse catastrophe.

CLEM F. HOST,
State Fire Marshal.

J. R. RAGAN

Licensed Embalmer and Undertaker
House phone No. 69, Store 313, Spafford Building, East Side, John Brner, Residence phone No. 435.

J. J. JEFFREY

LAWYER
Loans and Collections. Commercial and Probate Law. Office across from Church's drugstore. Telephone 251.

GOGGINS & BRAZEAU

ATTORNEYS AT LAW
Office in the MacKinnon Block on the West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Wood Block, over post office. Telephone No. 91. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

CHAS. C. ROWLEY, M. D.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Office specialty Osteopathy. 14 MacKinnon Block. Phones 160 and 466.

Grand Rapids Veterinary Hospital

Dr. V. P. Norton, Prop.
The only fully equipped veterinary hospital in the city, having all the latest and most modern appliances to serve our patrons. Telephone 633, Residence 161.

B. M. VAUGHAN

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Money Lended, Real Estate bought and sold. Wood Block, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

J. A. GAYNOR

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over the Postoffice on the East Side. Will practice in all courts. Telephone No. 142.

W. E. WHEELAN

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Daly Block, East Side. Telephone No. 243. Grand Rapids, Wis.

GEO. W. BAKER & SON

UNDERTAKERS AND LICENSED EMBALMERS
North Second Street, East Grand Rapids, Wis. Business Phone 401, Night Calls 402.

DR. EDWARD HOUGEN

Physician and Surgeon
Located in Wood County National Bank building. Office hours as usual. Office phone 318.

Imaginary Heart Trouble

Do you have pains in the region of the heart? Does your heart thump? Its terrible pounding greatly alarms you? What is wrong? Do you believe these symptoms mean heart trouble? Organic diseases of the heart very seldom occasion much pain, but are deadly and deadly. Nine-tenths of the pains supposed to be in the heart, are either in or caused by some derangement of the stomach. Often a dyspeptic imagines he has heart disease.

Meritol

FOR THE BEST HEALTH
TRADE MARK
Tonic Digestive is recommended especially for dyspepsia and indigestion, and for restoring the stomach to its normal functions and—no more "heart trouble."

JOHN E. DALY

Exclusive Meritol Agency.

Oct. 20. No. 10.
Order Limiting Time to Present Claims and Notice to Creditors.

State of Wisconsin, Wood County, in County Court.

In the Matter of the Last Will of Geo. W. Baker, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the last Will of Geo. W. Baker, late of the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, deceased, having been duly granted to Lizzie Baker and Geo. W. Baker, Jr., by this court.

IT IS ORDERED, That the time from the date hereof until and including the 1st day of November, 1914, be and the same is hereby fixed as the time within which all creditors of the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall present their claims for examination and allowance.

THIS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands of all persons against the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, be examined and adjusted before this Court at its Court Room in the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County, at the regular term thereof appointed to be held on the first Tuesday of May, 1915, and all creditors are hereby notified thereof.

That notice of the time and place at which said claims and demands will be examined and adjusted as aforesaid, and of the time aforesaid limited for said creditors to present their claims and demands, be given by publishing a copy of this order and notice, for four consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in the County of Wood, the first publication to be within fifteen days of the date hereof.

Dated this 28th day of October, 1914.

By the Court.

W. F. CONWAY, County Judge
C. O. Baker and R. M. Vaughan, Attorneys for said estate, Grand Rapids, Wis.

D. A. TEFERT

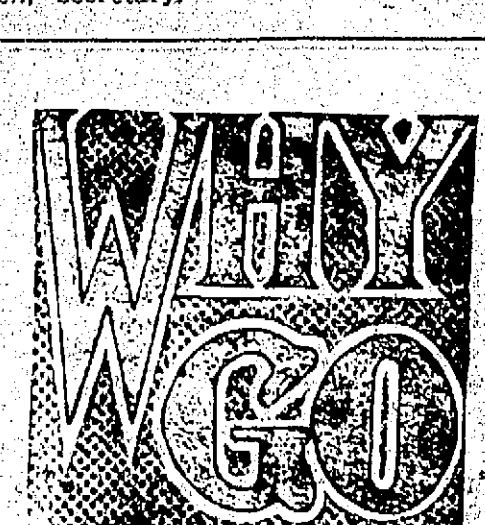

DENTIST
Office over Wood County National Bank on the East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 250.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Law, loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone 338.

EQUITABLE FRATERNAL UNION

Meets in Foresters Hall First and Third Thursdays of each month. R. A. Weeks, President; Wm. H. Burchell, secretary.

Through this life undermining your digestion eating heavy, soggy baked goods when by purchasing the Victoria Flour of your grocer you will always bake light, wholesome, nutritious, delicious bread, cakes and pastry? And, when the cost is no greater?

Say Victoria to the grocer next time and get the best flour.

Carload of New Pianos

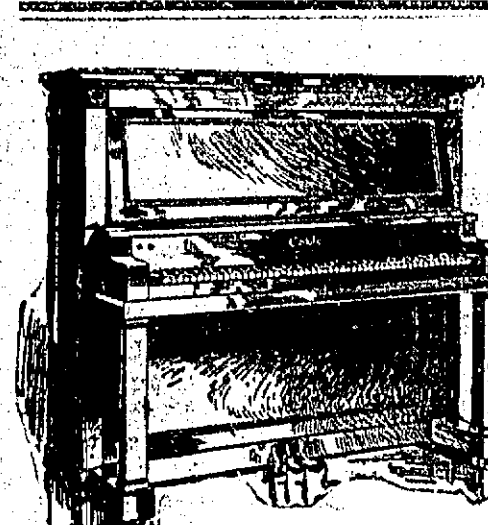

to arrive here about the 20th of this month, and that will be an excellent chance for you to pick out something that pleases you.

Come in and Let Us Show You.

MRS. F. P. DALY,
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

Christmas is Coming!

and it may be that you are figuring on making somebody a Christmas present of a piano. There is nothing nicer for the holidays than a present of this kind and it is none too early to commence looking the matter up. You cannot always decide just what you want in a minute, and there is nothing like having a good assortment to select from. We expect a

Carload of New Pianos

to arrive here about the 20th of this month, and that will be an excellent chance for you to pick out something that pleases you.

Come in and Let Us Show You.

MRS. F. P. DALY,
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

STEINBERG'S

Season's Greatest SALE!

Coats, Millinery, Dry Goods, Underwear, Men's and Boys' Furnishings, Shoes and Rubbers

Commences Saturday, Nov. 8th, and Ends Nov. 18th

This sale is the greatest money saving event which we have ever given the public. Steinberg's sales are always money savers, but this time we have outdone all our previous efforts, and are giving merchandise of value at prices undreamed of before.

See Bills for Prices

Our First Fall Sale

Lets Get Acquainted! We realize it will cost us something, but we are willing to lose our profit to do so. We therefore offer our entire stock at a Sacrifice

VERY SPECIAL—25c Boston or Paris 19c VERY SPECIAL—Wool Socks worth 25c, during this sale 2 for... 25c

Sale Now On, and Ends Nov. 26th.

Our entire stock of $10, $15 and $20 men's and young men's Suits and Overcoats going at the following prices:

All $10.00 Suits and Overcoats at $8.88
All $15.00 Suits and Overcoats at $12.22
All $20.00 Suits and Overcoats at $16.66
(This does not include blue or black serges)

SHIRTS

All 50c Shirts..... 43c
All $1.00 Shirts..... 89c
All $1.50 Shirts..... $1.29

SWEATERS

All $1.50 Sweaters..... $1.29
All $4.00 Sweaters..... $2.89
All $8.00 Sweaters..... $5.59
$2.50 Jersey Sweaters at..... $1.89

TROUSERS

We bought a lot of mill end Trousers regular $4.00 to $5.00 values which we will sell as long as they last at..... $3.29

Special on Hats and Caps

All our $2.50 Hats at..... $1.49
All our $2.00 Hats at..... $1.98
All our $1.00 Caps at..... 89c
All our $1.50 Caps at..... $1.19

Children's Department

All boys' $4.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $2.48
All boys' $5.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $3.89
All boys' $6.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $4.89
All boys' $8.50 Suits and Overcoats at..... $6.89

Brauer Bros. Clothes Shop,

Second Street South

Grand Rapids, Wis.

The League of Lost Causes

By H. M. EGBERT Being the Romantic Adventures of Paul Lane, American Millionaire

The Misplaced Dream

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Chapman.)

AUL LANE stood on the heights above Delhi, looking down upon a city of tents. The ancient capital of the Moguls stretched away beneath him, mile after mile of mean and squalid buildings, relieved here and there by the splendid orb of temple or marble minaret. But it was not at the native city Paul looked; rather at a mushroom town which had sprung up almost overnight, with its acres of canvas and high scaffolding. King George and Queen Mary were to be crowned in their magnificent pavilion on the third morning, when all the feudatory chiefs of the sub-continent would present themselves before them to pledge their loyalty.

It was this fact alone that a reigning British sovereign had set foot within the boundaries of his Indian empire. And the cause of this long journey was known to every one. India was seething with dissatisfaction, so that it required the presence of the king-emperor to strike home into the imagination of the British swayed.

Whom, glittering with gems and gold, the native princes bent before their majesties, the symbol of the act would be watching from walls and towers and packing every road and footpath of the native capital. Paul's mission had been suddenly determined on. The League of Lost Causes, as it was popularly termed, sitting at its headquarters, had resolved that England's prestige must be shattered in the East, that out of her difficulties, something might be gained. The league spun webs within webs; no stroke was planned but had some bearing upon its ultimate ends: the restoration of the monarchical ideal among the peoples and the overthrow of democracy. And England, as the leader of the democratic nations of Europe, was hated perhaps more bitterly by those who directed the league.

Jean Rosny, its secretary, had called on Paul in Paris and outlined the situation.

"Desperate as the chance appears," he said, "it requires only determination and self-confidence to effect our purpose. The British power is tottering; India will never willingly see a king from overseas crowned in the sacred capital of the Moguls. We have secured the adhesion of the most powerful of the feudatory princes—the Jam of Nagshpur. He commands thirty millions of subjects—as many as the population of all Italy. The native troops look to him as their leader and will follow him."

Paul's mission had been suddenly determined on. The League of Lost Causes, as it was popularly termed, sitting at its headquarters, had resolved that England's prestige must be shattered in the East, that out of her difficulties, something might be gained. The league spun webs within webs; no stroke was planned but had some bearing upon its ultimate ends: the restoration of the monarchical ideal among the peoples and the overthrow of democracy. And England, as the leader of the democratic nations of Europe, was hated perhaps more bitterly by those who directed the league.

"Now, my dear Paul," Rosny had continued, "unfortunately the Jam, who alone can commit this action with the certainty of success, is vacillating. Educated at Oxford, he has something of an Englishman's loyalty to his emperor, or rather, let us say, he realizes the might of English power. But the thought of dominion has dazzled him. He can be persuaded. You will go, then, to his palace at Delhi and communicate with him through his chief officer, Ramchandra Sing, our Indian representative. Together you will overcome the Jam's reluctance. And to prevent the possibility of failure I may tell you that only of the millions which you have placed at the disposal of the league, we have devoted nearly $500,000 to this purpose."

"And now, Paul, I may speak upon a subject more to your heart than even this magnificent opportunity to overthrow the power of England in the East. I will speak as man to man. I am not blind to the perception of your ultimate desires; you love Mademoiselle, as we have agreed to term her—the mysterious, unknown woman who visited you in America and pledged you and your nation to our cause. You feel that she is playing with you—don't you?—protest—utilizing your services and your millions without the intention to admit you into our councils. Rest assured that Mademoiselle has followed each of your moves with interest and appreciation, and that, if you succeed in this endeavor, you shall at least learn her identity. That much I guarantee, and the rest shall come after."

This much Paul recalled as he looked down upon the Durbar city, with tents and pavilions and flying flags, roped-off courses for camels and elephants, and its acres of canvas in the robes of empire, was at last resolved to make his coup at the psychological moment. So much he had learned at an interview with Ramchandra Sing, a Sikh of high lineage, who, speaking in flawless English, dilated upon the possibilities of the scheme.

"Think of it, Mr. Lane," he said, as his eyes flashed, "a continent of three hundred million souls dominated by seventy thousand English troops! Why, we shall sweep them away as the wind sweeps the threshing floor. But first we must make the man. And the Jam has determined to cast his all upon this throw."

Paul had an appointment at the Jam's palace for that afternoon. Much remained to be done. The disbursement of the immense sum of money which had been devoted to the enterprise lay in the hands of Ramchandra, but it was Lane's duty to supervise all to enjoy and wrangle over their booty. The shutter closed and the hand was withdrawn. How many secret lives were spent thus, in the women's quarters in the upper stories of these ill-smelling, unsanitary, secluded houses! It seemed a place of mysteries. Instinctively Paul's thoughts went back to the unknown woman who had drawn him from America to engage in this series of unprofitable adventures. Every fiber of his being thrilled at the thought of her. But he must not let his thoughts linger there. When his mission had been brought to a successful termination, then he would have earned the right to convert his oft-repeated request to Rosny into a command. Till then—

He followed the Hindoo into an apartment on the ground floor and stumbled into almost complete obscurity, except for the glow of a small brazier in one corner, in which incense was burning. Somebody came forward and grasped his hand. It was Ramchandra, and he led Paul to a large, ornate chair, beneath the small aperture high in the wall which served for a window. In the chair sat a fat man in a long cloak, now thrown open carelessly. This was the Jam of Nagshpur, and beneath his outer garment Paul could see the brilliant uniform of his order, which his religion forbade him to cast aside when he left the enclosure of the palace. The Jam grunted and, paying Paul no further attention, fixed his gaze upon the brazier. And now, behind the tiny, stood not a word; instead, he began speaking in excellent English, glancing at a glass crystal which he held in his hand. "The heavens are favorable," he began, in a low, croaking, "insane" voice. "Your project is already assured of success. Look into the crystal!" He addressed himself to the Jam, who mumbled lethargically. His secretary took the glass and placed it in his hand. It lay there for an instant and then crashed down to the floor, rolling, with uncanny precision, directly to the feet of the astrologer, and remaining there.

"Sir!" pleaded Ramchandra. "Will you deign to look into the crystal?" No answer came, except a stertorous snore. The Jam slept in his chair, his eyes wide open, his hands limp at his side. Satisfied that his ruler was completely unconscious, Paul stepped forward and Ramchandra leaped to his feet and his face underwent a remarkable metamorphosis. He struck a match and lit a small silver lamp upon the table, then turned to Paul.

"The first part of our task is accomplished," he said briskly. "Now, my friends, we have no time to lose. In a few moments the immediate effects of the drug will wear off. It will be your task to instill into our sovereign's empty—unusually empty—mind the understanding of what his duty is tomorrow. Address him in as peremptory a fashion as you please and have no fear; though he will seem

Paul curiously. "Note them well, Mr. Lane, for this, to all intent, a dress rehearsal of the ceremony." Paul leaned back in his chair and stretched on his ample luxuriously. All sense of strangeness had departed; he felt only a blissful ease, mingled with which was a sense of utter peace, as though all his fears and indecisions had yielded to the knowledge of some secret power within him which would secure a certainty. He looked into the glass.

He saw the white city of tents, the gathering spectators. How real they appeared! He could even distinguish the expressions of amazed reverence and excitement as the elephants slowly lumbered past, each with its mahout, and each clothed in trappings of silk and gold, with silver tips upon its massive tusks. Through the long lanes of people they passed, followed by camels; then horsemen rode, white-turbaned, black of beard, very sedate and dignified. There were carriages of silver and artillery of the same metal, plated with gold. Dust rose into the air and the hot noonday sun cast shadows over the crystal wall, exactly as though Paul stood in the sun and watched among the spectators. And this, indeed, he might have done, for now he was no longer conscious of the room or of the astrologer and the secretary and the sleeping Jam, and the ball itself had expanded into a dome, as of the sky. The processions passed before his eyes, coming into perspective as though these figures were those in a moving picture show. And in all this there was no atom of unreality, save that he felt constrained and as if gagged. He was impotent among these crowds, a passive spectator, unable to move or stir.

He was one of the procession now and following among the long line of attendants, a company of soldiers flashed into sight; white-turbaned Sikhs, with curled beards, spotlessly clad, holding their rifles suddenly to the attention as a mounted general rode past. He bore some message, evidently, for a thrill seemed to pass through the crowd, and then—then, in a cloud of dust, preceded by mounted attendants, King George and Queen Mary passed in their carriage, white deafening acclamations rent the air.

Darkness! The scene had changed. As in the picture show, when a new film passes before the rays, so this new scene flashed into clear precision before Paul's eyes. He was seated, as he had arranged to sit, upon the topmost tier of the great amphitheater of wooden benches that rose from the ground opposite the pavilion in which the coronation was to occur. Around him were thousands upon thousands, all waiting in deep silence for the final act of the great ceremony. The king was crowned, with his consort, and they awaited the approach of the feudal princes to pledge their loyalty. And slowly up the dusty carpet-decked road which led to the royal dais came, one by one, the feudal princes, lords, and one by one they bowed low before these rulers of alien race and, placing their hands upon their hearts, they swore submission.

Suddenly Paul became aware that he held a handkerchief in his hand. His mind rushed back through a fog of bewildering dreams. What did this portent? This handkerchief—did it not an empire hang upon the fall of it? He looked down. There, far under him, he saw the commander of the leaping flame. Paul saw, with startling suddenness, the head and shoulders of the man under whose a thousand of the obscurity. It was the astrologer, whom, hidden as he was in the shadows, Paul had not at first seen. He was incredibly old, and his aspect was incredibly evil. In the deep furrows stamped into his face one might find a series of dream visions floated before his eyes, and for all his efforts he could see nothing but the two eyes chasing each other along the house-tops and the slim hand that opened and closed the shutter. He heard the astrologer's voice from afar off.

"Our friend is somewhat worried," he said. "Perhaps, if I were to show you the events of the Durbar, as they will actually occur, photographed upon the crystal by the projective power of thought, he will be able to concentrate better." "A good idea!" exclaimed the secretary. "His highness, my beloved master, will not awake for a little while. And I believe," he added to the astrologer, "that you can show our friend a complete panorama of the Durbar, as it will appear, during the hundredth part of a second?"

"Time is not measured by moments," answered the astrologer sententiously, and stooped and picked up the crystal. He handed it to Ramchandra, who placed it in Paul's hand. Then, to Paul's utter astonishment, figures of men riding, camels and elephants, and white forest of tents. He uttered an exclamation of amazement, and the astrologer's soothing tones fell on his ear.

"Have no fear," said the old, crooning voice. "This is not magic, nor any device of the East. One day he was on a railroad, when a traveling acquaintance called his attention to a big building in a town by which the train was passing. 'See that warehouse?' asked the traveler. 'Well, ten years ago I could have bought that whole thing for $7,000 and now it's worth twenty.' 'Did you have the seven thousand?'"

"It is merely a series of mind images," said the secretary, watching vanished race. Some of the existing communities even possess traditions to the effect that their ancestors dwelt in the cliff homes. All these circumstances lead to the conjecture that the people of the cliffs had been conquered by a more warlike people, and that the modern Pueblos represented the amalgamation of the victors and the vanquished.

Salt Lake City has a municipal repair shop for its machinery.

Really a Waste of Time. The late Thomas B. Jeffrey, who built bicycles and automobiles, was a man of few words. One day he was on a railroad, when a traveling acquaintance called his attention to a big building in a town by which the train was passing.

"See that warehouse?" asked the traveler. "Well, ten years ago I could have bought that whole thing for $7,000 and now it's worth twenty." "Did you have the seven thousand?"

"Oh, no!"

"Well, then," said Jeffrey, "I wouldn't let it worry me."—Saurdine Evening Post.

An Appreciative Orchestra. Rubinstein had promised the orchestra players a supper if one of his operas should prove a success. In a dismal failure, the doorbell rang and, behold, there were the players! In response to his looks of astonishment they exclaimed, "We liked your opera!"

Sikh troops, seated upon his horse at the head of his men. As he looked the face of the man projected itself clearly upon his perceptions. He was looking upward, straining his eyes to catch the flutter of white.

All at once the voice of the astrologer seemed to break the silence. "You must not drop that handkerchief," he cried. "The whole picture will fade away. Remember, this is nothing but a vision. The reality comes tomorrow."

Paul crumpled up the handkerchief and hid it in his sleeve. Far beneath him he still saw the Sikh officer look upward; he fancied that he detected an appearance of uneasiness on the part of the man. His horse reared, and, in checking it, he pulled the reins so taut that it was flung back on its haunches. Why was he attempting to attract Paul's attention?

A deep, indrawn exclamation answered the question. As every head craned forward and every heart beat hard Paul, instinctively following the gaze of the crowd, perceived the Jam of Nagshpur advance slowly to his turn toward the royal dais. Though chief of all the princes, he had been held almost to the last before being permitted to pledge his allegiance; it was a subtle slight devised by the minds of the rulers of the country to return for the Jam's supposed failing. He bowed to the people, perfectly aware of the meaning of this maneuver, watched him with bated breath. Upon his action depended the fate of the empire. Would he pledge himself or would he fling defiance into the faces of his English rulers?

The Jam advanced uneasily, evidently almost overcome by nervousness, and glancing as he advanced toward the Sikh officer, who, with his back turned to him as he sat his horse, could see nothing, but kept his gaze fixed steadfastly upon the top tier of the amphitheater.

Suddenly a sigh ran through the assembled multitudes. They quivered, as wheat quivers in a summer breeze. For with a gesture which might have been either of despair or self-immolation, the Jam had thrown himself into the dust before the dais and kissed the monarch's robe.

Suddenly, out of the crowd, a face, burned itself into Paul's heart like a live ember—a beautiful, imperious face, a woman's face, set sternly in unutterable contempt as the eyes met his.

It was the face of the beautiful unknown, whom he had so dramatically met in America and who had sent him upon his quest. She stared up at him from among the distinguished guests assembled under the royal canopy; and as he met those eyes Paul flung up his arms and cried.

And the moving picture quivered and vanished out of the crystal.

Paul opened his eyes. The sun hung, a ball of fire, low down in the west. The tamarisks quivered in the evening breeze. Somewhere a nightingale was singing. The astrologer, the secretary, the sleeping prince were gone.

He was lying under a bench on the top tier of the deserted amphitheater. Opposite him was a bare stretch of ground, where formerly the royal tent had been. As though there were tents, being packed, wagons loaded, troops deploying over the ground. The city of tents was gone.

Paul stumbled down the almost endless stairs toward the city street. His head ached and his limbs would hardly respond to the promptings of his body. When at last he reached the level of the street he noticed that his clothes were damp, as though after a rain, and that he was disheveled as a tramp.

A passing policeman eyed him suspiciously, and then, seeing that he appeared to be a gentleman, admonished him to get home, my man. What are you doing here the day after the show, anyway? Where did you come from?

"The show?" Paul cried. "The coronation? When is it to be?" The other laughed. "Yesterday," he said curtly. "Of course there may be another one in thirty years or so, but my advice to you is, go home!"

Paul stood still, staring at the policeman's face. Then, trusting his hands through his hair, he set off wildly toward his quarters. He saw all clearly now. His cup had been drugged as well as the Jam's. It was real, then, all that he had seen, and in his stupor he had attended the Durbar and sat in his appointed place, while the Sikh officer had come, Ramchandra, and he had witnessed both his masters and pocketed their money.

But the face of the girl—had that been more than a dream? If she were in Delhi, how should he face her, how confess the reason for his mission's failure?

Disconsolately he flung himself upon his bed. All was lost, and he had hoped and dreamed. He had been hoodwinked and had displayed his incapability. He had lost wealth and honor, and his hopes of winning the one whom he prized more than all else in the world.

Madison.—Two important pieces of legislation were passed by the new student conference at the meeting. The first is the restoration of the old-time prom with the house parties and elaborate outlay of money. The second was the forbidding of any freshman entering a saloon during his first year in Madison, and granting the power to upper classmen to kick them out if found there, and also to prosecute them before the student court.

Grand Rapids.—While undergoing treatment for a severe indigestion at Waupaca, Mrs. William Arnold of Pittsville was taken with a vomiting spell and threw up a living lizard, seven inches long. Mrs. Arnold has been suffering from stomach trouble for several years and recently consulted her former family physician at Waupaca, who prescribed a course of treatment. He gave her an emetic and the woman was relieved of the fit.

Madison.—The income tax from individuals in the state has increased over 17 per cent. The corporation tax will increase a like amount, according to the report of the state tax commission. These figures indicate that the last year has been one of unusual prosperity throughout the state. The figures of the commission show that individuals will pay a tax of $1,297,706.61, an increase of $188,992.50. A better understanding of the law, the commission says, is a large part responsible for the increased return.

Madison.—The new "blue sky" law, aimed at fraudulent stock and bond sales, requires all banks in the state engaged in selling stocks or bonds to obtain a specific license, according to a circular letter just sent to the banks from the state tax commission. The law is charged with enforcing the law. The banks are also required to report suspicious sales by unscrupulous agents.

Waushesha.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an insurance car.

Marquette.—While watching blast operations for the basement of a new school, William Poyseur, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyseur, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group at meal time, because one of their number had been discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Appleton.—The city council voted to make a loan of $10,000, the first loan to be made this year.

Columbus.—George White has purchased the Parker farm of 120 acres for $15,000. Twenty-seven years ago the farm brought $40 an acre.

Cumberland.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Olden of this city celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Appleton.—The city council voted to make a loan of $10,000, the first loan to be made this year.

Columbus.—George White has purchased the Parker farm of 120 acres for $15,000. Twenty-seven years ago the farm brought $40 an acre.

Cumberland.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Olden of this city celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Delavan.—A year ago Turtle creek marsh was knee deep in mud. A drainage canal was built and now the marsh of 3,200 acres is dry.

Fond du Lac.—After living five days with his throat cut, Thomas Shafer, a farmer, died in a hospital here.

Fond du Lac.—High pressure on the water system caused the boiler of the hot water heater at the Y. M. C. building to burst, entailing a damage of $75.

Fond du Lac.—D. C. Sargent of this city, secretary of a new hotel company, announces that his company will build a hotel at Escanaba, Mich., which will cost $132,000.

Fond du Lac.—The new St. Agnes hospital extension was dedicated by Archbishop of Milwaukee, Mass., Milwaukee, Mass., by the Catholic clergy of Fond du Lac.

Kaukauna.—The Holy Cross Catholic church was burned to the ground. It is believed the fire started from a defective wire. The loss is $30,000, with an insurance of $18,000.

Kenosha.—Two deaths occurred in this county from the effects of the tornado three weeks ago. Mrs. John Williams passed away at Mount Sterling and Mrs. James Knutson at Pine Knob.

Appleton.—James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Borland, was saved from asphyxiation while asleep in a room in his home when the father broke in a door and carried the unconscious child from a gas-filled room.

Kenosha.—Mayor Dan O. Head ordered the legal department to prevent the practicing of "travelling doctors" in Kenosha. The common council passed a resolution refusing to issue traveling medicine shows.

Oshkosh.—The barber shop of Edman & Rehben was robbed of between $40 and $50 and a quantity of cigars. Entrance was effected with keys. The porter, who could not be found, was the robber, is being sought.

Marquette du Chien.—George McCallum of Grand Rapids, Mich., a student at Keewauqua school, was nearly drowned in the Mississippi, opposite the school, while duck hunting. As he fired a shot from his gun the canoe overturned.

Coudersport.—Black bears are more numerous in this section this year than for many years. George Ruegger of Radisson, near here, has killed three and Alexander Martin, an Indian, living near this place, has also succeeded in killing three.

Fond du Lac.—George F. Johnson, twenty-five years old, son of the late Thomas Johnson of the town of Ashford, died of lockjaw as the result of an injury received in a corn shredder on October 11, when four fingers were crushed.

Madison.—Two important pieces of legislation were passed by the new student conference at the meeting. The first is the restoration of the old-time prom with the house parties and elaborate outlay of money. The second was the forbidding of any freshman entering a saloon during his first year in Madison, and granting the power to upper classmen to kick them out if found there, and also to prosecute them before the student court.

Grand Rapids.—While undergoing treatment for a severe indigestion at Waupaca, Mrs. William Arnold of Pittsville was taken with a vomiting spell and threw up a living lizard, seven inches long. Mrs. Arnold has been suffering from stomach trouble for several years and recently consulted her former family physician at Waupaca, who prescribed a course of treatment. He gave her an emetic and the woman was relieved of the fit.

Madison.—The income tax from individuals in the state has increased over 17 per cent. The corporation tax will increase a like amount, according to the report of the state tax commission. These figures indicate that the last year has been one of unusual prosperity throughout the state. The figures of the commission show that individuals will pay a tax of $1,297,706.61, an increase of $188,992.50. A better understanding of the law, the commission says, is a large part responsible for the increased return.

Madison.—The new "blue sky" law, aimed at fraudulent stock and bond sales, requires all banks in the state engaged in selling stocks or bonds to obtain a specific license, according to a circular letter just sent to the banks from the state tax commission. The law is charged with enforcing the law. The banks are also required to report suspicious sales by unscrupulous agents.

Waushesha.—Alderman Orlo E. Daubner received a broken leg and several bad cuts about the face and body when his automobile collided head-on with an insurance car.

Marquette.—While watching blast operations for the basement of a new school, William Poyseur, twenty-one, Crystal Falls, Mich., son of Rev. W. S. Poyseur, general missionary for the Episcopal church in the Lake Superior diocese, was struck by a stone and killed.

Marquette.—Eight waitresses of the Sherman house here quit in a group at meal time, because one of their number had been discharged for refusal to do lunchroom work. The girls were employees of the Venetian room. Their places have been temporarily filled by Lawrence college boys.

Beloit.—Margaret Knight, the girl for whom the authorities searched for nearly a week, is insane and as soon as she recovers from the effects of her experience will be committed to the Rock county asylum, according to a statement here.

Appleton.—The city council voted to make a loan of $10,000, the first loan to be made this year.

Columbus.—George White has purchased the Parker farm of 120 acres for $15,000. Twenty-seven years ago the farm brought $40 an acre.

Cumberland.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Olden of this city celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Delavan.—A year ago Turtle creek marsh was knee deep in mud. A drainage canal was built and now the marsh of 3,200 acres is dry.

Fond du Lac.—After living five days with his throat cut, Thomas Shafer, a farmer, died in a hospital here.

Fond du Lac.—High pressure on the water system caused the boiler of the hot water heater at the Y. M. C. building to burst, entailing a damage of $75.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Here is her own statement. "I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I was in a terrible condition. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work for a day. I thought I never would be better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a day. I was so happy I always felt that I owe my good health to your medicine."

"—Mrs. HAYWARD BOWERS, Cary, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a doctor, and held in strict confidence.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada is increasing by the addition of 400,000 settlers a year from the United States and Europe.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Land in Western Canada is available for settlement. Write for free literature and map to Geo. A. Hall, 123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Grand Rapids Tribune
BY DRUMB & SUTOR.
Grand Rapids Wis., Nov. 12, 1913
Published on the Post Office at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, as Second Class Mail Matter.
Subscription Rates:
One Year, $1.50
Six Months, .75
Three Months, .40
Advertising Rates: For display matter, the rate of 15 cents per inch is charged. The rate for one insertion is 10 cents. For longer runs, special rates will be made. All local notices, cards of thanks, resolutions of respect, and all notices of a public nature, are charged at 5 cents per line.

NATIONAL EFFORT TO PROTECT GAME
A recent special article sent out from Washington, D. C., will be full of interest to local hunters. Following the proclamation of the President of the United States establishing regulations for the protection of migratory birds, the department of Agriculture has set in motion machinery to make these regulations effective in every state. November 1, the date set for the operation of these regulations, the department of Agriculture has set in motion machinery to make these regulations effective in every state. November 1, the date set for the operation of these regulations, the department of Agriculture has set in motion machinery to make these regulations effective in every state.

A FEW REMINDERS IN OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT
How is your supply of eatables for the winter, look up your stock at home, especially canned goods. We bought early and bought good goods cheap. We are in a position to save you money. LET US DO IT.
CANNED GOODS BARGAINS.
Pears, 3 lb. cans, these are fine at per can.9c
Plums, 3 lb. cans, put up in syrup per can.11c
Peaches, 3 lb. cans, a very good one, per can.15c
Corn, regular 10c grade, our price per can.7 1/2c
Peas, regular 12 1/2c grade, our price per can.9 1/2c
Beans, Wax, regular 12 1/2c grade, our price a can 9 1/2c
Beans, Baked, 3 lb cans a special, per can.8 1/2c
Tomatoes, large cans, full pack per can.9c
Kidney Beans, extra good.8 1/2c
Salmon, here is a snap, per can.8c
Per dozen cans.93c
Here you get good coffee at per lb.15c
100 lbs sugar.14.87
5 lbs. rolled oats.19c
5 lbs. whole Japan rice, regular 8c grade.29c
Table syrup, 10 lb. pails, called gallons.37c
Soda crackers, the best grade 3 lbs.20c
Grandma's Washing Powder, regular 5c pkg.3c
Remember our deal on sugar, 20 lbs for 69c with the purchase of $10.00 worth of other goods in our large department store.
JOHNSON & HILL COMPANY
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

HEALTH
It is a common mistake to think that all the things that are good for us are stupid and unpleasant to take. Some-thing of this bitter pill notion is be-hind most people's understanding of exercise. To the average individual, symmetrical apparatus, "constitutions" or walks for mere physical benefit, or as a means of occupying one's time as can be imagined, and the average individual's taste is ex-actly right for the average individual. Exercise which doesn't amuse, en-tertain, and hence give relaxation, doesn't as a rule do any good. It only adds to the duties from which the average individual needs a let-up. There is no universal exer-cise or set of exercises which will furnish a source of youth and per-petual life. Each individual should, however, seek some form of muscular activity in which he can revel, out of which he can get so much fun as to tempt a neglect of his serious business. Ob-viously, what will entertain one per-son will bore another exceedingly. The exercise may take the form of base ball, skating, golf, dancing, canoeing, tennis, coasting, etc., etc. There is some danger of over strain in competitive games and sports. If the contestant will stop as soon as he ceases to enjoy himself, however, he will be reasonably safe. The interesting thing about this conception of exercise is that it will do the physical laborer just as much good after a hard day's work as it will the man or woman who sits at a desk or machine all day. We serious minded Americans need more play, more physical play. We should play for the sake of the game and not for prizes, or just to win honors. We are too apt to hire professionals to play for us and exercise our voices more than our muscles. Not that be-ing a "fan" or "rooter" isn't whole-some. It is. It should not, however, be the end of sports and athletics. For the sake of his liver, heart, and nerves, every American should seek a form of physical play adapted to his own in-dividual tastes, strength and require-ments.

NEWS ITEMS FROM NEARBY PLACES
Drowned While Breaking Law.—At about three o'clock Friday afternoon Leon Glomski entered the office of County Judge Murat and stated that he wished to plead guilty to a self im-posed charge of having violated the fish and game laws of the state. His request was granted and a fine of $25 was imposed and paid. In explanation of his appearance in court at that time Glomski told the following story. Be-tween 5 and 6 o'clock that morning he and Leo Jerski were out on a small lake about two miles east of Nelson-ville, netting fish. They were in a boat and when hauling in the net Jerski fell head foremost into the lake and was drowned. The lake where the accident occurred is a small one, covering only a few acres, but the water is quite deep. The body of Jer-ski was not recovered until about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Jerski lived in the town of Stockton and was about thirty-two years old and leaves a wife and two children. Glomski, who is about thirty years old, also lives in Stockton. The latter knew be-cause of the fatality the fact that he had been violating the law could not be concealed and came up and com-plained against himself with the view of saving any costs that might be im-posed if he was formally arrested. —Stevens Point Journal.

A Family Reunion.—For the first time in twenty years the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong as-ssembled, on Saturday last, November 1, at the home of their son W. E. Arm-strong in this village and enjoyed one of the most remarkable family re-unions it has ever been their privi-lege to note. The event was first set for the Saturday previous, but owing to the fact that some of the relatives could not be present on that day, the happy affair was postponed one week. One of the interesting features of the occasion was the seating of the aged couple and the seven children at the same table, which must have given rise to sweet memories of the days when Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were bringing up this worthy family in childhood. The seven children were Mrs. Charles Waterman of Grand Rapids, Wis.; W. E. Armstrong of Neeshah; Mrs. Charles Sutton of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Elmer Hawkins and Mrs. Elbert Davis of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. George Riley of Denver, Colo.; and Mrs. William J. O'Brien of MIL-waukee.—Neeshah Republican.

Some Potatoes.—Although many of the fields on the Starkus Co. potato farm near Rhineland were injured by the blight last summer, says the News of that city, the company secured 25,000 bushels of fine potatoes from the 400 acres planted, and they will realize over $17,500 from them even at the present prices, thus paying the first year for the land and for all the ex-penses of clearing, planting and har-vesting these acres. At least 600 more acres will be planted on this big tract next year, and it is expected that from 150 to 200 bushels per acre will be se-cured.

Even as good a republican as our friend John White of the Marshfield Herald is getting tired of the bur-den judging from the following ex-cerpt from the product of his faber: "Another session or two of the leg-islator and we will have a commis-sion to tell us when to take a bath or maybe prescribe the duties an Amer-ican born citizen owes his teeth. An occasional commission perhaps is a mighty good thing but when they be-come thicker than sparrows, well to say the least, it seems to be crowding the mourners.

"Here is another that has just come to light in this city and it affects the plumber's bill you know you have done could exist without this necessary class of citizens. If you have ever paid a plumber's bill you know you have done so, inwardly believing that they omit-ting nothing in their itemized statement from Genesis to Revelations but just wait until the new plumbing law goes into effect which imposes a state li-cense on master plumbers of $10 a year for the first year and $5 a year annually thereafter, and if you don't find a reflection of it in your next plumbing bill we miss our guess. Jones will have to pay the freight, and thus another salaried commission is born to our lovely state.

SIGEL.
P. H. Kroll is laid up with a very sore eye. He is in the Doctor's care. John Newman is doing some mason work for J. C. Matthews this week. Chas. Matthews who is making her home at Marshfield spent Monday here. Louis Trossen from Marshfield put in a new furnace for his father-in-law last Monday. Little Miss Violet Kroll returned home Saturday after a week's visit at her Aunt's in Marshfield.

OAK RIDGE.
Mrs. M. Schillo was a Friendship shopper Monday. Miss Catherine and Eva Hansen spent Sunday at the R. K. Jensen home. Miss Maud Murray departed Sunday for Warren Scott's where she will remain during the winter. Mrs. Gladys Potts returned Sunday to resume her duties as teacher in Dis-trict number three. R. K. Jensen spent Thursday in in-specting the Adams county Poor Farm. Misses Flora and Alta Crothers spent Sunday at Peter Hennickson's. Prof. M. H. Jackson of Grand Rapids assisted Maybelle Douglas in conducting teachers' institute at Big Flats Saturday. Miss Lillian Jero spent Friday and Saturday with friends in Big Flats. Mrs. Ole Anderson and daughter Amelia were Sunday callers at Jen-sen's. Warren Scott passed this way Sun-day. The post office at Niebuil is now dis-closed. The party at Chris Peterson's was well attended and all report a fine time. Mrs. James Hansen and Milton Nel-son visited the latter's aunt Mrs. P. C. Peterson Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Murray were Friendship shoppers Tuesday. Carl Miller was a Hancock shopper Monday.

SARATOGA.
James Johnson arrived home from Alberta, Canada Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knutson arrived home from Kilbourn, Monday after spending a week with relatives there. Hattie Brown departed for Chi-cago Monday where she will spend the winter. James Johnson departed Monday for Illinois to visit his sister. Ora Johnson arrived from Kilbourn last week.

MEEHAN.
Miss Valeria Fox went to Plainfield Monday where she expects to stay for the winter. Miss Nettie Cushman who is employ-ed at Nekosia spent Sunday at home. Mrs. J. W. Pettis, who has been spending the last year or more in New York state returned home last week. Burton Fox, Arno Krohn and Clint Cushman are after the big game up near Birchwood. Those from here who attended the Sunday school gathering at Plover last week report a very pleasant and profitable time, and speak especially about the cordial welcome and friend-ly way the local workers used their guests. Cline Cradle of Stevens Point is hauling the products of his farm here to his home in the city. Harry Slack is looking after a busi-ness transaction up in Clark county having made a trip to the northern county recently. John Porter of McMillan was here last Thursday doing business for the Stockton town insurance company. His principle call was at Frank Winkler's to adjust the loss on his barn which was burned last week with all of his year's supply of hay and feed and also his silo. It was a heavy loss for Mr. Winkler although he had some insurance. The potato houses here are all filled to their utmost capacity as they are being delivered faster than the buyers can handle them. The price dropped last week from 50c to an average of 40c per bushel. Miss Dora Benson died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benson, who live near here, last week Wednesday night, Nov. 5, with inflammation of the bowels. She was sick only a short time although her failing health had been noticeable for a few weeks. She was born at the old home near here June 30, 1889 and was therefore 24 years of age. The funeral was held at the home Saturday, Nov. 8. Rev. Mellicke of Grand Rapids officiating. She was buried in the cemetery at Grand Rapids. She leaves her parents and eight brothers and sisters and a large number of near relatives and many friends to mourn her death. She spent the last 4 or 5 years of her life at Grand Rapids, being employed at the Cohen department store and at the time of her sickness was telephone operator. She was an estimable young lady and her sad death will cause much sorrow among a host of friends.

VESPER.
(From the State Courier.) The Vesper Wood Mfg. Co. this week placed an order for $35,000 worth of Oregon fir for next year. The local potato buyers are ship-ping out the tubers now on hand in anticipation of lower prices. Potatoes are retailing in Boston at 65c per bushel, with Canadian potatoes coming in duty free since the tariff was re-moved. It is also stated that potatoes can be bought in Ireland at current prices and delivered in the east at local prices. Altha Brown, an engineer on the Northwestern line with headquarters in Milwaukee, was here the last week and bought an 80-acre tract of land from Owen Oliver. He and his brother will occupy the land next fall. The land is located across the road from A. D. McVicar and The Enterprise Store Co. and both installing a large gas lighting system. G. H. Horn has one of these systems in use and it is giving excellent satisfaction. Mike Bogoser was up from the Rapids Monday on business.

The Wisconsin Democracy in a way has become disorganized by continual playing to one side or the other in the Republican factional fight; but there seems to be a belief among the rank and file of the voters that if a real Democratic campaign is made it will have strong support and with this foundation to build on it would seem as if a strong and effective Democratic party organization could be very soon built up in this state. Work on this organization should be begun at once, and that a great deal can be accom-plished for Democracy in this state if the organization should begin the com-ing winter.—Brown County Democrat.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.
In Circuit Court—Wood County. Sigmund Green, Plaintiff, vs. Joseph Stelmanski and Julia Stelmanski his wife, Defendants. By virtue of and pursuant to a Judgment of foreclosure and order of sale rendered in the above entitled action on the 22nd day of May A. D. 1912, and docketed on said day in the office of the Clerk of the Court, I, Sheriff of Wood County, Wiscon-sin, do hereby sell to the highest and best bidder at the front and north door of the court house in the city of Grand Rapids, Wood county, Wisconsin, on the 22nd day of December A. D. 1913 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all of the follow-ing described real estate directed by said Judgment to be sold to satisfy the amount adjudged to the plaintiff for principal, in-terest and costs, to-wit: The North Half of the North West quar-ter (1/4) of the NW 1/4 of Section No. Four (4) in Township No. Twenty-two (22), North Range No. Five (5) East, in the County of Wood and State of Wisconsin. Dated October 7th, 1913. A. J. CONWAY, Sheriff of Wood Co. Wis. W. J. Conway, Plaintiff's Attorney.

W. Melvin Ruckle, M. D.
—PRACTICE LIMITED TO—
EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT
Glasses fitted Correctly. Eye and Ear Surgeon, Riverview Hospital, Office in Wood County Bank Building. Tel-ephone No. 254.

A WARNING
Three things they say you can't safely do— fool with the tail of a cyclone, tickle the heels of a mule, or monkey with a gun that isn't supposed to be loaded. Permit us to add a fourth. You can't make much of a success of life without forming a saving habit. Just a little saved from your earnings each week or each month, carefully deposited with a good bank like ours, will amount to something at the end of the year. It may seem mighty slow at the start, but in time you will thank your lucky stars that you started. Right now is the time to begin—not next month.

Wood County National Bank
Grand Rapids, Wis.

Looking Through the Paper
When you look through this paper each week hereafter, we want you to make it a point to look for our ad. You'll always find it right here in the same place and each week a new, interesting, as well as instructive ad. will appear. We want to so thoroughly impress our business upon you that every time you think of "lumber" you just can't help thinking of us. We are going to convince you that you can buy lumber or build-ing material right here from us as cheap as you can anywhere on earth. If you want GOOD material, don't bite at the "sucker bait" appearing in some papers.

W. A. MARLING LUMBER CO.
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

NOTICE To Trappers!
BRING YOUR FURS TO Steinberg's Store
and receive the highest market prices for them.

WE KNOW OF NO Surer WAY For You to Experience Real Clothes Satisfaction
Than to entrust to Us the making of your next SUIT OR OVERCOAT
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
Yours truly,
LELOFF, The Tailor,
Maker of Guaranteed Clothes
Grand Ave., West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

DIMES MAKE DOLLARS!
An Ideal Pocket Savings Bank
You Have The Bank We Have The Key
Cut out, sign, send or present in person, the coupon below, and receive one of these handy little Dime Pocket Banks FREE.
CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK,
Grand Rapids, Wis.
I would like one of your IDEAL POCKET SAVINGS BANKS for dimes, which I agree to use for the purpose of starting and main-taining a savings account.
Name _____
Address _____
The Citizens National Bank
Capital and Surplus $110,000.00
A Bank for All the People

That's It, John!
That's the one they recommended as the Best
How pleased we are when we hear that remark and be-lieve me, it's quite frequent. We hear it about our Quick Meal Ranges, Garland and Favorite base burners, Round Oak and Cole's Hot Blast heaters. You can not afford to put a cheap range or stove in your house when the difference be-tween them and a good one, is so small. Come in now while the stock is complete. See what we have and get posted on stoves. It will cost you nothing. May do you worlds of good.

NASH HARDWARE CO.
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

Heard Two Good Cork Screw Yarns
but I'll have to tell you one at a time. A drummer rushed in to the smoking car on an over-land train and cried out: "Is there a gentleman in the car from Kentucky?" A clergy-man arose in his seat and said very gravely, "I am from the state of Kentucky, sir." "Then let me have the loan of your corkscrew," said the drummer. The parson drew himself up stiffly and nobody turned a wheel until the drummer added: "There's a lady in the next car wishes to open a bottle of milk." And then it seemed like every one in the car was from Kentucky. I'll tell you the other one the next time if the boss doesn't veto it. He always says, "When in doubt give yourself the benefit and then pass it on to the customers." There is no doubt of the purity and good conduct of any lumber or builders' supplies we hand you. The Govern-ment might adopt a pure lumber law but it wouldn't be needed here. You are as safe with us as though we were obliged to label every plank we sell. Come in soon. Ben-the-Booster, with KELLOGG BROS. LUMBER CO.

Think it over
I wish I had had my money in the Bank
Have you ever said to yourself: "If I only had A THOUSAND DOLLARS NOW?" Business chances are opening up and offering themselves to any of us and all of us very frequent-ly, and the man who gets the chance is THE MAN WHO HAS THE MONEY to take it. Start a bank account with us now. Be prepared for a chance.
Do YOUR banking with US. We pay 3 per cent interest compounded semi-annually.
Bank of Grand Rapids,
WEST SIDE

Grand Rapids Tribune
BY DRUMB & SUTOR.
Grand Rapids Wis., Nov. 12, 1913
Entered as the Post Office at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, as Second-Class Mail Matter.
Subscription Rates:
One Year, $1.50
Six Months, .75
Three Months, .40
Advertising Rates: For display matter a flat rate of 12 cents an inch is charged. The columns of the Tribune are 24 inches long, making a one column advertisement 24 inches long. Additional 10 cents per line for each line over 24 inches. All local notices, except of marriages, obituaries, and all notices of entertainment, are charged at 5 cents per line. Correspondents are requested to write on one side of the paper only, and to sign their names in communications. It does not matter if you write crosswise, since our printer enjoys, as it will not be published.

NATIONAL EFFORT TO PROTECT GAME

A recent special article sent out from Washington, D. C., will be full of interest to local hunters. Following the proclamation of the President of the United States establishing regulations for the protection of migratory birds, the department of Agriculture has set in motion efforts to make these regulations effective in every state on November 1, the date set for the operation of the proclamation. These regulations put under Federal protection for the first time, a large number of birds and thus places Federal restrictions on the five million hunters of the United States. In enforcing these regulations, Federal game commissioners and other State authorities are carrying out the provisions of the law and to prevent violations in the local enforcement of the regulations.

The States have been grouped into thirteen units or districts, each of which is under the supervision of a game warden. The work of organizing will probably be begun in the Middle States, the Northwest, and the Pacific Coast. The Department expects to have the assistance of the States as well as the public generally and sportsmen in particular who are interested in the success of the new law.

Among the birds protected by the regulations are the brant, wild duck, geese, swan, cranes of various species, rail, several kinds of shore birds, plover, bobolink, vesper sparrow, chickadee, flicker, flycatcher, grosbeak, hummingbird, kinglet, martin, meadow lark, night hawk, nuthatch, oriole, robin, shrike, swallow, swift, thrush, warbler, whippoorwill, woodpecker and wren.

The regulations for the enforcement of the law against the country into two zones known as the breeding and wintering zones. The former comprises twenty-five states lying wholly or in part north of latitude 40 degrees and the Ohio river, and the latter comprises twenty-three states and the District of Columbia lying wholly or in part south of latitude 40 degrees and the Ohio river.

A close season has been established on the cutbird, chickadee, grosbeak, hummingbird, martin, meadow lark, bullfinch, robin, swallow, thrush, whippoorwill and woodpecker. The regulations contain a prohibition against the hunting of the all migratory game, and insectivorous birds from sunset to sunrise.

A close season until September 1, 1914 is established on such migratory game birds as the sand-tailed pigeon, the little brown sandhill whooping crane, swan and curlew and on all shore birds except the black breasted and golden plover, Wilson or Jack snipe, woodcock, and yellowlegs.

A close season until the same date is also established on wood ducks in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kentucky, California, Oregon and Washington; on rails in California and Vermont; and on woodcock in Illinois and Missouri.

A close season has been likewise put in force on all migratory birds passing over or at rest on any of the waters, on the main streams, of the Mississippi River, between Minneapolis and Memphis and on the Mississippi river between Minneapolis and St. Louis. The killing or capture of any such birds on the shores or from any boat or floating object along these streams is prohibited.

The general open season for waterfowl in the Northern Zone is from September 1 to December 15 and in the Southern Zone from November 1 to January 15. Wisconsin has a close season from December 1 to September 1.

The open season for woodcock in the North is October and November, and in the South is November and December.

The season for shore birds is September 1 to December 15. Killing of shore birds is prohibited in Wisconsin from December 1 to September 1.

Dog's Vigil For His Master.

Did you read the story of the ranchman's dog out in Montana city who waited outside the bank one day for a master who never came out? For a master who was stricken with apoplexy, and was brought out on a stretcher, taken to a hospital and thence to his grave. To the dog it seemed he had never come out and day after day he waited at the door of the bank, scanning every person who passed, looking for his master. Years went by, but he did not give up until the other day, grown old and stiff, he was run over.

It is just one more story of animal devotion. Not of reasoning; a reasoning animal would not have waited thru the years, but of faith and loyalty so unswerving that they might well be an example for men in their friendships. This is the quality we find in the dog's affection and constancy, faithful despite mistreatment, he is the follower of the fortunes of his master, good or ill. Does not this one trait, found in our animal friend, merit better treatment than we often think needed? Has not this one dog earned the right to a fair show for all his race?

RECORD-SMASHING ENTRIES.

Entries vastly exceeding in number any list heretofore compiled indicate growing interest in the International Live Stock Exposition, which opens this year at Chicago, November 23rd to December 6th. No such list of exhibitors has ever before been prepared, nor for that matter have the live stock producers of the North American continent previously manifested such concern in the future of that industry. Every department of the exposition will be full; interest being manifested alike in horses, cattle, hogs and sheep.

The spectacular side of the exposition will be no less prominent as the practical. A series of evening attractions of unique character have been prepared and there will be no lack of entertainment to maintain the essential equilibrium. Equipose has always been a characteristic of the "International," and the management intends to attain the standard of perfection in every department on this occasion.

In interest in the draft horse, instead of waning is growing and the nightly horse fair will excel even the superb equine display of former years.

In swine and sheep the breeders of the United States and Canada promise to eclipse all previous efforts. Wisconsin and Ontario, as usual, will make a stellar display, and the Western grower will again demonstrate the merit of range product.

Current and threatened beef scarcity renders the fat cattle display in particular of interest this year. The beef industry is "coming back" will be effectively demonstrated, and feeders will be furnished with numerous object lessons on the subject of economy in production. In other words, the master feeders of the country will show and tell how they do it.

If you miss the 1913 International Live Stock Exposition you will be the loser.

Infirmities of Age.

"We'll go to see the new musical comedy tonight, Uncle Henry," says the nephew to his visitor. "What part of the theater would you rather sit in?" "Well, both," as I come away from home, and left my spectacles on the bureau, William, I expect, owing to my nearsightedness, I'd be best to get right in the front row so I can see what it's all about. I'm hard of hearing, too."

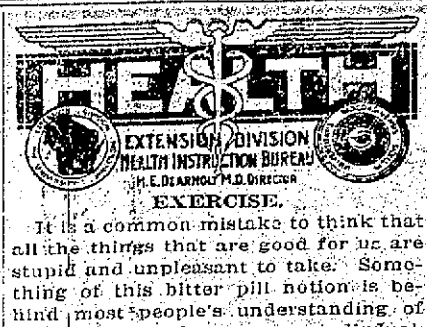

A FEW REMINDERS IN OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

How is your supply of eatables for the winter, look up your stock at home, especially canned goods. We bought early and bought good goods cheap. We are in a position to save you money. LET US DO IT.

CANNED GOODS BARGAINS.

- Pears, 3 lb. cans, these are fine at per can. 9c
 - Plums, 3 lb. cans, put up in syrup per can. 11c
 - Peaches, 3 lb. cans, a very good one, per can. 15c
 - Corn, regular 10c grade, our price per can. 7 1/2c
 - Peas, regular 12 1/2c grade, our price per can. 9 1/2c
 - Beans, Wax, regular 12 1/2c grade, our price a can 9 1/2c
 - Beans, Baked, 3 lb. cans a special, per can. 8 1/2c
 - Tomatoes, large cans, full pack per can. 9c
 - Kidney Beans, extra good. 8 1/2c
 - Salmon, here is a snap, per can. 8c
 - Per dozen cans. 93c
 - Here you get good coffee at per lb. 15c
 - 100 lbs sugar. $4.87
 - 5 lbs. rolled oats. 19c
 - 5 lbs. whole Japan rice, regular 8c grade. 29c
 - Table syrup, 10 lb. pails, called gallons. 37c
 - Soda crackers, the best, grade 3 lbs. 20c
 - Grandma's Washing Powder, regular 5c pkg. 3c
- Remember our deal on sugar, 20 lbs for 69c with the purchase of $10.00 worth of other goods in our large department store.

JOHNSON & HILL COMPANY
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

HEALTH

It is a common mistake to think that all the things that are good for us are the things that are pleasant to take. Something of this latter pill notion is behind most people's understanding of exercise. To the average individual, gymnastic apparatus, "constitutional" walks for mere physical benefit, are as horrid as a means of occupying one's time as can be imagined. And the average individual's taste in exercise is right for the average individual.

Exercise which doesn't amuse, entertain, and hence gives relaxation, doesn't as a rule do any good. It only adds to the duties from which the average industrious individual needs a let-up. There is no universal exercise or set of exercises which will furnish a source of youth and perpetual life.

Each individual should, however, seek some form of muscular activity in which he can revel, out of which he can get so much fun as to tempt a neglect of his serious business. Obviously, what will entertain one person will bore another exceedingly. The exercise may take the form of horse ball, skating, golf, dancing, horse-racing, (driving, not looking on), canoeing, tennis, coasting, etc., etc.

There is some danger of over strain in competitive games and sports. If the contestant will stop as soon as he ceases to enjoy himself, however, he will be reasonably safe. The interesting thing about this conception of exercise is that it will do the physical laborer just as much good after a hard day's work as it will the man or woman who sits at a desk or machine all day. We serious minded Americans need more play, more physical play. We should play for the sake of the game and not for prizes or just to win honors. We are too apt to hire professionals to play for us and exercise our voices more than our muscles. Not that being a "fan" or "rooter" isn't wholesome. It is. It should not, however, be the end of sports and athletics. For the sake of health and nerves, every American should seek a form of physical play adapted to his own individual tastes, strength and requirements.

NEWS ITEMS FROM NEARBY PLACES

Drowned While Breaking Law.—At about three o'clock Friday afternoon Leon Glomski entered the office of County Judge Murat and stated that he wished to plead guilty to a self imposed charge of having violated the fish and game laws of the state. His request was granted and a fine of $25 was imposed and paid. In explanation of his appearance in court at that time Glomski told the following story. Between 5 and 6 o'clock that morning he and Leo Jerzanski were out on a small lake about two miles east of Nelsonville, netting fish. They were in a boat and when hauling in the net Jerzanski fell head foremost into the lake and was drowned. The lake where the accident occurred is a small one, covering only a few acres, but the water is quite deep. The body of Jerzanski was not recovered until about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Jerzanski lived in the town of Stockton and was about thirty-two years old and leaves a wife and two children. Glomski, who is about thirty years old, also lives in Stockton. The latter knew because of the fatality the fact that he had been violating the law and could not conceivably and come up and confess against himself with the view of saving any costs that might be imposed if he was formally arrested. Stevens Point Journal.

A Family Reunion.—For the first time in twenty years the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong assembled, on Saturday last, November 1, at the home of Mrs. W. E. Armstrong in this village and enjoyed one of the most memorable family reunions it has ever been privileged to note. The event was first set for the Saturday previous, but owing to the fact that some of the relatives could not be present on that day, the happy affair was postponed one week. One of the interesting features of the occasion was the seating of the aged couple and the seven children at the same table, which must have given rise to sweet memories of the days when Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were bringing up this worthy family in childhood. The seven children were Mrs. Charles Waterman of Grand Rapids, Wis.; W. E. Armstrong of Necedah; Mrs. Charles Sutton of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Elmer Hockins and Mrs. Elbert Davis of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. George Kiley of Denver, Colo.; and Mrs. William J. O'Brien of Milwaukee. Necedah Republican.

Some Potatoes.—Although many of the fields on the Starks Co potato farm near Rhineland were injured by the blight last summer, says the News of that city, the company secured 35,000 bushels of fine potatoes from the 400 acres planted, and they will realize over $17,500 from them even at the present prices, thus paying for the first year for clearing, planting and harvesting these acres. At least 600 more acres will be planted on this big tract next year, and it is expected that from 150 to 200 bushels per acre will be secured.

Even as good a food as our friend John White of the Marshfield Hotel is getting tired of the burlesque judgment from the following excerpt from the product of his faber: "Another session or two of the legislature and we will have a commission to tell us when to take a bath or maybe prescribe the duties an American born citizen owes his teeth. An occasional good thing but when they become thicker than sparrows, well to say the least, it seems to be crowding the mourners."

"Here is another that has just come to light in this city and it affects the plumber's bill you know you have done could exist without this necessary class of citizens. If you have ever paid a plumber's bill you know you have done inwardly believing that they omitted nothing in their itemized statement from Genesis to Revelations but just wait until the new plumbing law goes into effect which imposes a state license on master plumbers of $10 a year for the first year and $5 a year annually thereafter, and if you don't get a reflection of it in your next plumbing bill we miss our guess. Jones will have to pay the freight, and thus another salaried commission is born to our lovely state."

SIGEL.
P. H. Kroll is, up with a very sore eye. He is at the hospital. John Kroll is doing some mason work for J. C. Matthews this week. Clara Matthews is making her home at Marshfield, spent Monday here. Louis Trussen from Marshfield put in a new furnace for his father-in-law last Monday. Little Miss Violet Kroll returned home Saturday after a week's visit at her Aunt's in Marshfield.

OAK RIDGE.

Mrs. M. Schillo was a Friendship shopper Monday. Miss Catherine and Eva Hansen spent Sunday at the R. K. Jensen home. Miss Maud Murray departed Sunday for Warren, Scott's, where she will remain during the winter.

Miss Gladys Potts returned Sunday to resume her duties as teacher in District number three. R. K. Jensen spent Thursday in inspecting the Adams county Poor Farm.

Misses Flora and Alta Crothers spent Sunday at Peter Hennickson's. Prof. M. H. Jackson of Grand Rapids assisted Maybelle Douglas in conducting teachers' institute at Big Flats Saturday.

Miss Lillian Jero spent Friday and Saturday with friends in Big Flats. Mrs. Ole Anderson and daughter Amelia were Sunday callers at Jensen's.

Warren Scott passed this way Sunday. The post office at Nebull is now discontinued.

The party at Chris Peterson's was well attended and all report a fine time. Mrs. James Hansen and Milton Nelson visited the latter's aunt Mrs. P. C. Peterson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Murray, were Friendship shoppers Tuesday. Carl Miller was a Hancock shopper Monday.

SARATOGA.

James Johnson arrived home from Alton, Canada Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knuteson arrived home from Kilbourn, Monday after spending a week with relatives there. Mattie Brown departed for Chicago Monday where she will spend the winter.

James Johnson departed Monday for Illinois to visit his sister. One Johnson arrived from Kilbourn last week.

MEEHAN.

Miss Valeria Fox went to Plainfield Monday where she expects to stay for the winter. Miss Nettie Clusman who is employed at Nekosca spent Sunday at home. Mrs. J. W. Pettis, who has been spending the last year or more in New York state returned home last week.

Burton Fox, Arno Krohn and Clint Clusman are after the big game up near Birchwood. Those from here who attended the Sunday school gathering at Plover last week report a very pleasant and profitable time, and speak especially about the cordial welcome and friendly way the local workers used their guests.

Cline Cradle of Stevens Point is hauling the products of his farm here to his home in the city.

Harry Sisk is looking after a business transaction up in Clark county having made a trip to the northern country recently. John Porter of McMill was here last Thursday doing business for the Stockton town insurance company. His principle call was at Frank Winkler's to adjust the loss on his barn which was burned last week with all of his year's supply of hay and feed and also his silo. It was a heavy loss for Mr. Winkler although he had some insurance.

The potato houses here are all filled to their utmost capacity as they are being delivered faster than the buyers can handle them. The price dropped last week from 50c to an average of 40c per bushel.

Miss Dora Benson died at the home of her Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benson, who live near here, last week Wednesday night, Nov. 5, with inflammation of the bowels. She was sick only a short time noticeable her failing health had been noticeable for a few weeks. She was born at the home near here June 30, 1890 and was therefore 24 years of age. The funeral was held at the home Saturday, Nov. 8, Rev. Mellicke of Grand Rapids officiating. She was buried in the cemetery at Grand Rapids. She leaves her parents and eight brothers and sisters and a large number of near relatives and many friends to mourn her death. She spent the last 4 or 5 years of her life at Grand Rapids, being employed at the Cohen department store and at the time of her sickness was telephone operator. She was an estimable young lady and her sad death will cause much sorrow among a host of friends.

VESPER.

(From the State Center.) The Vesper Wood Mfg. Co. this week placed an order for $35,000 worth of Oregon fir for next year. The local buyers are shipping out the tubers now on hand in anticipation of lower prices. Potatoes are retailing in Boston at 65c per bushel, with Canadian potatoes coming in duty free since the tariff was removed. It is also stated that potatoes can be bought in Ireland at current prices and delivered in the east at local prices.

Alba Brown, an engineer on the Northwestern line with headquarters in Milwaukee, was here the last week and bought an 80-acre tract of land from Owen Oliver. He and his brother will occupy the land next fall. The land is located across the road from A. J. Cowell's farm.

D. McVicar and The Enterprise Store Co. are both installing a large gas lighting system. G. E. Horn has one of these systems in use and it is giving excellent satisfaction. Mike Bogger was up from the Rapids Monday on business.

The Wisconsin Democracy in a way has become disorganized by continual playing to one side or the other in the Republican factional fight; but there seems to be a belief among the rank and file of the voters that if a real Democratic campaign is made it will have strong support and with this foundation to build on it would seem as if a strong and effective Democratic party organization could be very soon built up in this state. Work on this organization should be begun at once, and that a great deal can be accomplished for Democracy in this state if the organization should begin the coming winter. Brown County Democrat.

Mrs. Anne Hiltger is trying to find a place where she can trade her 1907 model husband in and get a 1914 model. A feller kin learn almost anything in college nowadays exceptin' how to make money.

Notice of Application for Final Settlement. In the Matter of the Estate of Martin DeLutz, Deceased. On reading and filing the application of Agatha DeLutz, executrix of the Will of Martin DeLutz, deceased, representing among other things, she has fully administered the said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing her account of her administration, and that the residue of the said estate be assigned to such persons as she has so entitled to the same.

IT IS ORDERED, That said application be heard before this court, at a special term thereof to be held at the probate office in the city of Grand Rapids, on the 18th day of December, 1913, at 10 o'clock a. m. AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of the time and place of examining and allowing said account and of assigning the residue of said estate be given to all persons interested, by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in said county, before the day fixed for said hearing.

Dated this 4th day of November, 1913. By the Court, W. J. CONWAY, County Judge. D. D. Conway, Attorney for the Estate.

W. Melvin Ruckle, M. D. —PRACTICE LIMITED TO— EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT Glasses Fitted Correctly. Eye and Ear Surgeon, Riverview Hospital. Office in Wood County Bank Building. Telephone No. 254.

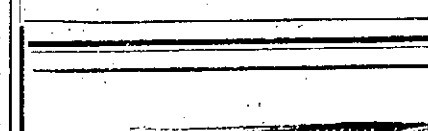

A WARNING

Three things they say you can't safely do—fool with the tail of a cyclone, tickle the heels of a mule, or monkey with a gun that isn't supposed to be loaded. Permit us to add a fourth. You can't make much of a success of life without forming a saving habit. Just a little saved from your earnings each week or each month, carefully deposited with a good bank like ours, will amount to something at the end of the year. It may seem mighty slow at the start, but in time you will thank your lucky stars that you started.

Right now is the time to begin—not next month.

Wood County National Bank

Grand Rapids, Wis.

Looking Through the Paper

When you look through this paper each week hereafter, we want you to make it a point to look for our ad. You'll always find it right here in the same place and each week a new, interesting, as well as instructive ad. will appear.

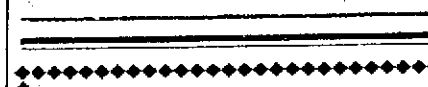

We want to so thoroughly impress our business upon you that every time you think of "lumber" you just can't help thinking of us. We are going to convince you that you can buy lumber or building material right here from us as cheap as you can anywhere on earth. If you want GOOD material, don't bite at the "sucker bait" appearing in some papers.

W. A. MARLING LUMBER CO.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

NOTICE To Trappers!

BRING YOUR FURS TO Steinberg's Store and receive the highest market prices for them.

The Tailor says -

WE KNOW OF NO Surer WAY

For You to Experience Real Clothes Satisfaction

Than to entrust to Us the making of your next SUIT OR OVERCOAT

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

Yours truly,

LELOFF, The Tailor,

Maker of Guaranteed Clothes

Grand Ave., West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.
In Circuit Court—Wood County. In the Matter of the Estate of Martin DeLutz, Deceased. On reading and filing the application of Agatha DeLutz, executrix of the Will of Martin DeLutz, deceased, representing among other things, she has fully administered the said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing her account of her administration, and that the residue of the said estate be assigned to such persons as she has so entitled to the same.

IT IS ORDERED, That said application be heard before this court, at a special term thereof to be held at the probate office in the city of Grand Rapids, on the 18th day of December, 1913, at 10 o'clock a. m.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of the time and place of examining and allowing said account and of assigning the residue of said estate be given to all persons interested, by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in said county, before the day fixed for said hearing.

Dated this 4th day of November, 1913. By the Court, W. J. CONWAY, County Judge. D. D. Conway, Attorney for the Estate.

W. Melvin Ruckle, M. D. —PRACTICE LIMITED TO— EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT Glasses Fitted Correctly. Eye and Ear Surgeon, Riverview Hospital. Office in Wood County Bank Building. Telephone No. 254.

DIMES MAKE DOLLARS!
An Ideal Pocket Savings Bank
You Have The Bank We Have The Key
Cut out, sign, send or present in person, the coupon below, and receive one of these handy little Dime Pocket Banks FREE.

CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK.
Grand Rapids, Wis.
I would like one of your IDEAL POCKET SAVINGS BANKS for dimes, which I agree to use for the purpose of starting and maintaining a savings account.
Name _____
Address _____

The Citizens National Bank
Capital and Surplus $110,000.00
A Bank for All the People

That's It, John!
That's the one they recommended as the Best
How pleased we are when we hear that remark and believe me, it's quite frequent. We hear it about our Quick Meal Ranges, Garland and Favorite base burners, Round Oak and Cole's Hot Blast heaters. You can not afford to put a cheap range or stove in your house when the difference between them and a good one, is so small. Come in now while the stock is complete. See what we have and get posted on stoves. It will cost you nothing. May do you worlds of good.

NASH HARDWARE CO.
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Heard Two Good Cork Screw Yarns
but I'll have to tell you one at a time. A drummer rushed in to the smoking car on an overland train and cried out: "Is there a gentleman in the car from Kentucky?" A clergyman arose in his seat and said very gravely: "I am from the state of Kentucky, sir." "Then let me have the loan of your corkscrew," said the drummer. The parson drew himself up stiffly and nobody turned a wheel until the drummer added: "There's a lady in the next car wishes to open a bottle of milk." And then it seemed like every one in the car was from Kentucky. I'll tell you the other one the next time if the boss doesn't yell at me. Always says, "When in doubt give yourself the benefit and then pass it on to the customers." There is no doubt of the purity and good conduct of any lumber or builders' supplies we hand you. The Government might adopt a pure lumber law but it wouldn't be needed here. You are as safe with us as though we were obliged to label every plank we sell. Come in soon. Ben-the-Booster, with KELLOGG BROS. LUMBER CO.

Think it over
I wish I had had my money in the Bank
Have you ever said to yourself: "If I only had A THOUSAND DOLLARS NOW." Business chances are opening up and offering themselves to any of us and all of us very frequently, and the man who gets the chance is THE MAN WHO HAS THE MONEY to take it. Start a bank account with us now. Be prepared for a chance.
Do YOUR banking with US. We pay 3 per cent interest compounded semi-annually.
Bank of Grand Rapids,
WEST SIDE

NORTHERN WISCONSIN TO BE SEARCHED FOR IRON ORE

Chippewa Times.—The iron manufacturers have been so busy prospecting for iron ore in Minnesota, and have been so successful that they have not cared to devote any time to other northern states, no matter how rich and inviting the field.

It is only within the past few weeks that they were attracted to Northern Wisconsin by speculations furnished them and showing rich veins in iron beyond their expectations. In order to give the country a better knowledge of the Chippewa river valley, the companies that contract the iron industry have taken options on all lands owned by the Arpin Lumber company at Bruce and other large holders in Itasca and Chippewa counties. The putting of a large crew of men to work in the vicinity of Birchwood has had the effect of causing a slight excitement in the wild lands in that vicinity and considerable gossip and speculation as to the outcome. While we would not advise haste in buying or selling lands in the territory mapped out by the prospectors it might be well for those owning property to be careful to safeguard their options. That there is iron all over this northern country has long since been proven, but whether it is of a high grade and in sufficient quantities to be worked is another thing. In the vicinity of Itasca where the Steel trust has been spending a great deal of money putting down shafts and operating it is claimed that the Steel company is well satisfied with the showing thus far made and those who claim to be on the inside say that within the next few years the Itasca country will prove one of the richest iron ore deposits that has ever been opened up in Wisconsin. The Arpin Lumber Co. has been the first to sign leases for years and has been satisfied that there were rich ore deposits in this part of the state and it was largely through their efforts that the Steel trust began their investigation. Owing to the near approach of winter it is not believed that any great amount of work will be done until spring. The crews now in the field will simply map out the lines to be followed by the experts who have already gone over the field and satisfied themselves as to the richness of the ore discovered. It is claimed that the Steel company has spent a part of its life as a mineral prospector in this northern country, long ago called the public attention to the fact that Northern Wisconsin had some rich iron deposits and we believe has holdings along the line that is to be followed by the prospectors of the Steel company. Like all pioneers in such work but little weight was given to Mr. Donahue's investigations but it begins to look as if his predictions would be realized and the country in which he has spent the greatest part of his life would be the richest section of Wisconsin.

BROKE A RIB ON TRAIN

Plainfield Sun.—While on his way to Plainfield Wednesday, R. A. Weeks of Grand Rapids sustained a broken rib, as a result of a quick stop of the freight just before pulling into the depot. He was thrown against the stove, and several others were quite badly hurt, one going through a window.

Don't forget the concert on Saturday evening at Daly's Theater for the benefit of the band. Reserved seats on sale Friday.

KELLNER

Tom Applebee took dinner with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ramsey on Thursday, on his way to Minnesota.

A deer hunting party, consisting of the following persons: G. H. Munroe, Rev. Mollieck, Max Eberhardt and John Yetter, left Monday morning for Ladysmith.

Mrs. C. Zettler who was very sick with heart trouble has recovered at this writing.

John Glebeke has sold his farm and will move to Grand Rapids in the near future. If the report is true Mr. Julius Kruger has also sold out.

After a pleasant visit with relatives at Nekoosa and Ladysmith Mr. and Mrs. T. Fay have returned to our burg and will visit with the G. H. Munroe family till Mr. Munroe returns from the north with his gun.

Rev. A. Krusche made a professional call at Grand Rapids Tuesday afternoon.

Everybody is wondering why Ed. Johnson has such a big smile on him. Come and find out he became grandfather Monday morning.

Albert Timm went to Stevens Point Monday, where he will attend the county board meeting for two weeks.

ALTDORF

Henry and George Huser came home from Minnesota last week where they had been working on a dredge.

Minor Dickoff and Ernest Oberbeck were at Robert Leu's Sunday hunting rabbits and partridges.

L. J. Rutesch, Wm. Peters, and O. J. Leu are attending the annual session of the county board.

O. J. Leu was down in the town of Saratoga last Monday to assist in settling the loss, by fire to John Tessor who lost five buildings, all hay, grain and straw and one horse.

The town made the survey last Friday for the road leading from Walker toward Grand Rapids. It is the intention to begin the fill across the "lake" as soon as possible.

Frank Wipil has begun to haul sand for a new cement floor that he intends to put in his barn next spring.

Anton Arnold is working on the Elm Lake Cranberry Co. marsh.

PORT EDWARDS

Mrs. N. Zdyrkowski of Port Edwards gave a dancing party in honor of Miss Laura Polachek of Milwaukee Sunday, Nov. 9. The guests present were Misses Laura Polachek, Sarah Mosciak, Irene Zdyrkowski, Messrs. Eddie Mosciak, Walter Zentch, Stanley Zentch, Chas. Kowalcowski, Stanley Selovik, Mike Kachnowicz, Alfonsa Trowskowsky, Chas. Harburda, Julius Szewski, Mmes. S. A. Perkowski, S. A. Horoskowsky, N. Zdyrkowski. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Our laws are so intricate in matters of the income tax that lawyers in Milwaukee feel called upon to send out postal cards all over the state, giving out information that they know all about the income business and one can save money by employing them. When a man of business cannot tell his income it is about time to simplify our laws.—Wausau Pilot.

RUDOLPH

Chas. Nigle departed on Monday for a week's visit in Milwaukee and Oregon.

Mrs. Evelyn Grotteau left on Saturday for Pittsville where she will spend a week or ten days visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hoover.

Mrs. Mary Haumschild and two daughters of Pittsville are visiting at the home of Emil Haumschild.

Mrs. Spalenka of Stevens Point is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Kujawa.

Mrs. Dick Keyzer and two daughters left on Thursday for Lake Geneva, to visit with friends for a time.

Mrs. George Elliott is spending a few days with her brother, N. J. Richards, in your city.

Alvin Jindra left on Friday for his home in Grimsing after spending the summer here making butter for John Glen.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Akey will make their home here.

Mrs. Wm. Bade and daughter Norma left on Tuesday for Wausau.

Frank Rourke, Emil Haumschild, George and Fred Pittz and Barney Morgan left on Monday for Butternut where they will hunt deer for a time.

They do say that Fred Pittz is seriously contemplating the proposition of selling out his business here and going into the horse breaking business. If he decides to do this, which is not certain at the present time, he will probably only take the toughest specimens to operate on, bronches and such like.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hleri, Jr., and Miss Pauline Krommenaker were in your city Friday.

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK

We have been having some cold weather of late. Just a sample of what we will have.

Clyde Winegardner who has been at home the past week has returned to his work in Hollandale.

Ed. Wolfert who has been working at West Bend, Wis., the past summer has returned home.

Glady's Potts commenced her winter term of school last Monday at Neubul.

Miss Alma Johnson of Blinwood is visiting at M. S. Winegardner's.

Anna Marth has gone to Grand Rapids to work.

There was a party at Louis Wolfert's Saturday evening in honor of Ed. who just got home.

Quite a number from this way attended the farewell party at Kobas' last Saturday night in honor of Ella who leaves Tuesday for Minneapolis.

Harry Smyth of Spring Creek visited at Mark Brown's over Sunday.

MARKET REPORT

Patent Flour	5.20
Rye Flour	2.80
Barley	50
Butter	25-29
Eggs	28
Beef, live	4-6
Pork, dressed	10
Veal	12-14
Hay, Timothy	10-12
Potatoes	45
Hides	9-10
Hens	10
Spring Chickens	10
Oats	37

Legal blanks for sale at this office.

LOCAL ITEMS

Alfred Hunter of Wautoma spent Sunday in the city visiting with his mother.

Miss Lois Eveleth of Marshfield, visited with Miss Hazel DeLap over Sunday.

William Kruschke of Shennington visited with his sister, Mrs. Geo. A. Dalen, over Sunday.

Joseph Sharkey of Rudolph was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday.

Prof. M. H. Jackson is going to Green Bay on Friday where he will deliver a lecture that evening.

We handle all kinds of Insurance, make abstracts of title, draw up deeds and mortgages. Give us a trial, Ed. Pomerville, Notary Public.

John McCarthy, proprietor of the Hotel Monogram at Vesper, was in the city on Tuesday and favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Otto J. Leu, member of the county board from the town of Seneca, was among the callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday, being in the city at the board meeting.

Messrs. M. H. Jackson and C. W. Schwede and Miss Agnes Breene were in Milwaukee the latter part of last week in attendance at the teachers' convention being held in that city.

Do not miss the Deep Purple, which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday, Nov. 20th.

It doesn't cost so much to buy an automobile as it does to live up to it after you have got it.

Do not miss the Deep Purple, which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday, Nov. 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lanehan of Stevens Point and Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. bacher of Rudolph, drove to Grand Rapids Sunday to attend church and took dinner at the Dudley House.

Miss Lena Vantassel departed Sunday morning for her home at Munroe Center after spending the past three weeks in this city with relatives and having her ears treated.

Leo Reusch, chairman of the town of Sigel, was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Reusch reports everything moving along nicely out his way, but is not in favor of these early winters that we have been having of late years.

The investigating committee at Marshfield that has had in charge the investigating of Carl's accounts made another report last week and up to that time they claim that the shortage there amounts to $3,752. The committee expresses the opinion that the full amount of Carl's shortage will never be known.

Now is the time to take out Fire Insurance policies. See Ed. Pomerville over Otto's Drug Store for he has some good companies and he writes Insurance at low rates.

The Congregational church will be assisted in its services Sunday morning and evening by the members of the Best Concert Company consisting of Miss Rogers harpist, Master Stewart McCombs soprano, and Mrs. Edwards reader.

WANT COLUMN

FOR RENT.—Four nice rooms for housekeeping in my home at 600 9th Ave. S. Down stairs rooms. 3tp.

HOUSE TO RENT.—7 rooms, city water, No. 873 4th Ave. N. West side, $14.00 per month. F. MacKinnon.

FOR SALE.—Registered Holstein bull, 3 years old. Breeding of the very best. J. J. Luey, R. D. 5, City. 3tp.

FOR SALE.—Coal stove, harness, buggy bobs. G. E. Dewey 632 Lee St. City.

LOST.—On Saturday last, two twenty dollar bills. The finder will receive a reward of $5 by leaving same at this office.

FOR SALE.—4 tons of clover hay and 20 acres straw, cheap if taken at once. Quist Bros. Junction City, R. D. 2, 1tp.

FOR RENT.—House on 8th avenue Inquire of Mrs. C. A. Corrivert 21, 3rd Ave. N. 2tp.

FOR SALE.—Hard coal stove, cheap. Inquire of E. E. Ames.

FOR RENT.—House, at $7 per month. Inquire of Joseph Rick.

LOST.—Chain and locket, photo inside. Finder leave at this office.

WANTED.—15 cords of hard maple wood. Apply to Edward Pomerville, the Fire Insurance Man. 3tp.

MRS. J. TAYLOR, TEACHER OF PIANO Studio Corner Fourth and Madison Streets. Telephone 528.

Barn Paint

60c Per Gallon in 5 gallon cans

How are your buildings? Do they need painting? Never before offered at this price. Anticipate your wants and save yourself money. This offer holds good until Saturday night, Nov. 22nd.

Johnson & Hill Co. Paint Department

Onyx Ware for Thanksgiving

You should be thinking of what you need in the line of Cooking Utensils for your Thanksgiving dinner. We have the largest line of guaranteed Onyx-ware in this section of the state at prices no higher than you pay elsewhere for inferior grades. In the manufacture of Onyx-ware the manufacturers have taken particular care in the testing and selection of the steel. The steel used is one that will adhere to or amalgamate with the ground or first enamel coating. This first coat, as well as the second coat of brown and the third coat of white is put on at a temperature of 2000 degrees. This makes the finished article one compact piece and leaves no cracks or creases for the "playful death-mates," politely called germs. We guarantee each and every article against cracking or chipping. You use the ware, we take the risk. Insist on getting Onyx-ware.

 Coffee Pots—Seamed Electric Welded, Enamelled Steel Handles, Enamelled Covers. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 Qt.</td><td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>5 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>28c</td><td>35c</td><td>38c</td><td>45c</td></tr> </table>	1 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	5 Qt.	28c	35c	38c	45c	 Seamless Coffee Pots—Electric Welded, Enamelled Handles One Piece Enamelled Covers. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 1/2 Qt.</td><td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>40c</td><td>45c</td><td>50c</td><td>55c</td></tr> </table>	1 1/2 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	40c	45c	50c	55c	 Seamless Tea Pots—Flat bottom, Electric Welded, Enamelled Steel Handles. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 1/2 Qt.</td><td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>40c</td><td>45c</td><td>50c</td><td>55c</td></tr> </table>	1 1/2 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	40c	45c	50c	55c	 Enamel Covered Tea Kettles—Wood Knobs and Handles, Patent lock handle. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>No. 6</td><td>No. 7</td><td>No. 8</td><td>No. 9</td></tr> <tr> <td>45c</td><td>50c</td><td>60c</td><td>75c</td></tr> </table>	No. 6	No. 7	No. 8	No. 9	45c	50c	60c	75c	 Colonial Deep Convex Kettles—Electric Welded Ears and Handles, Wire Bail, Wood Grip. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>30c</td><td>35c</td><td>45c</td></tr> <tr> <td>6 Qt.</td><td>8 Qt.</td><td>14 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>55c</td><td>65c</td><td>90c</td></tr> </table>	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	30c	35c	45c	6 Qt.	8 Qt.	14 Qt.	55c	65c	90c	 Berlin Kettles—Kettle same as cut only carried with enamelled covers. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td><td>6 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>25c</td><td>30c</td><td>35c</td><td>45c</td></tr> <tr> <td>6 1/2 Qt.</td><td>9 Qt.</td><td>12 Qt.</td><td>15 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>55c</td><td>65c</td><td>75c</td><td></td></tr> </table>	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	6 Qt.	25c	30c	35c	45c	6 1/2 Qt.	9 Qt.	12 Qt.	15 Qt.	55c	65c	75c
1 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	5 Qt.
28c	35c	38c	45c
1 1/2 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.
40c	45c	50c	55c
1 1/2 Qt.	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.
40c	45c	50c	55c
No. 6	No. 7	No. 8	No. 9
45c	50c	60c	75c
2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.
30c	35c	45c
6 Qt.	8 Qt.	14 Qt.
55c	65c	90c
2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	6 Qt.
25c	30c	35c	45c
6 1/2 Qt.	9 Qt.	12 Qt.	15 Qt.
55c	65c	75c
 Colonial Deep Convex Sauce Pans—Extra Heavy, New Style Round Handles. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td><td>6 Qt.</td><td>8 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>30c</td><td>35c</td><td>45c</td><td>55c</td><td>70c</td></tr> </table>	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.	30c	35c	45c	55c	70c	 Duchess Kettles—New Pattern, Self Draining kettle with patent lock, wood handle on bail, Ears and Tip handle, Electric Welded. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 1/2 Qt.</td><td>4 1/2 Qt.</td><td>6 1/2 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>35c</td><td>45c</td><td>50c</td></tr> <tr> <td>6 1/2 Qt.</td><td>9 1/2 Qt.</td><td>12 1/2 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>55c</td><td>75c</td><td></td></tr> </table>	2 1/2 Qt.	4 1/2 Qt.	6 1/2 Qt.	35c	45c	50c	6 1/2 Qt.	9 1/2 Qt.	12 1/2 Qt.	55c	75c		 Imperial Lipped Preserving Kettles—Import Style, Electric Welded fastenings. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>18c</td><td>24c</td><td>28c</td></tr> <tr> <td>5 Qt.</td><td>6 Qt.</td><td>8 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>32c</td><td>38c</td><td>45c</td></tr> </table>	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	18c	24c	28c	5 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.	32c	38c	45c	 Straight Covered Buckets—Seamless, no rivets to rust off, Sanitary Electric Welding only used. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 qt.</td><td>2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>20c</td><td>25c</td><td>30c</td></tr> <tr> <td>4 qt.</td><td>5 qt.</td><td></td></tr> <tr> <td>40c</td><td>50c</td><td></td></tr> </table>	1 qt.	2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	20c	25c	30c	4 qt.	5 qt.		40c	50c		 Seamless Mixing Bowls—No seams make this sanitary. Will not chip. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 1/2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>4 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>12c</td><td>15c</td><td>20c</td></tr> </table>	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	4 1/2 qt.	12c	15c	20c	 Seamless Flaring Water Pails—8 1/2 qt. 50c, 11 qt. 55c, 12 qt. 60c.
2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.
30c	35c	45c	55c	70c
2 1/2 Qt.	4 1/2 Qt.	6 1/2 Qt.
35c	45c	50c
6 1/2 Qt.	9 1/2 Qt.	12 1/2 Qt.
55c	75c
2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.
18c	24c	28c
5 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.
32c	38c	45c
1 qt.	2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.
20c	25c	30c
4 qt.	5 qt.
40c	50c
1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	4 1/2 qt.
12c	15c	20c
 Imperial Lipped Sauce Pans—Extra Deep, New Style Round Handles. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 Qt.</td><td>3 Qt.</td><td>4 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>18c</td><td>22c</td><td>27c</td></tr> <tr> <td>5 Qt.</td><td>6 Qt.</td><td>8 Qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>30c</td><td>35c</td><td>45c</td></tr> </table>	2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.	18c	22c	27c	5 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.	30c	35c	45c	 Sink Strainers with Feet, A Sure Bet. 20c.	 Sanitary Seamless Water Pitchers—absolutely no place for germs to play hide and seek. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 1/2 qt.</td><td>1 1/2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>3 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>28c</td><td>32c</td><td>45c</td><td>55c</td></tr> </table>	1 1/2 qt.	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.	28c	32c	45c	55c	 Milk Kettles with re-tinned pressed covers, Wood Handle on Wire Bail fastened to Electric Welded Ears. 1 qt. size 20c, 2 qt. size 25c.	 Latest Improved Seamless Collanders—Note special shape of bottom rest. Size 10 1/2 in. x 4 1/2 in. 30c.	 Pitchers and Bowls—Pitcher holds 6 quarts, Size of Bowl 15 in. x 3 1/2 in. Only $1.25.
2 Qt.	3 Qt.	4 Qt.
18c	22c	27c
5 Qt.	6 Qt.	8 Qt.
30c	35c	45c
1 1/2 qt.	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.
28c	32c	45c	55c
 Colonial Style Cereal Cookers—Seamless, New Style, sanitary Handles. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 qt.</td><td>2 qt.</td><td>3 qt.</td><td>4 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>50c</td><td>60c</td><td>75c</td><td>90c</td></tr> </table>	1 qt.	2 qt.	3 qt.	4 qt.	50c	60c	75c	90c	 Wash Basins <table border="1"> <tr> <td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>3 1/2 qt.</td><td>4 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>14c</td><td>15c</td><td>18c</td><td>20c</td></tr> </table>	2 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.	4 1/2 qt.	14c	15c	18c	20c	 Oval Dish Pans—Once used never forgotten. Electric Welding increases sanitation. 13x17x5 1/2, 60c 15x19x5 1/2, 75c	 Imperial Deep Dish Pans—Extra heavy Note New Handle. 14x5 1/2 45c, 17x5 1/2 60c, 18x6 75c.	 Bread Raisers—Tin Covers. 14 1/2 in. x 5 1/2 in., 80c 15 1/2 x 5 1/2 75c	 Round Edge Pie Plates—Shallow—No. 9 9c, No. 10 10c. Deep—No. 9 10c, No. 10 12c.
1 qt.	2 qt.	3 qt.	4 qt.
50c	60c	75c	90c
2 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.	4 1/2 qt.
14c	15c	18c	20c
 Windsor Dippers—Round handle, Electric Welded to Dipper. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 pt.</td><td>1 qt.</td><td>1 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>12c</td><td>15c</td><td>18c</td></tr> <tr> <td></td><td></td><td>20c</td></tr> </table>	1 pt.	1 qt.	1 qt.	12c	15c	18c			20c	 Universal Cereal Cookers—Seamless, Stamped and Rolled Handles, No Seams. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 1/2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>3 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>45c</td><td>55c</td><td>70c</td></tr> </table>	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.	45c	55c	70c	 Extra Deep Pudding Pans—Round Edge. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 qt 1 1/2 qt 2 1/2 qt 4 1/2 qt</td><td></td></tr> <tr> <td>10c 14c 17c 20c</td><td></td></tr> </table>	1 qt 1 1/2 qt 2 1/2 qt 4 1/2 qt		10c 14c 17c 20c		 Wash Soap Dishes—Made with Separate Soap Retainer. Easily cleaned. Without drains. 10c With drains. 12c	 Straight Cups—Electric Welded Handles. <table border="1"> <tr> <td>Seamed 1/2 pt. 5c, 3/4 pt. 8c, Seamless 1/2 pt. 10c, 3/4 pt. 12c, 1 qt. 15c.</td><td></td></tr> </table>	Seamed 1/2 pt. 5c, 3/4 pt. 8c, Seamless 1/2 pt. 10c, 3/4 pt. 12c, 1 qt. 15c.		 Seamless Drinking Cups—Large Sizes, more sanitary than a public fountain. 1/2 pint size. 9c 3/4 pint size. 10c	 Milk Pans—Round Edge <table border="1"> <tr> <td>1 qt.</td><td>1 1/2 qt.</td><td>2 1/2 qt.</td><td>5 1/2 qt.</td></tr> <tr> <td>9c</td><td>10c</td><td>18c</td><td>28c</td></tr> </table>	1 qt.	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	5 1/2 qt.	9c	10c	18c	28c
1 pt.	1 qt.	1 qt.
12c	15c	18c
		20c
1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	3 1/2 qt.
45c	55c	70c
1 qt 1 1/2 qt 2 1/2 qt 4 1/2 qt
10c 14c 17c 20c
Seamed 1/2 pt. 5c, 3/4 pt. 8c, Seamless 1/2 pt. 10c, 3/4 pt. 12c, 1 qt. 15c.
1 qt.	1 1/2 qt.	2 1/2 qt.	5 1/2 qt.
9c	10c	18c	28c
 Every Day Roaster—For Meat and Chicken Roasts. Use can be made of this handy article every day. Each. 60c

Cold Waves

have no terrors for the man with the new Winter overcoat. Mighty comfortable sensation on a cold morning to slip into a warm coat---turn the collar up and bury your hands deep in roomy pockets. Particularly when the cut of the overcoat is irrephachable, the hang of the sleeve graceful--the set of the collar correct and the pockets the kind that don't sag.

Single-breasted coats--44 and 46 inches long, with and without velvet collars. Box and semi-fitting backs. Smart coats that have caught the popular fancy--Vicunas, Korsofs and fancy mixtures $15 to $30

Single and double-breasted overcoats with shawl collars, belt backs. Chinchillas fancy back materials $15 to $30.00

Convertible collar overcoats--practical and stylish garments that command themselves for business and dress. Button up the collar when you're cold, open it and turn back the lapels if the day is mild. Button through coats generously cut--50 inches long. Attractive new weaves, all colors $12.50 to $25.00

Nobby overcoats that are pulling strong with the younger set. Shawl collars and inverted collar plates--46 inches long--belted backs. Chinchillas, fizzes and fancy chevrons $15.00 to $30.00

Boys' Sweaters. Mothers know that they can make their boys put on sweaters when they simply won't wear coats. We're showing a large assortment of sweaters in various shades and weights $7.50 to $3.00

Abel & Podawiltz Company
Outfitters for All Mankind. Grand Rapids, Wis.

JOHNSON & HILL COMPANY

Grand Rapids,

Wisconsin.

Warnings! Hints! Reminders on A Burning Subject!

OUR Coal Wagons
Traverse the High-Ways and By-Ways of Grand Rapids
No Street Too Good, No Alley or Lane Too Poor For Us To Navigate!
We Get There with the Best of COAL

BOSSERT COAL CO.
Phone H-6 Residence 54

IN COMPOUNDING PRESCRIPTIONS

We use the utmost care to see that the physician's orders are carried out to the letter. We permit no substitution, no laxity as to quantities, cost in the simplest manner. Bring prescriptions here and enjoy the certainty that they will be correctly prepared.

SAM CHURCH
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST

Dealer in
Amico Cameras, Camera Supplies, Stationery, Combs and Brushes, Toilet Soap, Toilet Waters, Perfumes, Rubber Goods, Toilet Creams, Shampoos, Supplies, Fine Candies, Books and Patent Medicines

The Electric Lamp You Admire

So much in your friend's house may be duplicated here at a moderate expense. The pretty floral shade which so greatly attracts you may even be excelled by those among our electrical fixtures. Come and see. You are bound to strike something that will appeal to your taste.

Staub's Electric Shop
127 First St. N. East Side

Kellner Coal Co.

Coal and Wood
Don't Forget US when you need anything in the line of fuel
Telephone 305

D. M. HUNTINGTON

AUTO GARAGE
All kinds of repair work done at reasonable prices.

Auto Supplies and Lubricating Oils

Auto Tires and Tubes always in stock.

Gas Tanks in Stock.

Agency for the Ford Automobile

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Mayor Joseph Cohen spent Sunday in Merrill on business.

C. S. Goldworthy of Vesper was in the city on Thursday looking after some business matters.

Miss Laura Polachek of Milwaukee is spending several weeks in this vicinity visiting friends at Port Edwards and in the town of Sirel.

Will Hurley and E. M. Hayes are spending the week in the vicinity of Boulder deer hunting.

Fred Duncan leaves this week for Goshnow where he will spend several days hunting with a party of friends.

Messrs. Jacob Lutz, Fred Miller and Frank Westfall of the town of Sigel departed on Monday for a week's deer hunt in the vicinity of Exland.

Mrs. Frank Jankovich of New London is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hansen.

Mrs. D. J. Keane and Mrs. Harold Gregerson returned on Saturday to their home at Stanley after visiting friends in this city for several days.

Mrs. G. A. Blackwood, who has been a guest at the home of J. E. Brooks for some time past, left on Tuesday for Phillips, Miss.

Joe Corrieau of Green Bay stopped over in the city on Friday and Saturday to visit with his people here. The Tribune acknowledges a pleasant call.

Miss Jagodzinski of Vesper was in the city on Monday attending to some business matters. While here he visited the Tribune with a pleasant call.

Andy Kautonen of Hahcock was in the city on Friday looking after some business matters and while here favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Scott Snyder, who has been with the Natwick Electric Company for some time past, has gone to Merrill where he will have charge of a five and ten cent store.

Mrs. George Anderson returned to her home at Milwaukee on Monday after a week's visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Dvalavita.

Dr. W. M. Kunkle is in Chicago this week in attendance at the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, which is in session in that city. The doctor will probably be absent about two weeks.

Geo. W. Brown of Pittsville and Henry Elbe of the town of Lincoln were in the city on Friday and Saturday looking after some business at the court house, they being members of the highway committee.

The largest apple tree in New York state is said to be one standing near town of Wilson. It was planted in the year 1815. And it is of record that it once yielded thirty-three full barrels of apples in a season.

Chiropractic efforts can be made to be well. If you're ill it brings you health. If you're well it keeps you so. Try Spinal Adjustments and get well. See F. T. Hoff, the Chiropractor. Offices over Daly's Drug Store.

Mrs. C. H. Bezan of Fond du Lac spent a couple of days in the city last week a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Voss. Mrs. Voss has been under the weather for several weeks past, but is considerably better at this writing.

Mrs. Paul Schwartz entertained a party of her friends on Thursday afternoon, the occasion being the anniversary of her birthday. A very pleasant time was had by the ladies and Mrs. Schwartz received a number of presents from her friends.

Jacob Grapp of Milwaukee, who formerly worked at the cigar maker's trade here, spent Sunday in the city being on his way to the northern part of the state to hunt deer for a time. Mr. Grapp is now engaged in the manufacture of cigars in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wood and Geo. S. Wood returned on Saturday from West Baden where P. J. had been receiving treatment for an ailment that had been bothering him for some time past. He came home feeling some better but is still slightly under the weather.

G. I. Schiller of the town of Wood was in the city on Friday and called at the Tribune office. Mr. Schiller reports that he has sold his farm in that town to Mr. Port of Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Schiller is looking about for another small farm and if he can find what he wants intends to remain in this locality.

The street car has been held up for half an hour or so several times during the past week owing to the fact that the electrical current was cut off by some work that was being done on the wires near the Consolidated plant. While it caused a certain amount of inconvenience, nobody was hurt.

Waupaca citizens have opened up a public rest room and nursery for small children where people from out of town can remain as long as they want to. The place will be fitted with rocking chairs, crabs and cradles, and light refreshments will be sold. It would seem as if an institution of this sort would be a good thing for any town.

A party consisting of Hugo Walters, O. Voelker, Jack Grapp of Milwaukee, Joe Lamorex of Hurley, Andrew Mosher of Trout Lake, and John Mosher, Fred Mosher, L. Fritz, and Charles A. Dixon of this city left on Monday for the northern part of the state where they hunt deer for a few days.

P. L. Tont, who operated the Grand Theater in this city for a time, has come to Red Wing, Minn., to open a theater. The Grand is taking a much needed rest and will probably continue to do so until some men with a few dollars and a desire for the show business happens along, when the bright lights will probably shine again for a short time.

Pittsville Record—George W. Brown has received notice from the chairman of the county board of his appointment with A. E. Bennett as representatives of Wood County to the 5th national congress concerning forestry and commerce which convenes at Washington, D. C., the 18th, 19th and 20th of the present month. It will make a delightful and instructive trip.

Mrs. F. P. Daly expects another carload of pianos about the 20th of this month. They will be from the famous Cable company, and as this is about the time of year to begin to look up a Christmas present, it might be a good thing for anybody who has anything of this sort on their mind to go around and see Mrs. Daly about the matter. There is nothing nicer for Christmas present than a piano, as it will please every member of the household. It will not cost a cent to investigate the matter. Terms and prices will be right.

WINTER FIRES IN SCHOOL AND CHURCH

During the last fiscal year 19 church fires were reported to this office with a total fire damage of $23,106, and the same number of school buildings fires with a total damage of $56,445.

In each case six fires, nearly one-third of the whole number, were due to heating plant, smokepipe and chimney defects. The main defect reported is the proximity of stoves, furnaces, boilers, smokepipes and stacks, heat carrying pipes and registers to unprotected woodwork.

All these should be a safe distance from wood or the wood should be protected with metal over heavy asbestos. Metal alone is heated readily and may communicate fire to the woodwork underneath.

The management of the heating plant also constituted a distinct fire danger in both classes of buildings. Often the janitor touches off a filled furnace, opens the draft, closes the fire door and hurries out to do his other work.

The furnace, pipes and registers become overheated and ignite the woodwork. Neither does the janitor see or hear the smoke explosion or back draft that forces open the fire door and scatters the fire over wooden floors and partitions.

The public pays for the fuel and no economy of it is therefore usually practiced, and the whole heating plant and chimney are thus put to a much more severe test than in dwellings.

This again emphasizes the necessity of a particularly safe installation of heating plant and flues and a well-built, lined chimney, to withstand this extraordinary strain.

No woodwork in the floors or elsewhere should come in contact with the chimney.

Single roofs are especially dangerous on school buildings. Quantities of paper are burned in stoves and furnaces, carried up the flues and ignited by the dry, fuzzy, moss-covered shingles.

The piling of furnaces near stairways is another menace, as this enables the fire to spread rapidly to the upper floors, and is liable to cut off the best means of exit.

Because of the great danger to human life by reason of fire or resultant panic and stampede these defects are unsatisfactory in public buildings, and official neglect and indifference alone permits them to remain.

Let our fair state have no church or schoolhouse catastrophe.

CLEM P. HOST,
State Fire Marshal.

WINTER FIRES IN SCHOOL AND CHURCH

During the last fiscal year 19 church fires were reported to this office with a total fire damage of $23,106, and the same number of school buildings fires with a total damage of $56,445.

In each case six fires, nearly one-third of the whole number, were due to heating plant, smokepipe and chimney defects. The main defect reported is the proximity of stoves, furnaces, boilers, smokepipes and stacks, heat carrying pipes and registers to unprotected woodwork.

All these should be a safe distance from wood or the wood should be protected with metal over heavy asbestos. Metal alone is heated readily and may communicate fire to the woodwork underneath.

The management of the heating plant also constituted a distinct fire danger in both classes of buildings. Often the janitor touches off a filled furnace, opens the draft, closes the fire door and hurries out to do his other work.

The furnace, pipes and registers become overheated and ignite the woodwork. Neither does the janitor see or hear the smoke explosion or back draft that forces open the fire door and scatters the fire over wooden floors and partitions.

The public pays for the fuel and no economy of it is therefore usually practiced, and the whole heating plant and chimney are thus put to a much more severe test than in dwellings.

This again emphasizes the necessity of a particularly safe installation of heating plant and flues and a well-built, lined chimney, to withstand this extraordinary strain.

No woodwork in the floors or elsewhere should come in contact with the chimney.

Single roofs are especially dangerous on school buildings. Quantities of paper are burned in stoves and furnaces, carried up the flues and ignited by the dry, fuzzy, moss-covered shingles.

The piling of furnaces near stairways is another menace, as this enables the fire to spread rapidly to the upper floors, and is liable to cut off the best means of exit.

Because of the great danger to human life by reason of fire or resultant panic and stampede these defects are unsatisfactory in public buildings, and official neglect and indifference alone permits them to remain.

Let our fair state have no church or schoolhouse catastrophe.

CLEM P. HOST,
State Fire Marshal.

EQUITABLE FRATERNAL UNION

Meets in Foresters Hall First and Third Thursdays of each month. R. A. Weeks, president; Wm. H. Burchell, secretary.

Letters testamentary on the last Will of Geo. W. Baker, late of the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, deceased, having been duly granted to Lizzie Baker and Geo. W. Baker, Jr., by this court.

IT IS ORDERED, That the time from the date hereof until and including the last Tuesday of April, 1911, be and the same is hereby fixed as the time within which all creditors of the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall present their claims for examination and allowance.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands of all persons against the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, be examined and adjusted before this Court, at its Court Room in the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County, at the regular term thereof appointed to be held on the first Tuesday of May, 1911, and all creditors are hereby notified thereof.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of the time and place at which said claims and demands will be examined and adjusted as aforesaid, and of the time at which the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall be allowed to present their claims and demands, be given by publication in a copy of this order and notice, for four consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in the County of Wood, the first publication to be within fifteen days of the date hereof.

Tested the 28th day of October, 1910.

By the Court: C. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

C. O. Baker and B. M. Vaughan, Attorneys for said estate, Grand Rapids, Wis.

D. A. TELFER

DENTIST
Office over Wood County National Bank on the East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 205.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Law, loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone 338.

EQUITABLE FRATERNAL UNION

Meets in Foresters Hall First and Third Thursdays of each month. R. A. Weeks, president; Wm. H. Burchell, secretary.

Letters testamentary on the last Will of Geo. W. Baker, late of the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, deceased, having been duly granted to Lizzie Baker and Geo. W. Baker, Jr., by this court.

IT IS ORDERED, That the time from the date hereof until and including the last Tuesday of April, 1911, be and the same is hereby fixed as the time within which all creditors of the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall present their claims for examination and allowance.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands of all persons against the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, be examined and adjusted before this Court, at its Court Room in the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County, at the regular term thereof appointed to be held on the first Tuesday of May, 1911, and all creditors are hereby notified thereof.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of the time and place at which said claims and demands will be examined and adjusted as aforesaid, and of the time at which the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall be allowed to present their claims and demands, be given by publication in a copy of this order and notice, for four consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in the County of Wood, the first publication to be within fifteen days of the date hereof.

Tested the 28th day of October, 1910.

By the Court: C. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

C. O. Baker and B. M. Vaughan, Attorneys for said estate, Grand Rapids, Wis.

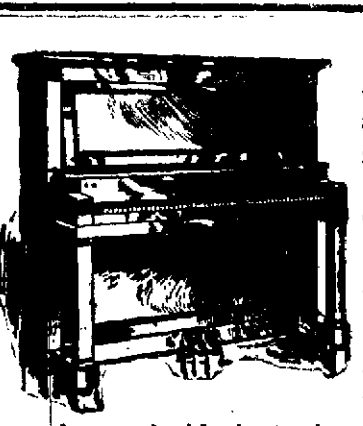

D. A. TELFER

DENTIST
Office over Wood County National Bank on the East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 205.

D. D. CONWAY

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Law, loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone 338.

Christmas is Coming!

and it may be that you are figuring on making somebody a Christmas present of a piano. There is nothing nicer for the holidays than a present of this kind and it is none too early to commence looking the matter up. You cannot always decide just what you want in a minute, and there is nothing like having a good assortment to select from. We expect a

Carload of New Pianos

to arrive here about the 20th of this month, and that will be an excellent chance for you to pick out something that pleases you.

Come in and Let Us Show You.

MRS. F. P. DALY,

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

STEINBERG'S

Season's Greatest SALE!

Coats, Millinery, Dry Goods, Underwear, Men's and Boys' Furnishings, Shoes and Rubbers

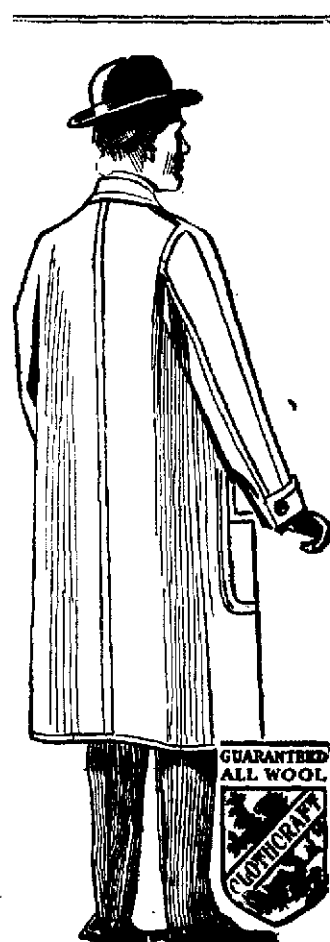

Commences Saturday, Nov. 8th, and Ends Nov. 18th

First National Bank, Grand Rapids, Wis.

This sale is the greatest money saving event which we have ever given the public. Steinberg's sales are always money savers, but this time we have outdone all our previous efforts, and are giving merchandise of value at prices undreamed of before.

See Bills for Prices

Our First Fall Sale

Lets Get Acquainted! We realize it will cost us something, but we are willing to Sacrifice lose our profit to do so. We therefore offer our entire stock at a

VERY SPECIAL—25c Boston or Paris 19c VERY SPECIAL—Wool Socks worth 25c, during this sale 2 for 1

Sale Now On, and Ends Nov. 26th.

Our entire stock of $10, $15 and $20 men's and young men's Suits and Overcoats going at the following prices:

All $10.00 Suits and Overcoats at $8.88
All $15.00 Suits and Overcoats at $12.22
All $20.00 Suits and Overcoats at $16.66
(This does not include blue or black serge)

SHIRTS

All 50c Shirts..... 43c
All $1.00 Shirts..... 89c
All $1.50 Shirts..... $1.29

SWEATERS

All $1.50 Sweaters..... $1.29
All $4.00 Sweaters..... $2.80
All $8.00 Sweaters..... $5.59
$2.50 Jersey Sweaters at $1.89

TROUSERS

We bought a lot of mill and Trousers regular $4.00 to $5.00 values which we will sell as long as they last at..... $3.29

Special on Hats and Caps

All our $2.00 Hats at..... $1.49
All our $2.50 Hats at..... $1.98
All our $1.00 Caps at..... 89c
All our $1.50 Caps at..... $1.19

Children's Department

All boys' $4.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $2.48
All boys' $5.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $3.89
All boys' $6.00 Suits and Overcoats at..... $4.89
All boys' $8.50 Suits and Overcoats at..... $6.89

Brauer Bros. Clothes Shop,

Second Street South

Grand Rapids, Wis.

Warnings! Hints! Reminders
on A Burning Subject!

OUR Coal Wagons

Traverse the High-Ways
and By-Ways of
Grand Rapids

No Street Too Good,
No Alley or Lane Too Poor
For Us To Navigate!

We Get There with the Best of COAL

BOSSERT COAL CO.

Phone 416 Residence 54

IN COMPOUNDING
PRESCRIPTIONS

We use the latest care to see that the physician's orders are carried out to the letter. We permit no substitution, no laxity as to quantities, even in the simplest medicines. Being prescriptions filled here and enjoy the certainty that they will be correctly prepared.

SAM CHURCH

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
Dealer in

Ansco Cameras, Camera Supplies, Stationery, Combs and Brushes, Toilet Soap, Toilet Wafers, Perfumes, Rubber Goods, Toilet Creams, School Supplies, Fine Candles, Books and Patent Medicines.

The Electric Lamp You Admire

so much in your friend's house may be duplicated here at a moderate expense. The pretty floral shade which so greatly attracts you may even be exceeded by those among our electrical fixtures. Come and see. You are bound to strike something that will appeal to your taste.

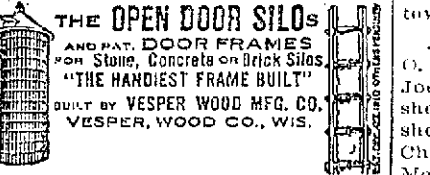

Staub's Electric Shop
127 First St. N. East side

Kellner Coal Co.

Coal and Wood

Don't Forget US
when you need anything in the line of fuel

Telephone 305

D. M. HUNTINGTON

AUTO GARAGE

All kinds of repair work done at reasonable prices.

Auto Supplies and Lubricating Oils

Auto Tires and Tubes
always in stock.

Gas Tanks in Stock.

Agency for the Ford Automobile

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Mayor Joseph Cohen spent Sunday in Merrill on business.

C. S. Goldworthy of Vesper was in the city on Thursday looking after some business matters.

Miss Laura Polachek of Milwaukee is spending several weeks in this vicinity visiting friends at Port Edwards and in the town of Sigel.

Will Hurley and E. M. Hayes are spending the week in the vicinity of Boulder deer hunting.

Fred Duncan leaves this week for Goodnow where he will spend several days hunting with a party of friends.

Messrs. Jacob Lutz, Fred Miller and Frank Westfall of the town of Sigel departed on Monday for a week's deer hunt in the vicinity of Exland.

Mrs. Frank Jagodich of New London is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hansen.

Mrs. D. J. Keane and Mrs. Harold Gregerson returned on Saturday to their home at Stanley after visiting friends in this city for several days.

Mrs. C. A. Blackwood, who has been a guest at the home of J. E. Brooks for some time past, left on Tuesday for Chicago, Ill.

Joe Corriveau of Green Bay stopped over in the city on Friday and Saturday to visit with his people here. The Tribune acknowledges a pleasant call.

Joseph Jagodich of Vesper was in the city on Monday attending to some business matters. While here he favored the Tribune with a pleasant call.

Andy Knutson of Babcock was in the city on Friday looking after some business matters and while here favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Scott Snyder, who has been with the Natwick Electric Company for time past, has gone to Merrill where he will have charge of a five and ten cent store.

Mrs. George Anderson returned to her home at Milwaukee on Monday after a week's visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Podawiltz.

Dr. W. M. Rueke is in Chicago this week in attendance at the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, which is in session in that city. The doctor will probably be absent about two weeks.

Geo. W. Brown of Pittsville and Henry Eble of the town of Lincoln were in the city on Friday and Saturday looking after some business at the court house, they being members of the highway committee.

The largest apple tree in New York state is said to be one standing near the town of Wilson. It was planted in the year 1815. And it is on record that it once yielded thirty-three full barrels of apples in a season.

Chiropractic affords you the opportunity to be well. If you're ill it brings you health. If you're well it keeps you so. Try Spinal Adjustments and get well. See P. T. Hoff, the Chiropractor. Offices over Daly's Drug Store.

Mrs. C. H. Brown of Fond du Lac spent a couple of days in the city last week a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Voss. Mrs. Voss has been under the weather for several weeks past, but is considerably better at this writing.

Mrs. Paul Schwartz entertained a party of her friends on Thursday afternoon, the occasion being the anniversary of her birthday. A very pleasant time was had by the ladies and Mrs. Schwartz received a number of presents from her friends.

Joseph Grap of Milwaukee, who formerly worked at the cigar maker's trade here, spent Sunday in the city being on his way to the northern part of the state to hunt deer for a time. Mr. Grap is now engaged in the manufacture of cigars in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wood and Geo. X. Wood returned on Saturday from West Baden where P. J. had been receiving treatment for an ailment that had been bothering him for some time past. He came home feeling some better but is still slightly under the weather.

G. L. Schiller of the town of Wood was in the city on Friday and called at the Tribune office. Mr. Schiller reports that he has sold his farm in that town to a Mr. Burt of Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Schiller is looking about for another small farm and if he can find what he wants intends to remain in this locality.

The street car has been held up for half an hour or so several times during the past week owing to the fact that the electrical current was cut off by some work that was being done on the wires near the depot.

While it caused a certain amount of inconvenience, nobody was hurt.

Waupun citizens have opened up a public rest room and nursery for small children where people from out of town can remain as long as they want to. The place will be fitted with rocking chairs, cribs and cradles, and light refreshments will be sold. It would seem as if an institution of this sort would be a good thing for any town.

A party consisting of Hugo Walters (J. Vokler), Jack Gray of Milwaukee, Joe Lambrecht of Hurley, Andrew Mosher of Trent Lake, and John Mosher, Fred Mosher, L. Fritz, and Charles A. Dixon of this city left on Monday for the northern part of the state where they will hunt deer for a few days.

P. L. Tout, who operated the Grand Theater in this city for a time, has gone to Red Wing, Minn., to open a theater. The Grand is taking a much needed rest and will probably continue to do so until some man with a few dollars and a desire for the show business happens along, when the bright lights will probably shine again for a short time.

Pittsville Record — George W. Brown has received notice from the chairman of the county board of his appointment as a Wisconsin agent as representatives of Wood County to the 6th national congress concerning forestry and commerce which convenes at Washington, D. C., the 18th, 19th and 20th of the present month. It will make a delightful and instructive trip.

Mrs. P. P. Daly expects another carload of pianos about the 20th of this month. They will be from the famous Cable company, and as this is about the time of year to begin to look up a Christmas present it might be a good thing for anybody who has anything of this sort on their mind to go around and see Mrs. Daly about the matter. There is nothing nicer for a Christmas present than a piano, as it will please every member of the household. It will not cost a cent to investigate the matter. Terms and prices will be right.

The next annual meeting of the Central Wisconsin Teachers' Association will be held at Merrill.

The regular meeting of the Eastern Star will be held on Wednesday evening of this week. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Edward Young left last week for Rochester, Minn., to join her husband, who is engaged in installing an ice machine for the Grand Rapids Foundry Company in the Mayo Bros. hospital.

A. E. Sutor was in Milwaukee on Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Wisconsin State Democratic Press Association at the new Wisconsin Hotel. Mr. Sutor is secretary of the organization.

Joseph Mascha has sold his farm in the town of Rudolph to a party from Chicago who has taken possession of the place. Mr. Mascha and family have moved to Chicago, where they will make their future home.

Don't forget that Mrs. Daly is to receive another carload of pianos about the 20th of this month. You may be looking for something of the kind for a Christmas present, and if so, you will know where to look.

Miss Mary McMillan, who is attending the University of Wisconsin, was home to spend Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McMillan. Miss McMillan puts in a part of her time teaching, a class in mathematics at the University.

Up at Marshfield a bunch of humbugs was taken from a woman's stomach during a surgical operation, and the medical men there are at a loss to know where the humbugs came from. Probably if they examined her husband's head some light would be thrown on the matter.

The Elks held a social at their hall last Friday evening at which there was a good time as usual. The entertainment committee has planned to hold a social gathering at the hall about every two weeks during the winter months, and some good times may be looked for.

Miss Mollie Stahl, who has been with the Johnson & Hill Company for several years past as saleslady, has resigned her position and at present is visiting friends at Wausau. Miss Stahl was one of the popular salesladies at the big store and will be missed by the patrons of that institution.

If you want to keep tabs on what your cows are doing, that is if you have any cows, you should remember that you can secure record sheets at the Tribune office that are made especially for this purpose. They do not cost very much and they are something that every dairyman should have.

The deer season opened in Wisconsin on Tuesday morning and the indications are that there will be about the usual number of hunters in the woods and consequently about the usual number of deer being killed.

The trains passing thru here on Saturday, Sunday and Monday were fairly loaded with hunters bound for the north woods, and the only wonder is that the supply of deer hangs out as well as it does.

A. G. Pelker, the Marshfield candidate for mayor, who is being sued for slander by District Attorney Briere, has made a general denial of having made the statements which have been attributed to him. In the complaint Pelker is charged with having made the statement that the district attorney had been bought off from prosecuting the Grall shooting case which was to have come up at the last term of the circuit court, but which was put over until the adjourned session of court.

We want to say to our patrons and customers, there never was a better medicine made than Barker's for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh and Rheumatism. We can recommend it every time. Johnson & Hill Co. 4t

Prof. Schwede has turned over to the chief of police of this city the names of about forty youngsters in this city who are of school age but who have not been attending school. This is in accordance with the state law on the subject and it is the duty of the officers to look up the cases and if they do not have a pretty good reason for not attending school there will be some prosecutions. This same thing is being done in other places throughout the state and in many cases it is proving an expensive proposition for the parents, or guardian, who are supposed to see to it that the youngsters attend school.

Did you ever see the fog rise up from an old marsh or slough? We say to you now its actually nothing compared to the fog that rises up from sore, sweaty tired feet. But you can cure the feet with Barker's Antiseptic. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co. 4t

Mayor Cohen has received word from the rate commission to the effect that they will take up the matter of the Grand Rapids Electric Light Company some time after the 20th of this month. They have heretofore been too busy to look into the matter. It is expected that the commission will investigate the company, thoroughly and set a price at which the city shall pay for the plant when it decides to take it over in accordance with the election held last spring. It seems that the commission is not very busy in looking up and adjusting disputes and differences that crop up between the owners and patrons of public utility corporations in the state, and that there is always a large volume of work ahead of them.

Please take your cutters and sleighs to the Anderson Carriage Works and have them put in proper condition for winter use. 4t

The Tribune is in receipt of a booklet published by the Wisconsin Bureau of Immigration entitled "Making Good on New Soil" which is all about Wisconsin. It is profusely illustrated with views of farms in Wisconsin and would be a good thing for general distribution in the east and south where many people are figuring on moving to a newer country where land is cheap. There are many young men in the larger cities who would be glad to move to Wisconsin and take up a home on some of the land here if they knew how cheaply it could be done. Their only experience has been in states where the buying of 160 acres of land means the investment of a fairly good sized fortune, and they consider in a good many instances that Wisconsin is entirely out of the agricultural belt and not worth considering from an agricultural viewpoint. Could they see the pictures of the many magnificent farms in central and northern Wisconsin it would cause them to change their mind in a hurry.

All marvelous and new things pass thru three stages, ridicule, discussion, and adoption. Chiropractic has reached the third stage and is being adopted all over the world. Results are satisfactory. Consult the Chiropractor over Daly's Drug Store.

WINTER FIRES IN SCHOOL AND CHURCH

During the last fiscal year 19 church fires were reported to this office with a total loss of $23,100, and the same number of school building fires with a total damage of $56,435.

In each case six fires, nearly one-third of the whole number, were due to heating plant, smokepipe and chimney defects. The main defect reported is the proximity of stoves, furnaces, boilers, smokepipes and stacks, heat carrying pipes and registers to unprotected woodwork.

All these should be a safe distance from wood or the wood should be protected with metal over heavy asbestos. Metal alone is heated readily and may communicate fire to the woodwork underneath.

The management of the heating plant also constitutes a distinct fire danger in both classes of buildings. Often the janitor touches off a fire in the furnace, opens the draft, closes the fire door and hurries out to do his other work. The furnace, pipes and registers become overheated and ignite the woodwork. Neither does the janitor see or hear the smoke explosion or back draft that forces open the fire door and scatters the fire over wooden floors and partitions.

The public pays for the fuel and no economy of it is therefore usually practiced, and the whole heating plant and chimney are thus put to a much more severe test than in dwellings.

This again emphasizes the necessity of a particularly safe installation of heating plant and flues and a well-built, lined chimney, to withstand this extraordinary strain.

No woodwork in the floors or elsewhere should come in contact with the chimney.

Shingle roofs are especially dangerous on school buildings. Quantities of paper are burned in stoves and furnaces, carried up the flues and then set fire to the dry, fuzzy, moss-covered shingles.

The placing of furnaces near stairways is another menace, as this enables the fire to spread rapidly to the upper floors, and is liable to cut off the best means of exit.

Because of the great danger to human life by reason of fire or resultant panic and stampede these defects are unparadise in public buildings, and official neglect and indifference alone permits them to remain.

Let our fair state have no church or schoolhouse catastrophe.

CLEM P. HOST,
State Fire Marshal.

J. R. RAGAN
Licensed Embalmer and Undertaker
House phone No. 69, Store 213, Spafford's Building, East Side, John Brenner, Residence phone No. 435.

J. J. JEFFREY
LAWYER
Loans and Collections. Commercial and Probate Law. Office across from Church's drugstore. Telephone 251.

GOGGINS & BRAZEAU
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
Office in the MacKinnon Block on the West Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Wood Block, over post office, Telephone No. 31. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

CHAS. C. ROWLEY, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Office specialty Osteopathy, 14 MacKinnon Block, Phones 150 and 465.

Grand Rapids Veterinary Hospital
Dr. V. P. Norton, Prop.
The only fully equipped veterinary hospital in the city, having all the latest and most modern appliances to serve our patrons. Telephone 633, Residence 161.

B. M. VAUGHAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Money Lended, Real Estate bought and sold. Wood Block, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

J. A. GAYNOR
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over the Postoffice on the East Side. Will practice in all courts. Telephone No. 142.

W. E. WHEELAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Daly Block, East Side. Telephone No. 343. Grand Rapids, Wis.

GEO. W. BAKER & SON
UNDERTAKERS AND LICENSED EMBALMERS
North Second Street, East Grand Rapids, Wis. Business Phone 401, Night Calls 492.

DR. EDWARD HOUGEN
Physician and Surgeon
Located in Wood County National Bank building. Office hours as usual. Office phone 318.

Imaginary Heart Trouble
Do you have pain in the region of the heart? Does your heart thump? Its terrible pounding greatly alarms you? What is wrong? Do you believe these symptoms mean heart trouble? Organic diseases of the heart very seldom occasion much pain, but are deadly. Nine-tenths of the pain supposed to be in the heart are either in or caused by some derangement of the stomach. Often a dyspeptic imagines he has heart disease.

Meritol
FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH
Tonic Digestive
is recommended especially for dyspepsia and indigestion, and for restoring the stomach to its normal functions—and no more "heart trouble."

JOHN E. DALY
Exclusive Meritol Agency.

Oct. 23
Order. Limiting Time to Present No. 10.
Order. Notice to Creditors.

State of Wisconsin, Wood County, in County Court.

In the Matter of the Last Will of Geo. W. Baker, Deceased.

Letters testamentary on the last Will of Geo. W. Baker, late of the City of Grand Rapids, in said County of Wood, deceased, having been duly granted to Lizzie Baker and Geo. W. Baker, Jr., by this court.

IT IS ORDERED, That the time from the date hereof until and including the last Tuesday of April, 1914, be and the same is hereby fixed as the time within which all creditors of the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, shall present their claims for examination and allowance.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That all claims and demands of all persons against the said Geo. W. Baker, deceased, be examined and adjusted before said Court, at its Court room in the Court House in the City of Grand Rapids, in said County, at the regular term thereof appointed to be held on the first Tuesday of May, 1914, and all creditors are hereby notified thereof.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That notice of the time and place at which said claims and demands will be examined and adjusted as aforesaid, and of the time aforesaid for said creditors to present their claims and demands, be given by publishing a copy of this order and notice, for four consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in the County of Wood, the first publication to be within fifteen days of the date hereof.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court, this 25th day of October, 1913.

By the Court,
C. O. Baker and R. M. Vaughan, Attorneys for said estate, Grand Rapids, Wis.

D. A. TELFER
DENTIST
Office over Wood County National Bank on the East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone No. 290.

D. D. CONWAY
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Law, Loans and Collections. We have $2,000 which will be loaned at a low rate of interest. Office over First National Bank, East Side, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. Telephone 333.

EQUITABLE FRATERNAL UNION

Meets in Foresters Hall First and Third Thursdays of each month. R. A. Weeks, president; Wm. H. Burchell, secretary.

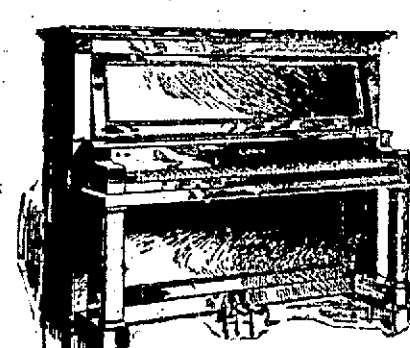

Through this life undermining your digestion eating heavy, soggy baked goods when by purchasing the Victoria Flour of your grocer you will always bake light, wholesome, nutritious, delicious bread, cakes and pastry? And, when the cost is no greater?

Say Victoria to the grocer next time and get the best flour.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

Christmas is Coming!

and it may be that you are figuring on making somebody a Christmas present of a piano. There is nothing nicer for the holidays than a present of this kind and it is none too early to commence looking the matter up. You cannot always decide just what you want in a minute, and there is nothing like having a good assortment to select from. We expect a

Carload of New Pianos

to arrive here about the 20th of this month, and that will be an excellent chance for you to pick out something that pleases you.

Come in and Let Us Show You.

MRS. F. P. DALY,

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

STEINBERG'S

Season's Greatest SALE!

Coats, Millinery, Dry Goods, Underwear, Men's and Boys' Furnishings, Shoes and Rubbers

Commences Saturday, Nov. 8th,
and Ends Nov. 18th

This sale is the greatest money saving event which we have ever given the public. Steinberg's sales are always money savers, but this time we have outdone all our previous efforts, and are giving merchandise of value at prices undreamed of before.

See Bills for Prices

Our First Fall Sale

Lets Get Acquainted! We realize it will cost us something, but we are willing to Sacrifice lose our profit to do so. We therefore offer our entire stock at a Sacrifice

VERY SPECIAL—25c Boston or Paris 19c VERY SPECIAL—Wool Socks worth 25c, during this sale 2 for.....25c

Sale Now On, and Ends Nov. 26th.

Our entire stock of $10, $15 and $20 men's and young men's Suits and Overcoats going at the following prices:

All $10.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$8.88
All $15.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$12.22
All $20.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$16.66
(This does not include blue or black serges)

SHIRTS

All 50c Shirts.....43c
All $1.00 Shirts.....89c
All $1.50 Shirts.....$1.29

SWEATERS

All $1.50 Sweaters.....$1.29
All $4.00 Sweaters.....$2.89
All $8.00 Sweaters.....$5.59
$2.50 Jersey Sweaters at.....$1.89

TROUSERS

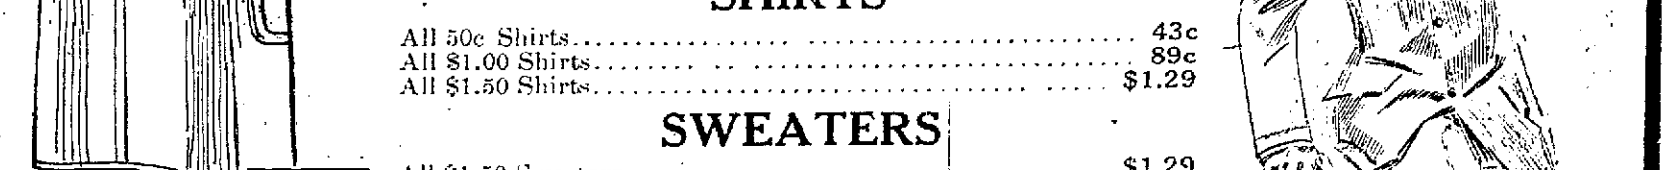

We bought a lot of mill end Trousers regular $4.00 to $5.00 values which we will sell as long as they last at.....$3.29

Special on Hats and Caps

All our $2.00 Hats at.....$1.49
All our $2.50 Hats at.....$1.98
All our $1.00 Caps at.....89c
All our $1.50 Caps at.....$1.19

Children's Department

All boys' $4.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$2.48
All boys' $5.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$3.89
All boys' $6.00 Suits and Overcoats at.....$4.89
All boys' $8.50 Suits and Overcoats at.....$6.89

Brauer Bros. Clothes Shop,

Second Street South
Grand Rapids, Wis.

MY FRIENDS SAID I Could Never Get Well Again. Thanks to Peruna I am Well.

Miss Clara Lohr, 21 North 40th St., Grand Rapids, Mich.: "Doctors said I had consumption. Weighed only 90 pounds. Commenced taking Peruna. Now weigh 135 pounds. I am so thankful for what Peruna has done for me."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely and gently on the liver. Stop after dinner. Dissolve in water. Indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature.

W. L. Douglas

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Men's $2.50 to $5.00
Women's $1.50 to $3.00
Misses, Boys, Children $1.00 to $2.00

1275 Ave. C, Grand Rapids, Mich.
Over 100 styles of shoes made to order. All styles of shoes made to order. All styles of shoes made to order.

Logical Conclusion.
A little girl was walking along the street with her mother, when she saw a man in a suit. It was the first time in her life that she had ever seen a man without an arm and she wanted to know all about it. Her mother explained, in answer to her questions, that the man had probably met with an accident of some kind and that his arm would never grow back. The little girl thought for a moment and then said, "Well, if the Lord made us, it seems to me he ought to keep us in repair—Judge."

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitch. In Use For Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Pa Explains.
That's a man's condition before he is married. So.

One thing this growing old country needs is a union suit guaranteed not to skid.—Columbus Journal

STOP THAT BACKACHE

There's nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. You are lame when you awake. Pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It is hard to rest and next day it's the same old story.

Pain in the back is nature's warning of illness. Neglect may cause the will to droop, gravel, or even serious kidney sickness.

Do not delay—begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. The remedy that has been curing backache and kidney trouble for over fifty years.

A MICHIGAN CASE

Five Picture Shows. Five Picture Shows. Five Picture Shows. Five Picture Shows. Five Picture Shows.

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. FOSTER MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS.

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS. FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS. FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS. FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS. FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS.

THERAPY

It is a free gift to you. It is a free gift to you. It is a free gift to you. It is a free gift to you. It is a free gift to you.

Milwaukee Directory

RUBBER and STEEL STAMPS. SEALS, STENCILS, ETC.

50 cents in postage stamps brings to you pre-paid card and rubber stamp of your name and address. A limit order for making books, cards, envelopes, etc. is also available. Send for catalogue. THE SCHWAB STAMP & SEAL COMPANY, Milwaukee, Wis.

RAT-EXIT

Most Economical. Ready in Self-Sealing Boxes. Rat-Exit. Rat-Exit. Rat-Exit. Rat-Exit. Rat-Exit.

GENTLEMEN'S TOWEES

4 PER CENT INTEREST BUYS. 4 PER CENT INTEREST BUYS. 4 PER CENT INTEREST BUYS. 4 PER CENT INTEREST BUYS. 4 PER CENT INTEREST BUYS.

WORTH PLAYING FOR

By AUGUSTUS GOODRICH SHERWIN

"What's the trouble, Lester?"

"Oh, nothing that money won't cure."

"You'd find it an infallible medicine, you think?"

"I know it," declared Lester Martin and proceeded on his way grumpy and dolorous.

Neal Dorman glanced almost pityingly at his friend. In a way they were rivals in love. That is both vile weekly the same young lady.

Maria Viola Morose though on different evenings Young Dorman however was a modest whole-souled fellow.

acknowledged himself the inferior of Martin in looks, dress and prospects and had more of hope than confidence in his composition.

He was thrifty and steady and he sometimes fancied that Viola rather admired those qualities. On the contrary Martin was always in debt, always grumbling at his hard fate and always living beyond his means.

A wonderful stroke of good luck, as he termed it, came to him that very afternoon. As he was passing the one office building of the town a figure at an upper window invited him. It was Mr. Snow the lawyer.

"Hey, Mr. Martin," he called down. "I want to see you at once."

"Some pressing creditor I suppose," grumbled Lester swinging up the stairs.

Sit down Mr. Martin. Invited Mr. Snow in a very agreeable tone. Then he moved his hand over towards a bundle of paper and selected one. I have heard from your grandfather.

continued the attorney. As you know, in your behalf I have tried to interest him as a relative and at least start you in some small business.

Yes, you commented Martin rapidly, his eyes glowing with eagerness.

as he noticed a buttoned check pinned to the document in the lawyer's hand.

He sends you one thousand dollars. He says he started in business on one half that amount. He does not encourage me to believe that he will do anything further for you but I presume your success or failure would be a test as to that.

So the mean old hunk has loosened up at last has he? railed Lester.

Mr. Snow looked shocked and disgusted. His visitor took the check as though he was doing somebody a favor.

The Horse Dashed Across the Field

and left the office overjoyed at being the possessor of the largest amount in cash he had ever owned but not one particle grateful for the favor conferred.

The day has come and gone when I lower my business (I want to start a little old-cure shop on my few hundred dollars he soliloquized contentedly. I'll have one grand fling, with that thousand dollars if I never have another. I'll take the chance that I can work the old boy for some more when that is gone, and he gave himself up to a wild dream of cutting a dash with the natives.

In going to do things up brown he secretly vinted. I'll give Viola the time of her life. Old Morose has a neat plum of a fortune and she's a stake worth playing for.

The foolish young man did what many a callow youth similarly circumstanced had done before him. There were new suits of clothes, some gorgeous neckties, a diamond pin and a removal from his former modest living quarters to a suite in the principal hotel of the place.

The first thought that Martin had once he had got over the initial glamour of posing as a gentleman of means and prospects was to think of Viola. He counted on astonishing that pretty maiden and her humble relatives with his liberality and magnificence.

A note came for Viola one morning inviting her to drive over to a theater party at a near by city in my new spider trap and Martin alluded to the high social standing of some of the others who would make up the party.

Martin was very much put out to receive a courteous but definite reply to the effect that Viola had no previous engagement. He did not realize that Viola was womanlike enough to realize that she would not appear to great advantage in her plain home-made gown among Martin's boasted gowns of wealth and fashion.

That evening Viola did indeed keep an engagement—a village musicale and Neal Dorman saw her home and his excellent company somewhat atoned for what Viola had missed.

For a week Martin sulked and did not come near the Morose home. One afternoon he drove up to the place in his elegant turnout. It was one he had leased for a month, but he did not that.

Viola had heard of some of his extravagances and her father, a practical old philosopher, had sat down hard on the young spendthrift. Still Viola was kind-hearted. She had appointed Martin as to the theater invitation and felt that it would be no harm to accept his company on the present occasion.

It was a pleasant enough drive, although Martin rather disgusted her with his boasting of all the money he was spending. Just as they were passing a bridge the horse took flight and veered.

"Oh, dear—take care," warned Viola.

The line has broken and with the words Martin leaped free of the vehicle. This upset, spilling Viola to the ground. The horse dashed across a field. A cry of pain came from Viola's lips.

"Hurt?" inquired Martin, but staring anxiously after the runaway.

I fear my ankle is sprained. Oh, Mr. Martin, I feel so faint! won't you try to get me home to mother?"

In a minute there a barbed wire fence at the end of the field. If the horse should run into that it would cost me a pretty penny, and off he dashed.

Poor Viola closed her eyes helplessly and in terrible pain. She felt herself at the point of swooning. Home was not far away but she could not possibly rise to her feet.

Why, Miss Morose?" cried an anxious voice, and running a wheelbarrow filled with bags before him.

A wonderful stroke of good luck, as he termed it, came to him that very afternoon. As he was passing the one office building of the town a figure at an upper window invited him. It was Mr. Snow the lawyer.

"Hey, Mr. Martin," he called down. "I want to see you at once."

"Some pressing creditor I suppose," grumbled Lester swinging up the stairs.

Sit down Mr. Martin. Invited Mr. Snow in a very agreeable tone. Then he moved his hand over towards a bundle of paper and selected one. I have heard from your grandfather.

continued the attorney. As you know, in your behalf I have tried to interest him as a relative and at least start you in some small business.

Yes, you commented Martin rapidly, his eyes glowing with eagerness.

as he noticed a buttoned check pinned to the document in the lawyer's hand.

He sends you one thousand dollars. He says he started in business on one half that amount. He does not encourage me to believe that he will do anything further for you but I presume your success or failure would be a test as to that.

So the mean old hunk has loosened up at last has he? railed Lester.

Mr. Snow looked shocked and disgusted. His visitor took the check as though he was doing somebody a favor.

The Horse Dashed Across the Field

and left the office overjoyed at being the possessor of the largest amount in cash he had ever owned but not one particle grateful for the favor conferred.

The day has come and gone when I lower my business (I want to start a little old-cure shop on my few hundred dollars he soliloquized contentedly. I'll have one grand fling, with that thousand dollars if I never have another. I'll take the chance that I can work the old boy for some more when that is gone, and he gave himself up to a wild dream of cutting a dash with the natives.

In going to do things up brown he secretly vinted. I'll give Viola the time of her life. Old Morose has a neat plum of a fortune and she's a stake worth playing for.

The foolish young man did what many a callow youth similarly circumstanced had done before him. There were new suits of clothes, some gorgeous neckties, a diamond pin and a removal from his former modest living quarters to a suite in the principal hotel of the place.

The first thought that Martin had once he had got over the initial glamour of posing as a gentleman of means and prospects was to think of Viola. He counted on astonishing that pretty maiden and her humble relatives with his liberality and magnificence.

A note came for Viola one morning inviting her to drive over to a theater party at a near by city in my new spider trap and Martin alluded to the high social standing of some of the others who would make up the party.

Martin was very much put out to receive a courteous but definite reply to the effect that Viola had no previous engagement. He did not realize that Viola was womanlike enough to realize that she would not appear to great advantage in her plain home-made gown among Martin's boasted gowns of wealth and fashion.

That evening Viola did indeed keep an engagement—a village musicale and Neal Dorman saw her home and his excellent company somewhat atoned for what Viola had missed.

For a week Martin sulked and did not come near the Morose home. One afternoon he drove up to the place in his elegant turnout. It was one he had leased for a month, but he did not that.

Viola had heard of some of his extravagances and her father, a practical old philosopher, had sat down hard on the young spendthrift. Still Viola was kind-hearted. She had appointed Martin as to the theater

IN COLOR COMBINATION

NEW MILLINERY HAS A CHARM OF ITS OWN.

Small Hat is Most in Favor—For Trimmings, Feathers and Ribbon Are Preferred—Illustration Shows Popular Design.

There is much to be said in favor of the new millinery, for, although many, perhaps the majority of hats seem almost ridiculous in their eccentricities, as they are viewed from their pedestals in the glass cases of the shops, they are certainly picturesque and conservative enough when properly adjusted atop of the head.

The new hats show the interesting color combinations so fashionable in gowns. Many models have either the crown and brim of different colors, or else the crown and brim are one of color with an under facing that is in strong contrast.

Almost without exception the hats are small with close-fitting crown and brims—if there are brims—that hug the head. The trimmings are legion, with feathers and ribbons in the lead.

Most of the dressy models are planned to give extra height and the result is achieved through the trimmings as in the hat here sketched with its large mount of black plumage toward the rear. The hat itself is one of the new "fan tailed" shapes with a close "cap crown slightly gathered and a narrow poke brim that increases in width at the back, where it is turned abruptly up against the crown allowing a glimpse of the color.

On this particular instance it is developed in black and white. The shape of a heart, measuring three and a quarter inches by two and three quarter inches. This cardboard is half padded on both sides with cotton wool and then covered with scarlet velvet. The pieces of material being neatly sewn together at the edges and the seam afterwards being hidden with a fine silk cord of an old gold color. Sewn in at the center at the top is a loop of narrow ribbon of a color to match the cord, for hanging up the cushion.

This cushion might, of course be carried out in other combinations of color to please different tastes and it is a specially suitable little article to prepare for sale in a bazaar as very little material is required in the making of it, and it should sell at a good profit. A number of these little cushions, hung about here and there will form a decorative addition to a stall, and some of them might be embroidered with pretty floral designs or single initials.

Rings Tear Stockings.

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and broken stitches and imagine that the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand when the stockings while rings are on the fingers. These rings and the stones in them catch the tiny threads and break them causing the damage.

Darning Hint.

Instead of darning, cut the hole round or oblong as the case may be. Place over a darning ball, then cut from an old stocking a piece to fit the hole. Place in care being taken to have the threads in patch run the same as in the stocking. Then with a fine needle and one strand of darning cotton darn neatly back and forth bringing the edges just together.

To Clean Light Woolen.

Make a mixture of cornmeal, a handful of borax and half a cake of magnesia. Mix this dry and scrub the goods with it. To clean wool shawls, sweaters, etc. sprinkle the mixture over the garment place inside a sheet folded several times and beat lightly. It is surprising how much the borax assists in the cleaning process.

FOR THE AFTERNOON TEA

Hostess Must Be Quick to Pick Up Ideas Others May Be Able to Give Her.

The clever hostess knows there is no safer way to get ahead of the times in the matter of afternoon teas accessories than to pay frequent visits to the big hotels and restaurants at the tea hour. Almost each hotel or restaurant has its special one or two dishes that are served at the tea hour. These are the dishes that are served at the tea hour. These are the dishes that are served at the tea hour.

Useful in the House Work

Extensive Pockets in Which Many Articles May Be Bestowed Are Worth Consideration

For such occupations as housework the older the garments worn the better for the obvious reason that good clothes would be quickly soiled, therefore an old skirt that doesn't matter should especially be set aside for the purpose.

Pretty Things Easy to Make

Newest Lace Garters Not at All Hard to Fashion by Many Clever Women

It seems that the designers and manufacturers never tire of inventing new and ravishing trifles for the feminine wardrobe. The woman of unlimited means haunts them with delight but the average woman of slender purse gazes wistfully away and carries with her a haunted memory of the unattainable—that is, the woman who has not cultivated clever fingers.

Not so the woman whose eyes have been to see to her fingers a twitching and a fashioning. It is never too late to begin and a pair of lace-trimmed garters which grace an importer's window a few days ago are easily copied.

Get a strip of plain silk rubber in pink or white three-quarters of an inch wide and long enough for two garters. Cut the strip in half but do not sew up the garters as yet. Now take a piece of shadow lace insertion

PINCUSHION IN HEART SHAPE

Dainty Design That Calls for Little Work to Make Attractive Ornament.

Our sketch shows a decorative little pin cushion which is very simple and easy to make. It should be carried out in quite a small size, and it is intended for hanging from the post of the looking glass or a nail in the wall by the side of the glass.

In making it, in the first place, a piece of cardboard is cut out in the shape of a heart, measuring three and a quarter inches by two and three quarter inches. This cardboard is half padded on both sides with cotton wool and then covered with scarlet velvet. The pieces of material being neatly sewn together at the edges and the seam afterwards being hidden with a fine silk cord of an old gold color. Sewn in at the center at the top is a loop of narrow ribbon of a color to match the cord, for hanging up the cushion.

This cushion might, of course be carried out in other combinations of color to please different tastes and it is a specially suitable little article to prepare for sale in a bazaar as very little material is required in the making of it, and it should sell at a good profit. A number of these little cushions, hung about here and there will form a decorative addition to a stall, and some of them might be embroidered with pretty floral designs or single initials.

Rings Tear Stockings.

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and broken stitches and imagine that the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand when the stockings while rings are on the fingers. These rings and the stones in them catch the tiny threads and break them causing the damage.

Darning Hint.

Instead of darning, cut the hole round or oblong as the case may be. Place over a darning ball, then cut from an old stocking a piece to fit the hole. Place in care being taken to have the threads in patch run the same as in the stocking. Then with a fine needle and one strand of darning cotton darn neatly back and forth bringing the edges just together.

To Clean Light Woolen.

Make a mixture of cornmeal, a handful of borax and half a cake of magnesia. Mix this dry and scrub the goods with it. To clean wool shawls, sweaters, etc. sprinkle the mixture over the garment place inside a sheet folded several times and beat lightly. It is surprising how much the borax assists in the cleaning process.

FOR THE AFTERNOON TEA

Hostess Must Be Quick to Pick Up Ideas Others May Be Able to Give Her.

The clever hostess knows there is no safer way to get ahead of the times in the matter of afternoon teas accessories than to pay frequent visits to the big hotels and restaurants at the tea hour. Almost each hotel or restaurant has its special one or two dishes that are served at the tea hour. These are the dishes that are served at the tea hour. These are the dishes that are served at the tea hour.

Useful in the House Work

Extensive Pockets in Which Many Articles May Be Bestowed Are Worth Consideration

For such occupations as housework the older the garments worn the better for the obvious reason that good clothes would be quickly soiled, therefore an old skirt that doesn't matter should especially be set aside for the purpose.

Pretty Things Easy to Make

Newest Lace Garters Not at All Hard to Fashion by Many Clever Women

It seems that the designers and manufacturers never tire of inventing new and ravishing trifles for the feminine wardrobe. The woman of unlimited means haunts them with delight but the average woman of slender purse gazes wistfully away and carries with her a haunted memory of the unattainable—that is, the woman who has not cultivated clever fingers.

Not so the woman whose eyes have been to see to her fingers a twitching and a fashioning. It is never too late to begin and a pair of lace-trimmed garters which grace an importer's window a few days ago are easily copied.

Get a strip of plain silk rubber in pink or white three-quarters of an inch wide and long enough for two garters. Cut the strip in half but do not sew up the garters as yet. Now take a piece of shadow lace insertion

TOO FEW SPECIAL SUNDAYS

Move to Secure Co-Operation of Churches in Effort at Social Betterment.

In a report on social Sundays suggested to be observed by all of the churches in the United States, the special committee which investigated the subject says:

"One of the results of this investigation was the revelation that the number of special social Sundays now being observed on a national scale is much smaller than has been generally supposed. Only six special Sundays not specifically designated by the calendar are at present observed on any considerable scale throughout the country. These are Child Labor Sunday, Mothers' Day, Peace Sunday, Labor Sunday, Prison Sunday and Teachers' Day. The other special Sundays in the calendar given above are all fixed by certain national or religious holidays, such as Washington's birthday, Memorial Day or Christmas."

The report of the committee will be submitted to the Federal Council of Churches, representing most of the Protestant denominations, to the Roman Catholic church authorities, to the Jewish church authorities and to all other church organizations which can be interested in this movement. The aim of the report is to secure the co-operation of all of the churches of the country in movements for social betterment.

SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

Greenwood, Ind.—First my hair began to fall, then my scalp itched and burned when I became warm. I had pimples on my scalp, my hair was falling out gradually until I had scarcely any hair on my head. I couldn't keep the dandruff off at all. My hair was dry and lifeless and I lost rest at night from the terrible itching sensation. I would pull my hat off and scratch my head any place I happened to be.

"For several years I was bothered with pimples on my face. Some of them were hard red spots, some were full of matter, and many blackheads. I was always picking at them and caused them to be sore. They made my face look so badly I was ashamed to be seen."

I tried massage creams for my face and all kinds of hair tonic and home-made remedies, but they only made things worse. Nothing did the work until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my face with the Cuticura Soap, then put plenty of Cuticura Ointment on. Three months' use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment has made my face as smooth and clean as can be." (Signed) C. M. Hamilton, Sept. 24, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32 p. Skin Book. Address postcard: Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston.—Adv.

Honesty of Childhood.

A lady told me of her two-month-old baby met a neighbor's boy and asked them if they wouldn't like to see the baby.

The little fellows, highly elated at the invitation, tipped their chins over the edge of the baby buggy when the younger broke forth.

"Oh, isn't he cute?" He looks just like the little monkeys we saw in the park."

No, Harold, protested the older brother, nudging the little four-year-old. He doesn't look like a monkey. No, Harold, no, he doesn't look like a monkey."

All the time he kept up a vicious nudging at little Harold, who seeing a great light dawn, suddenly corrected his blunder by explaining, "Well, I just meant his face—Judge."

JUDGE CURED, HEART TROUBLE.

I took about 6 boxes of Dods Kidney Pills for Heart Trouble from which I had suffered for 5 years. I had dizzy spells, my eyes puffed, my breath was short and I had chills and back ache. I took the pills about a year ago and have had no return of the palpitations. Am now 63 years old, able to do lots of manual labor, am well and hearty and weigh about 200 pounds. I feel very grateful that I found Dods Kidney Pills and will publish this letter if you wish. I am serving my third term as Probate Judge of Gray Co. You're truly,

PHILIP MILLER, Cinnaroon, Kan.

Correspond with Judge Miller about this wonderful remedy.

Dods Kidney Pills, 50c per box at your dealer or Dods Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free.

Same Old Suit.

Hemmandshaw—There is an interesting article on dress.

What's Hemmandshaw—What is it all about?

H—A lecturer describes the clothes which women will be wearing 100 years from now.

Mrs. H—Huh! That doesn't interest me a particle.

H—Why not?

Mrs. H—Because unless something wonderful happens I will still be wearing the same old blue velvet suit I've had ever since we were married—Youngstown Telegram.

The Idea.

There ought never to be an electric overcharge possible.

Because it has to be supplied at current prices.

Accounted For.

Jinks is such a croaker. I know

MY FRIENDS SAID I Could Never Get Well Again. Thanks to Peruna I am Well.

Miss Clara Lehr, 21 North Gold St., Grand Rapids, Mich.: "Doctors said I had consumption. I weighed only 90 pounds. Commenced taking Peruna. Now weigh 135 pounds. I am so thankful for what Peruna has done for me."

Those who object to liquid medicine can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief—Permanent Cure
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes. SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature

W. L. DOUGLAS

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Men's $3.00 to $5.00
Women's $2.00 to $4.00
Children's $1.00 to $2.00

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

WORTH PLAYING FOR

By AUGUSTUS GOODRICH SHERWIN.

"What's the trouble, Lester?"
"Oh, nothing that money won't cure."
"You'd find it an infallible medicine, you think?" declared Lester Martin, and proceeded on his way grumpy and dolorous.

Neal Dorman glanced almost pityingly after his friend. In a way they were rivals in love. That is, both lived weekly the same young lady, Miss Viola Morse, though on different evenings. Young Dorman, however, acknowledged himself the inferior of Martin in looks, dress and prospects and had more of hope than confidence in his composition.

He was thrifty and steady, and he sometimes fancied that Viola rather admired those qualities. On the contrary, Martin was always in debt, always grumbling at his hard fate and always living beyond his means.

A wonderful stroke of "good luck," as he termed it, came to him that very afternoon. As he was passing the office building of the town a figure at an upper window halted him. It was Mr. Snow, the lawyer.

"Hey, Mr. Martin," he called down. "I want to see you at once."

"Some pressing creditor, I suppose," grumbled Lester, swinging up the stairs.

"Sit down, Mr. Martin," invited Mr. Snow in a very agreeable tone. Then he moved his hand over towards a bundle of papers and selected one.

"I have heard from your grandfather," continued the attorney. "As you know, in your behalf I have tried to interest him as a relative and at least start you in some small business."

"Yes, yes," commented Martin, rapidly, his eyes glowing with eagerness as he noticed a fluttering check pinned to the document in the lawyer's hand.

"He sends you one thousand dollars. He says he started in business on one-half that amount. He does not encourage me to believe that he will do anything further for you, but, I presume your success or failure would be a test as to that."

"So the mean old hunk has loosened up at last, has he?" railed Lester.

Mr. Snow looked shocked and disgusted. His visitor took the check as though he was doing somebody a favor.

The Horse Dashed Across the Field.

Ver, and left the office overjoyed at being the possessor of the largest amount in cash he had ever owned, but not one particle grateful for the favor conferred.

"The day has come and gone when I lower my business talents to start a little obscure shop on any old street," declared Lester, with a contemptuous sneer. "I'll have one grand gift with that thousand dollars, if I never have another. I'll take the chance that I can work the old boy for some more when that is gone, and he gave himself up to a wild dream of 'cutting a dash with the natives.'"

"I'm going to do things up brown," he secretly vowed. "I'll give Viola the time of her life. Old Morse has a neat plum of a fortune and she's a stake worth playing for."

The foolish young man did what many a callow youth similarly circumstanced had done before him. There were new suits, a diamond pin and a removal from his former modest living quarters to a suite in the principal hotel of the place.

The first thought that Martin had, once he had got over the initial glamour of posing as a gentleman of means and prospects, was to think of Viola. He counted on astonishing that pretty maiden and her humble relatives with his liberality and magnificence.

A note came for Viola one morning inviting her to drive over to a theater party at a near by city in a new spider trap, and Martin alluded to the high social standing of some of the others who would make up the party.

Martin was very much put out to receive a courteous but definite refusal to the effect that Viola had a previous engagement. He did not realize that Viola was womanlike enough to realize that she would not appear to much advantage in plain home-made gown among Martin's boasted devotees of wealth and fashion.

That evening Viola did indeed keep an engagement—a village musicale, and Neal Dorman saw her home and his excellent company, somewhat atoned for what Viola had missed.

For a week the Martin suit and did not come near the Morse home one afternoon he drove up to the place in his elegant turnout. It was one he had leased for a month, but he did not tell that.

Viola had heard of some of his extravagances and her father, a practical old philosopher, had said, "Don't let the girl see him. He'll ruin her."

Viola was heartily disappointed. Still, she was disappointed. She had disappointed Martin as to the theater.

Old London Landmark to Go.

Suit by the French Huguenots seeking refuge from France at the time of the Edict of Nantes of 1685, and having passed from them to the Church of England, and now in the hands of the Congregationalists, the quaint old chapel of Orange street, London, is about to close its doors to the world.

Many notable preachers have occupied its pulpit, among others Toplady, who wrote "Rock of Ages" during his ministry. Rev. Samuel Luke was also minister for some years, and it was his wife who wrote "I think when I read that sweet story of old."

An original copy of the hymn in the author's handwriting is one of the treasured possessions of the church.

London's Big Postal Tube.

London's proposed postal tube is to be a half mile in diameter and six and a half miles long. It is to be fitted for two tracks, each two feet wide, carry electric trucks operated by motors. The line proposed will be constructed throughout in the London clay.

London's proposed postal tube is to be a half mile in diameter and six and a half miles long. It is to be fitted for two tracks, each two feet wide, carry electric trucks operated by motors. The line proposed will be constructed throughout in the London clay.

IN COLOR COMBINATION

NEW MILLINERY HAS A CHARM OF ITS OWN

Small Hat is Most in Favor—For Trimmings, Feathers and Ribbon Are Preferred

Shows Popular Design.

There is much to be said in favor of the new millinery, for, although many perhaps the majority of hats seem almost ridiculous in their eccentricities, as they are viewed from their pedestals in the glass cases of the shops, they are certainly picturesque and conservative enough when properly adjusted atop of the head.

The new hats show the interesting color combinations so fashionable in gowns. Many models have either the crown and brim of different colors, or else the crown and brim are one of color with an under-facing that is in strong contrast.

Almost without exception the hats are small, with close-fitting crown and brim—if there are brims—that hug the head. The trimmings are legion, with feathers and ribbons in the lead.

Most of the dressy models are planned to give extra height, and the result is achieved through the trimmings, as in the hat here sketched with its large mount of black plumage toward the rear. The hat itself is one of the new "fan-tailed" shapes with a close "cap" crown slightly gathered, and a narrow peak brim that increases in width at the back, where it is turned abruptly up against the crown, allowing a glimpse of the coil.

On this particular instance it is developed in black and white. The shape of a heart, measuring three and a quarter inches by two and three-quarter inches. This cardboard is well padded on both sides with cotton velvet, the pieces of material being neatly sewn together at the edges and the seam afterwards being hidden with a fine silk cord of an old gold color. Sewn in at the center at the top is a loop of narrow ribbon of the color to match the cord, for hanging up the cushion.

This cushion might, of course, be carried out in other combinations of color to please different tastes, and it is a specially suitable little article to prepare for sale in a bazaar, as very little material is required in the making of it. A number of these little cushions, hung about here and there will form a decorative addition to a stall, and some of them might be embroidered with pretty floral designs or single initials.

Rings Tear Stockings.

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and broken stitches and imagine that the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand within the stockings while rings are on the fingers. These rings and the stones in them catch the tiny threads and break them, causing the damage.

Darning Hint.

Instead of darning, cut the hole round or oblong, as the case may be. Place over a darning ball, then cut from an old stocking a piece to fit the hole, place in, care being taken to have the threads in patch run the same as the stocking. Then with a fine needle, and one strand of darning cotton, darn neatly back and forth, bringing the edges just together.

To Clean Light Woolen.

Make a mixture of cornmeal, a handful of borax and half a cake of magnesia. Mix this dry and scrub the goods with it. To clean wool shawls, sweaters, etc., sprinkle the mixture over the garment, place inside a sheet folded several times and beat lightly. It is surprising how much the borax assists in the cleaning process.

FOR THE AFTERNOON TEA

Hostess Must Be Quick to Pick Up Ideas Others May Be Able to Give Her.

The clever hostess knows there is no surer way to keep abreast of the times in the matter of afternoon tea accessories than to pay frequent visits to the big hotels and restaurants at the tea hour. Almost each hotel or restaurant has its "special." One establishment serves delicately crisped squares of graham bread, sprinkled ever so lightly with grated cheese and dusted with just a bit of paprika. It is the sort of treat to make one wonder what is responsible for the subtle flavor.

The home caterer need have no hesitancy in trying to duplicate the dainty nut wafers known at the fashionable tea-drinking establishments as "hickorycakes" and "pecanecakes." These are easily made; the ingredients are simple, and the little cakes are browned with a dash of sherry or a few drops of brandy to accentuate the nutty flavor. Either in the form of macaroons or wafers they are sure to be liked for the tea table.

USEFUL IN THE HOUSE WORK

Extensive Pockets in Which Many Articles May Be Bestowed Are Worth Consideration.

For such occupations as housework the older garments worn the best for the obvious reason that good clothes would be quickly soiled, therefore an old skirt that "doesn't matter" should especially be set aside for the purpose.

PRETTY THINGS EASY TO MAKE

Newest Lace Garters Not at All Hard to Fashion by Many Clever Women.

It seems that the designers and manufacturers never tire of inventing new and ravishing trifles for the feminine wardrobe. The woman of upper means will hail them with delight. But the average woman of slender purse gazes wistfully away, and carries with her a haunted memory of the unattainable—that is, the woman who has not cultivated clever fingers.

Not so the woman whose eyes but have to stare at the fingers of a switchblade and a fashioning. It is never too late to begin, and a pair of lace-trimmed garters which graced an importer's window a few days ago are easily copied.

Fancy Corks.

Corks moulded in silver are shown in many fashions. Some have little champagne bottles in silver pails filled with glass cubes to look like ice. Some are surmounted with small silver chandeliers.

PINCUSHION IN HEART SHAPE

Dainty Design That Calls for Little Work to Make Attractive Ornament

Our sketch shows a decorative little pin cushion which is very simple and easy to make. It should be carried out in quite a small size, and it is intended for hanging from the post of the looking glass or a nail in the wall by the side of the glass.

In making it, in the first place, a piece of cardboard is cut out in the shape of a heart, measuring three and a quarter inches by two and three-quarter inches. This cardboard is well padded on both sides with cotton velvet, the pieces of material being neatly sewn together at the edges and the seam afterwards being hidden with a fine silk cord of an old gold color. Sewn in at the center at the top is a loop of narrow ribbon of the color to match the cord, for hanging up the cushion.

This cushion might, of course, be carried out in other combinations of color to please different tastes, and it is a specially suitable little article to prepare for sale in a bazaar, as very little material is required in the making of it. A number of these little cushions, hung about here and there will form a decorative addition to a stall, and some of them might be embroidered with pretty floral designs or single initials.

Rings Tear Stockings.

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and broken stitches and imagine that the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand within the stockings while rings are on the fingers. These rings and the stones in them catch the tiny threads and break them, causing the damage.

Darning Hint.

Instead of darning, cut the hole round or oblong, as the case may be. Place over a darning ball, then cut from an old stocking a piece to fit the hole, place in, care being taken to have the threads in patch run the same as the stocking. Then with a fine needle, and one strand of darning cotton, darn neatly back and forth, bringing the edges just together.

To Clean Light Woolen.

Make a mixture of cornmeal, a handful of borax and half a cake of magnesia. Mix this dry and scrub the goods with it. To clean wool shawls, sweaters, etc., sprinkle the mixture over the garment, place inside a sheet folded several times and beat lightly. It is surprising how much the borax assists in the cleaning process.

FOR THE AFTERNOON TEA

Hostess Must Be Quick to Pick Up Ideas Others May Be Able to Give Her.

The clever hostess knows there is no surer way to keep abreast of the times in the matter of afternoon tea accessories than to pay frequent visits to the big hotels and restaurants at the tea hour. Almost each hotel or restaurant has its "special." One establishment serves delicately crisped squares of graham bread, sprinkled ever so lightly with grated cheese and dusted with just a bit of paprika. It is the sort of treat to make one wonder what is responsible for the subtle flavor.

The home caterer need have no hesitancy in trying to duplicate the dainty nut wafers known at the fashionable tea-drinking establishments as "hickorycakes" and "pecanecakes." These are easily made; the ingredients are simple, and the little cakes are browned with a dash of sherry or a few drops of brandy to accentuate the nutty flavor. Either in the form of macaroons or wafers they are sure to be liked for the tea table.

USEFUL IN THE HOUSE WORK

Extensive Pockets in Which Many Articles May Be Bestowed Are Worth Consideration.

For such occupations as housework the older garments worn the best for the obvious reason that good clothes would be quickly soiled, therefore an old skirt that "doesn't matter" should especially be set aside for the purpose.

PRETTY THINGS EASY TO MAKE

Newest Lace Garters Not at All Hard to Fashion by Many Clever Women.

It seems that the designers and manufacturers never tire of inventing new and ravishing trifles for the feminine wardrobe. The woman of upper means will hail them with delight. But the average woman of slender purse gazes wistfully away, and carries with her a haunted memory of the unattainable—that is, the woman who has not cultivated clever fingers.

Not so the woman whose eyes but have to stare at the fingers of a switchblade and a fashioning. It is never too late to begin, and a pair of lace-trimmed garters which graced an importer's window a few days ago are easily copied.

Fancy Corks.

Corks moulded in silver are shown in many fashions. Some have little champagne bottles in silver pails filled with glass cubes to look like ice. Some are surmounted with small silver chandeliers.

TOO FEW SPECIAL SUNDAYS

Move to Secure Co-Operation of Churches in Effort at Social Betterment

In a report on social Sundays suggested to be observed by all of the churches in the United States, the special committee which investigated the subject says:

"One of the results of this investigation was the revelation that the number of special social Sundays now being observed on a national scale is much smaller than has been generally supposed. Only six special Sundays not specifically designated by the calendar are at present observed on any considerable scale throughout the country. These are Child Labor Sunday, Mothers' day, Peace Sunday, Labor Sunday, Prison Sunday and Tuberculosis day. The other special Sundays in the calendar given above are all fixed by certain national or religious holidays, such as Washington's birthday, Memorial day or Christmas."

The report of the committee will be submitted to the Federal Council of Churches, representing most of the Protestant denominations, to the Roman Catholic church authorities, to the Jewish church authorities and to all other church organizations which are interested in this movement. The aim of the report is to secure the co-operation of all of the churches of the country in movements for social betterment.

SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

Greenwood, Ind.—"First my hair began to fall, then my scalp itched and burned when I became warm. I had pimples on my scalp; my hair was falling out gradually until I had scarcely any hair on my head. I couldn't keep the dandruff off at all. My hair was dry and lifeless and I lost rest at night from the terrible itching sensation. I would pull my hair out and scratch my head any place I happened to hit."

"For several years I was bothered with pimples on my face. Some of them were hard red spots, some were full of matter, and many blackheads. I was always picking at them and caused them to be sore. They made my face look so badly I was ashamed to be seen."

"I tried massage creams for my face and all kinds of hair tonic and home-made remedies, but they only made things worse. Nothing did the work until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my face with the Cuticura Soap, then put plenty of Cuticura Ointment on my face. Three months later my face was smooth and clear as can be." (Signed) C. M. Hamilton, Sept. 24, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Honesty of Childhood.

A lady, out wheeling her two-months-old baby, met a neighbor's boys and asked them if they wouldn't like to see the baby.

The little fellows, highly elated at the invitation, tipped their chins over the edge of the baby buggy, when the younger broke forth:

"Oh, isn't he cute! He looks just like the little monkeys we saw in the park!"

"No, Harold," protested the older brother, nudging the little four-year-old. "He doesn't look like a monkey. No, Harold, no, he doesn't look like a monkey!"

All the time he kept up a vicious nudging at little Harold, who, seeing a great light dawn, suddenly corrected his blunder by explaining: "Well, I just meant his face."—Judge.

JUDGE CURED HEART TROUBLE.

I took about 6 boxes of Dodds Kidney Pills for Heart Trouble from which I had suffered for 5 years. I had dizzy spells, my eyes pained, my head ached, my heart was weak and I had chills and backache. I took the pills about a year ago and have had no return of the palpitations. Am now 63 years old and able to do lots of manual labor, am well and hearty and weigh about 200 pounds. I feel very grateful that I found Dodds Kidney Pills and you may publish this letter if you wish. I am serving my third term as Probate Judge of Gray Co., Iowa, truly, PHILIP MILLER, Gimarron, Kan.

Correspond with Judge Miller about this wonderful remedy.

Dodds Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free. Adv.

Same Old Suit.

Hemmandhaw—Here is an interesting article on dress.

Mrs. Hemmandhaw—What is it all about?

H—A lecturer describes the clothes which women will be wearing 100 years from now.

Mrs. H—Huh! That doesn't interest me a particle.

H—Why not?

Mrs. H—Because, unless something wonderful happens, I will still be wearing the same old blue velvet suit I've had ever since we were married.—Youngstown Telegram.

The Idea.

"There ought never to be an electrical overcharge possible."

"Because it has to be supplied at current prices."

Accounted For.

"Jinks is such a croaker."

"I know why. He told me yesterday he had a frog in his throat."

Coughs vanish in a night. Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops soothe the throat, relieving a speedy cure—See at all Druggists.

Operations often necessary—for surgeons in straitened circumstances.—Life.

More Consistent.

"Would you call Dibbs lazy?"

"No, I would merely say that he has the fisherman's temperament."

Paw Knows Everything.

Willie—Paw, what is a frog mink?

Paw—An unmarried man's son.

Maw—You go to bed, Willie.

What So Precious As a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion if Given a Good Baby Laxative.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But, as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy, very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Thousands make it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is safe in its effect, and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them, reliable people like Mrs. James R. House, of Marinette, Wis. Her little son Howard was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since Mrs. House has been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all his trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid catarrhs, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Rheumatism, Sprains Backache, Neuralgia

"Yes, daughter, that's good stuff. The pain in my back for some time I went to a doctor but he said I must have a bottle of Sloan

NORTHERN WISCONSIN TO

BE SEARCHED FOR IRON ORE

Chippewa Times.—The iron manufacturers have been so busy prospecting for iron over in Minnesota, and have been so successful that they have not cared to devote any time to other northern states, no matter how rich and inviting the field.

It is only within the past few weeks that they were attracted to Northern Wisconsin by specimens furnished them and showing richness in iron far beyond their expectations. In order to give the country from Birchwood to the Chippewa river going over the companies that contract the iron industry have taken options on all lands owned by the Arpin Lumber company at Bruce and other large holders in Hark and Chippewa counties. The putting of a large crew of men to work in the vicinity of Birchwood has had the effect of causing a slight advance in the wild lands in that vicinity and considerable gossip and speculation as to the outcome. While we would not advise haste in buying or selling lands in the territory mapped out by the prospectors it might be well for those owning property to be careful to safeguard their options. That there is iron all over this northern country has long since been proven but whether it is of a high grade and in sufficient quantities to be worked is another thing. In the vicinity of Baraboo where the Steel trust has bought a great deal of land and are expending a great deal of money putting down shafts and operating it is claimed that the Steel company is well satisfied with the showing thus far made and those who claim to be on the inside say that within the next few years the Baraboo country will prove one of the richest iron ore deposits that has ever been opened up in Wisconsin. The Arpin Lumber Co. that has been the first to sign leases has for years been satisfied that there were rich ore deposits in this part of the state and it was largely through their efforts that the Steel Trust began their investigation. Owing to the near approach of winter it is not believed that any great amount of work will be done until spring. The crews now in the field will simply map out the lines to be followed by the experts who have already gone over the field and estimated themselves as to the richness of the ore discovered. Hon. Charles Donahue of New Richmond who has spent a part of his life as a mineral prospector in this northern country, long ago called the public attention to the fact that Northern Wisconsin had some rich iron deposits and we believe has holdings along the line that is to be followed by the prospectors of the Steel company. Like all pioneers in such work but little weight was given to Mr. Donahue's investigations but it begins to look as if his predictions would be realized and the country in which he has spent the greatest part of his life would be the richest section of Wisconsin.

BROKE A RIB ON TRAIN.

Plainfield Sun.—While on his way to Plainfield Wednesday, R. A. Weeks of Grand Rapids sustained a broken rib, as a result of a quick stop of the freight just before pulling into the depot. He was thrown against the stove, and several others were quite badly hurt, one going through a window.

COLD WAVES

have no terrors for the man with the new Winter overcoat. Mighty comfortable sensation on a cold morning to slip into a warm coat—turn the collar up and bury your hands deep in roomy pockets. Particularly when the cut of the overcoat is irreprehensible, the hang of the sleeve graceful—the set of the collar correct and the pockets the kind that don't sag.

Single-breasted coats—44 and 46 inches long, with and without velvet collars. Box and semi-fitting backs. Smart coats that have caught the popular fancy—Vicunas, Kerseys and fancy mixtures $15 to $30.

Single and double-breasted overcoats with shawl collars, belt backs. Chinchillas fancy back materials $15 to $30.00.

Convertible collar overcoats—practical and stylish garments that commend themselves for business and dress. Button up the collar when you're cold, open it and turn back the lapels if the day is mild. Button through coats generously cut—50 inches long. Attractive new weaves, all colors $12.50 to $25.00.

Nobby overcoats that are pulling strong with the younger set. Shawl collars and inverted center plates—46 inches long—belted backs. Chinchillas, furies and fancy chevrons $18.00 to $30.00.

Boys' Sweaters. Mothers know that they can make their boys put on sweaters when they simply won't wear coats. We're showing a large assortment of sweaters in various shades and weights 75c to $3.00.

Abel & Podawiltz Company

Outfitters for All Mankind.

Grand Rapids, Wis.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE

KELLNER

Tom Applebee took dinner with his grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ramsey on Thursday, on his way to Minnesota.

A deer hunting party, consisting of the following persons: G. H. Munroe,

Rev. Monique, Max Eberhardt and

John Yetter, left Monday morning for Ladysmith.

Mrs. C. Zettler who was very sick with heart trouble has recovered at this writing.

John Glebbe has sold his farm and will move to Grand Rapids in the near future. If the report is true Mr. Julius

Krueger has also sold out.

After a pleasant visit with relatives at Nekoma and Ladysmith Mr. and Mrs. T. Fay have returned to our burg and will visit with the G. H. Munroe family till Mr. Munroe returns from the north with his gun.

Rev. A. Krusche made a professional call at Grand Rapids Tuesday afternoon.

Everybody is wondering why Ed

Johnson has such a big smile on his face. Come to find out he became grandfather Monday morning.

Albert Timm went to Stevens Point

Monday, where he will attend the county board meeting for two weeks.

ALTDORF

Henry and George Huser came home from Minnesota last week where they had been working on a dredge.

Minor Dickoff and Ernest Oberbeck were at Tolbert Leu's Sunday hunting rabbits and partridges.

L. J. Ruess, Wm. Peters, and O.

J. Leu are attending the annual session of the county board.

O. J. Leu was down in the town of Saratoga last Monday to assist in adjusting the loss, by fire to John Tesser who lost five buildings, all hay, grain and straw and one horse.

The town made the survey last Friday for the road leading from Walker toward Grand Rapids. It is the intention to begin the fill across the "lake"

as soon as possible.

Frank Wipfl has begun to haul sand for a new cement foot that he intends to put in his barn next spring.

Anton Arnold is working on the Elm

Lake Cranberry Co. marsh.

PORT EDWARDS.

Mrs. N. Zurykowski of Port Edwards gave a dancing party in honor of Miss

Laura Polachek of Milwaukee Sunday, Nov. 9. The guests present were Misses Laura Polachek, Sarah Mos-ciolotti, Irene Zurykowski, Messrs. Eddie

Mosciolotti, Walter Zentich, Stanley

Zentich, Chas. Kowaltowski, Stanley

Seitek, Mike Kachnowicz, Alfons

Trowski, Chas. Furberda, Julius

Szanski, Mmes. S. A. Perkowski, S.

A. Horosowski, N. Zurykowski. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Our laws are so intricate in matters of the income tax that lawyers in Milwaukee feel called upon to send out postal cards all over the state, giving out information that they know all about the income business and one can save money by employing them.

When a man of business cannot tell his income it is about time to simplify our laws.—Wausau Pilot.

Don't forget the concert on Saturday evening at Daly's Theater for the benefit of the fund. Reserved seats on sale Friday.

RUDOLPH.

Chas. Nigle departed on Monday for a weeks visit in Milwaukee and Oregon.

Mrs. Evelyn Croteau left on Saturday for Pittsville where she will spend a week or ten days visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hoover.

Mrs. Mary Haumschuld and two daughters of Pittsville are visiting

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK

We have been having some cold weather of late. Just a sample of what we will have.

Clyde Winegarden who has been at home the past week has returned to his work in Hollandale.

Ed. Wollert who has been working at West Bend, Wis., the past summer has returned home.

Gladys Potts commenced her winter term of school last Monday at Neibul.

Miss Alma Johnson of Birmamwood is visiting at M. S. Winegarden's.

Anna Marth has gone to Grand Rapids to work.

There was a party at Louis Wollert's

Saturday evening in honor of Ed, who just got home.

Quite a number from this way attended the farewell party at Kobar's last Saturday night in honor of Ella who leaves Tuesday for Minneapolis.

Harry Smyth of Spring Creek visited at Edwin Brown's over Sunday.

MARKET REPORT.

Patent Flour.....5.20

Rye Flour.....2.80

Rye.....55

Butter.....25-29

Eggs.....28

Beef, live.....4-6

Pork, dressed.....10

Veal.....12 1/2-13

Hay, Timothy.....$10-12

Potatoes.....45

Hides.....9-10

Hens.....10

Spring Chickens.....10

Buts.....37

Legal blanks for sale at this office.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Alfred Panter of Wautoma spent Sunday in the city, visiting with his mother.

Miss Lois Eveleth of Marshfield, visited with Miss Hazel Dolap over Sunday.

William Kruschke of Shennong visited with his sister, Mrs. Geo. A.

DeLap over Sunday.

Joseph Sharkey of Rudolph was among the business callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday.

Prof. M. H. Jackson is going to Green Bay on Friday where he will deliver a lecture that evening.

—We handle all kinds of Insurance make abstracts of title, draw up deeds and mortgages. Give us a trial. Ed.

Pomerville, Notary Public.

John McCarthy, proprietor of the Hotel Monogram at Vesper, was in the city on Tuesday and favored the Tribune office with a pleasant call.

Otto J. Leu, member of the county board from the town of Seneca, was among the callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday, being in the city at the board meeting.

Messrs. M. H. Jackson and C. W.

Schwede and Miss Agnes Brene were in Milwaukee the latter part of last week in attendance at the teachers convention being held in that city.

Do not miss the Deep Purple, which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday,

Nov. 20th.

It doesn't cost so much to buy an automobile as it does to live up to it after you have got it.

WANT COLUMN

FOR RENT.—Four nice rooms for housekeeping in my home at 506 5th

Ave. S. Down stair rooms. 2tp.

HOUSE TO RENT.—7 rooms, city water. No. 879 4th Ave. N., West side,

$14.00 per month. F. MacKinnon.

FOR SALE.—Registered Holstein bull,

3 years old, breeding of the very best. J. J. Lucy, R. D. 5, City. 3tp.

FOR SALE.—Coal stove, harness, logging tools. G. E. Dewey 632 Loc St

City.

LOST.—On Saturday last, two twenty dollar bills. The finder will receive a reward of $5 by leaving same at this office.

FOR SALE.—4 tons of clover hay and 24 acres straw, cheap if taken at once.

Quist Bros. Junction City, R. D. 2, 1tp.

FOR RENT.—House on 8th avenue

Inquire of Mrs. G. A. Corveta 21,

3rd Ave. N. 2tp.

FOR SALE.—Hard coal stove, cheap.

Inquire of J. E. Ames.

FOR RENT.—House, at $7 per month.

Inquire of Joseph Rick.

LOST.—Chain and locket, photo inside. Finder leave at this office.

—WANTED.—15 cords of hard maple wood. Apply to Edward Pomann, ville, the Fire Insurance Man.

MRS. J. TAYLOR,

TEACHER OF PIANO

Studio Corner Fourth and Madison

Streets. Telephone 528.

Do not miss the Deep Purple, which comes to Daly's Theater, Thursday,

Nov. 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lanehan of Ste-vena Point and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ebasher of Rudolph, drove to Grand Rapids Sunday to attend church and took dinner at the Dudley House.

Miss Lena Vantassel departed Sunday morning for her home at Monroe

Center after spending the past three weeks in this city with relatives and having her ears treated.

Leo Reusch, chairman of the town of Sigel, was among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday.

Mr. Reusch reports everything moving along nicely on his way, but is not in favor of these early winters that we have been having of late years.

The investigating committee at Marshfield that has had in charge the investigating of Carl's accounts made another report last week and up to that time they claim that the shortage there amounts to $3,752. The committee expresses the opinion that the full amount of Carl's shortage will never be known.

—Now is the time to take out Fire

Insurance policies. See Ed. Pomainville over Otto's Drug Store for he has some good companies and he writes insurance at low rates.

The Congregational church will be assisted in its services Sunday morning and evening by the members of the Best Concert Company consisting of Miss Rogers harpist, Master Stewart

McCombs soprano, and Mrs. Edwards reader.

Onyx Ware for Thanksgiving

You should be thinking of what you need in the line of Cooking Utensils for your Thanksgiving dinner. We have the largest line of guaranteed Onyx-ware in this section of the state at prices no higher than you pay elsewhere for inferior grades. In the manufacture of Onyx-ware the manufacturers have taken particular care in the testing and selection of the steel. The steel used is one that will adhere to or amalgamate with the ground or first enamel coating. This first coat, as well as the second coat of brown and the third coat of white is put on at a temperature of 2000 degrees. This makes the finished article one compact piece and leaves no cracks or creases for the "playful death-mates," politely called germs. We guarantee each and every article against cracking or chipping. You use the ware, we take the risk. Insist on getting Onyx-ware.

Coffee Pots—Seamed Electric Welded, Enamelled Steel Handles, Enamelled Covers.
1 Qt. 2 Qt. 3 Qt. 5 Qt.
28c 35c 38c 45c

Seamless Coffee Pots—Electric Welded, Enamelled Handles, One Piece Enamelled Covers.
1 1/2 Qt. 2 Qt. 3 Qt. 4 Qt.
40c 45c 50c 55c

